TURNER BREAKS EAST-WEST AIR RECORD IN DASH

Averages 199.2 M. P. H. in Taking 12 Hours and 33 Minutes for Trip.

HE ABANDONS PLANS FOR RETURN FLIGHT

Previous Mark Was Set by Captain Hawks in 1930.

Burbank, Calif., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Breaking the transcontinental East-West speed record by 2 hours and 17 minutes, Col. Roscoe Turner set his airplane down at the United Airport at 5:19 p. m., Pacific standard time, today, 12 hours and 33 minutes out of New York.

Turner abandoned tentative plans for an about-face in an effort to establish a new round-trip record between Los Angeles and New York, explaining it would be necessary to do some work on his ship.

Breaks Hawks' Record.

The previous New York-Los Angeles speed record of 14 hours 50 minutes, was set by Frank Hawks on August 6, 1930.

Turner said he averaged 199.2 miles an hour against strong headwinds the entire distance." He left New York at 7:4d a. m., Eastern standard time.

Turner took off from here at 2:34 a. m. last Saturday in an effort to set a new round-trip speed record between New York and Los Angeles, but damage to his landing gear in setting the ship down at Columbus, Ohio, forced him to abandon the attempt.

Head Winds Slow Flight.

Turner landed in Albuquerque at 2:58 p. m. (Mountain standard time) and took off at 3:06 p. m. The Albuquerque ground crew refueled his ship in 2¼ minutes, believed to be a record.

A seventeen-minute stop was made at Columbus, Ohio, and ten minutes at Kansas City. Head winds slowed down the New York-Columbus hop.

Schuyler's Senate Race Lead in Colorado is 868

Denver, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Absentee ballots in 6 of Colorado's 63 counties today increased to 868 votes the lead of Karl C. Schuyler, Republican, over Walter Walker, Democrat, for the unexpired term in the United States Senate of the late Senator Charles W. Waterman.

In Denver the absentee vote gave Schuyler 720 and Walker 439. The election commission also discovered an error in their official count of Saturday which took 100 votes from Walker's previous total. Election officials do not expect the total absentee ballots vote to be tabulated before the end of the week.

Throat Tube Kills Man It Had Aided

Kentuckian at Union Depot Dies as Wife Cleans Clogged Device.

An artificial breathing apparatus which had been instrumental in prolonging his life caused the death of William G. Chamberlin, 68, Covington, Ky., while he was waiting with his wife for a train in Union Station yesterday afternoon.

For more than a year it had been necessary for the man to wear the artificial tube in his throat in order to obtain sufficient breath. His wife, Isabelle, 65, said the tube often became clogged, and it was necessary for her to remove and clean it.

While they were sitting in the station, waiting for the train which would take them home, she said he complained that the tube was clogged. She removed and cleaned it quickly, but when she put it back into place, he had stopped breathing. He was rushed to Casualty Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

New Duties of England On Irish Goods Effective

London (Tuesday), Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Expiration of imperial preferences granted the dominions under the tariff act of last autumn today placed duties on imports of goods from the Irish Free State ranging from 10 per cent in the case of manufactured articles to 50 per cent in the case of cattle.

RED HUNGER MARCH ON CAPITAL STARTS

Police Redouble Efforts to Check Influx; 10,000 Goal of Leaders.

The Communist "hunger march" on the Capital was definitely under way last night, with groups en route here from Spokane, Wash., and Chicago, as the Police Department bent efforts to discourage the march and to keep track of those now on the way.

With relief legislation as their objective the bands of radicals started toward the Capital, while Communist headquarters in New York announced that 10,000 will be here when Congress convenes in the first week in December.

A children's hunger march to arrive here on Thanksgiving Day was announced in New York yesterday by Herbert B. Benjamin, who directed the last "hunger march" on the Capital last December.

The eight columns of marchers, which will converge here simultaneously from all directions, will demand a "$50 unemployment bonus, passage of a workers unemployment insurance bill, and an appropriation for Federal child relief stations," its sponsors announced.

The group from Seattle, Wash., which left Sunday, is known as column one. There are 70 in this group, and will pick up recruits en route. The other columns will leave for Washington shortly.

Column two will leave San Francisco tomorrow, and column three leaves Los Angeles today and joins with column two at Denver, Colo., on November 23. Column four leaves Sioux City, Iowa, on November 21. Column five leaves Houston, Tex., on the same day. Column six leaves New Orleans and column seven leaves Boston on November 27. Column eight leaves Miami, Fla., on November 28.

Chicago is expected to be one of the principal rallying points of the marchers. A delegation of 60 is on the way from Chicago to Springfield.

Berlin's Papers Cautious On Paris Arms Proposal

Berlin, Tuesday, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Editorial comment in Berlin morning papers today approached the French disarmament plan with extreme caution, and, in one case, even expressed distrust of possible pitfalls hidden in the French reasoning. The view was maintained that the plan needed elucidation in many points.

With only partial returns from some of the units, the Community Chest campaign really got under way yesterday with contributions amounting to $189,403.80 reported at the first report meeting, held in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel. The bulk of the contributions was reported by the special gifts unit, of which Clarence A. Aspinwall is chairman. The unit has been working since last Thursday, and its list of donors was headed by Andrew W. Mellon, Ambassador to Great Britain, who, solicited by mail, sent his check for $35,000.

Yesterday's program included talks by E. C. Graham, president of the Chest; Newbold Noyes, campaign chairman; Mrs. Edward Everett Gann and Elwood Street, in addition to the reports of the various unit chairmen. Music for the daily meetings is furnished by the Bernheimer Trio, consisting of Mrs. Clara Bernheimer, pianist; Miss Elizabeth Bernheimer, violinist, and Miss Louise Bernheimer, cellist. The meetings are broadcast daily over Station WJSV.

In calling the meeting to order, Newbold Noyes, presiding, called attention to the new time set for meetings this year. He asked all workers to be in their places promptly at 12:15 o'clock, in order that the program might be handled on schedule time, and thus take advantage of the radio facilities donated to the Chest, so that "all Washington may be afforded a daily opportunity to learn of the prgoress of this campaign in the success of which the city as a whole can not but be vitally concerned.

PRESIDENT MEJIA COLINDRES

PRISONER DECLARES ROBINS SLAIN AT SEA

Alleged Swindler States Dry Leader Was Drowned by Jersey Bootleggers.

Boston, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A story which police said today would bear "deeper investigation" was related by an alleged swindler, who said Col. Raymond Robins, missing prohibition worker and friend of President Hoover, was thrown to his death in the Atlantic Ocean 40 miles off Montauk Point, Long Island, after being kidnaped by rumrunners.

Police said Ralph Code, 40, held on a charge of swindling two New York men, said Robins, for whom a fruitless Nation-wide search has been conducted after he disappeared September 8, was abducted on orders of a New Jersey beer baron.

Police said Code told one of the men, Carlisle C. Byrd, oil and mining promoter, of the death of Col. Robins in an effort to substantiate his alleged knowledge of ship movements and of the underworld as "a former Secret Service man." Officials of the Secret Service at Washington said, however, that Code had never been an agent of the service, as far as they knew.

Code was held in $10,000 bond after he had pleaded not guilty to larceny charges. His case was continued until November 28. He was specifically charged with the larceny of $325 from Byrd and $600 from Edmund H. Noyes, a guest at the Prince George Hotel, New York. The method employed in obtaining the money from the two men was a scheme to raise a treasure-laden ship from the ocean bottom, police alleged.

Code was arrested last Saturday upon his return to a Boston hotel from the Harvard-Holy Cross football game.

Col. Robins was last reported seen outside a New York club. His absence did not become generally known until he failed to keep an appointment with President Hoover several days later. His wife first said she believed him to be the victim of rumrunners because of his prohibition activities. Later she said she was confident he would return after the national election.

Bogus Bill Passer Escapes Druggist

Man's Nervousness Stirs Suspicions and Store Owner Gives Chase.

Police were searching last night for a well-dressed young man who attempted to pass an allegedly counterfeit $10 bill at the drug store of Dr. Irving Sealfon, at 6130 Georgia avenue northwest.

Dr. Sealfon told police the man made a small purchase and handed him the bill. He said he started to give him change, but the man's nervousness and hurried actions aroused his suspicions. On looking at the bill, he saw it was bogus. The man fled and he pursued him. When the fleeing man jumped in a car, Dr. Sealfon got into his own and gave chase, following him through Takoma Park, but the man finally escaped.

FIVE HONDURAN CITIES TAKEN IN BLOODY REVOLT

Hundreds Reported Slain in Liberal Party's Uprising.

REBELS SUSTAINED ELECTION REVERSE

Capital Is Loyal as Federals Begin Counterattacks at San Pedro.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Many hundreds were reported killed during the twelve hours of heavy fighting between rebels and federal troops today at the city of San Pedro.

Insurgent Liberals, who lost in the presidential election two weeks ago, captured Nacaome, 100 miles from Tegucigalpa and the key to the southern district of Honduras. They captured San Pedro last night and federal troops, assisted by Nationalists, were making a counter attack.

Outbreaks have not occurred in this city, but the situation is extremely threatening.

The Liberals were reported to have seized the towns of Trujilla, La Ceiba and La Esperanza also.

Leader Reported Killed.

The insurgent movement had its inception, officials said, at San Pedro. The federals reached the outskirts of that city this morning and hoped to capture it before nightfall.

It was reported that rebel troops were in the field in the southern district also and federal forces were hurried to Comayagua, in anticipation of an attack.

Reports were received that William Coleman was one of the leaders of the rebellion and that he was killed as federal troops under Gens. Funes, Rosales and Guy Maloney stormed San Pedro. Fighting also was reported at Puerto Cortes, but there were no details.

Capital Remains Loyal.

In the Honduran election October 30 Gen. Tiburcio Carias Andino, the Nationalist - Conservative candidate, won over Angel Zuniga Huete, the Liberal nominee. The inauguration has not yet taken place and President Mejia Colindres remains as the head of the government. The president and the president-elect are political allies.

New Orleans, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Frederick Smith, consul for Honduras here, said this afternoon he had received an official communique announcing the recapture of San Pedro Sula from revolutionaries by federal forces and informing him that the revolt had been put down.

Discontented supporters of Dr. Angel Zuniga Huete, defeated Liberal candidate for president, were reported in dispatches from Honduras to the State Department yesterday to have started a revolt by capturing the military barracks at San Pedro Sula in the northern part of the republic.

Julius G. Lay, United States minister in Tegucigalpa, reported the capital remained loyal to the government.

Quiet was said to prevail in the northern coast towns to which women and children have been taken as a precautionary measure.

Veterans Told to Quit Camp Near Uniontown

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The remaining members of the Bonus Expeditionary Force at Camp Sherry, near here, late today, were given 24 hours' notice to vacate the camp by Dr. C. H. Sherry, owner of the property.

Dr. Sherry invited W. W. Waters, as B. E. F. commander, to establish a camp on his property after the veterans were evicted from Washington. He said he had spent $3,000 in preparing buildings, but with the removal of headquarters to Chicago, only 30 or 35 veterans are in the camp now.

GOV. ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS HOOVER DEBT PARLEY BID; DATE TO BE SET SHORTLY

President-Elect Asks Personal Meeting.

Reminds of His Plan for Conference in Georgia.

Albany, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight agreed to visit President Hoover at the White House for "a wholly informal and personal" meeting at which the two could go over "the entire situation."

In his message to the Chief Executive accepting the invitation of Mr. Hoover to come to Washington for a conference, the President-elect said, however, that "the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority."

Mr. Roosevelt reminded the President of the forthcoming conferences the President-elect had arranged to hold at Warm Springs with various congressional leaders and said it would be very helpful if he had the views of Mr. Hoover and "all pertinent information when I meet with them."

Suffers Slight Cold.

No date was set for the conference. Mr. Roosevelt relating to the President that he had been confined to the house with a slight cold for the last several days.

"I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the South has been determined," the message said.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would be glad to cooperate in every appropriate way with the outgoing Chief Executive on all matters affecting the welfare of the country, "subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as Governor of this State."

"May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal," he added. "You and I can go over the whole situation."

Reply to President.

The message replied to one sent yesterday by Mr. Hoover in which the President pointed out to Mr. Roosevelt that several nations had asked that

Kidnaper Victim Writes Parents

Letter From Missing Boy Says Captors Are Kind to Him.

New York, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Police disclosed tonight that the parents of Paul Marciante, 10, who was kidnaped last Monday while on his way to school, had received word from the boy. A special delivery letter, mailed in Brooklyn Monday night, read:

"Dear Dad: Don't worry. I am all right. They are treating me well—Paul." The note was in the boy's handwriting.

Following delivery of another note yesterday, Capt. Michael McDermott and a squad of detectives left for Carmel, N. Y. They returned today, said their quest had been futile, and declined to divulge the contents of the second note. A package was delivered to the Marciante home today, but the contents of that, too, was kept secret.

Roosevelt Acceptance Of Hoover's Invitation

The text of Gov. Roosevelt's telegram accepting President Hoover's invitation to confer here on international debts and other issues follows:

The President,
Pratt, Kans.

I appreciate your cordial telegram. On the subjects to which you refer, as in all matters relating to the welfare of the country, I am glad to cooperate in every appropriate way, subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as governor of this State.

I shall be delighted to confer with you in Washington, but I have been confined to the house with a slight cold and I am, therefore, not able to suggest a definite date. I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the South has been determined.

May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal? You and I can go over the entire situation.

I had already arranged to meet a number of the Democratic leaders of the present Congress late this month at Warm Springs. It will be helpful for me to have your views and all pertinent information when I meet with them. I hope that you also will see them at the earliest opportunity, because, in the last analysis, the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority.

My kindest regards,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

FRENCH ARMS PLAN IS GIVEN TO PARLEY

British Exposition Is Due to Be Presented Tomorrow; Davis Confers.

Geneva, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—An elaborate scheme for breaking the disarmament deadlock, solving the problem of security and meeting Germany's arms equality demand by tying together arms reductions and security pacts, was submitted textually to the disarmament conference tonight in behalf of the French government.

The French plan calls for application of the Briand-Kellogg pact, the League of Nations covenant and special regional agreements for mutual assistance against any aggressor. It proposes reduction in effectives and materials of war, with a special allotment of certain troops and arms for use of the league in enforcing peace.

The technical features of the plan, which is designed to achieve these general purposes, are:

1. The establishment in European countries of short-term defensive conscript armies.

2. Special offensive forces which would be placed under the direction of the league in a time of emergency.

3. The establishment of stocks of powerful arms in certain localities in the countries providing those stocks, which would be under the control of the league and for the use of the league.

4. A special Mediterranean naval

Congress Chiefs Seem Opposed To New Study.

Administration Firm Against General Conference.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt last night telegraphed his acceptance of President Hoover's invitation to a White House conference on the momentous problem involved in the British and French requests for reconsideration of the intergovernmental debt situation.

The exact date for the unprecedented White House meeting between the Chief Executive and his successor will be made definite in a few days.

In the meanwhile, congressional opinion was definitely crystallizing in two distinct groups; those opposed to any reconsideration of the problem at all and those who are willing to discuss the proposal only as a basis for definite compensatory action by Europe, in the realm of disarmament, economic cooperation or revision of war inequalities.

Reconsideration Opposed.

A careful canvass of the congressional leaders now in Washington failed to reveal any out-and-out approval of the request forwarded by France and Great Britain for a continuation of the Hoover moratorium. On the contrary, the temper of many of the congressional leaders at this moment seemed to be definitely opposed to any reconsideration of the war-debt problem.

Chairman Collier (Democrat), Mississippi, of the House ways and means committee, is in the strategic position of dominating the committee from which must originate all revenue legislation. He said last night:

"I am opposed to any effort to cancel the European war debts. If they can't pay, let them owe us. I favor keeping the obligation on our books. Some day we may be able to get some of the money anyway."

Limited Its Action.

A significant rider was attached to the congressional approval of the Hoover moratorium last year by Representative Ragon (Democrat), of Arkansas. This constitutes the nub of the present debt situation. Under the terms of this instrument Congress specifically limited its action in the European debt problem to a bare approval of what President Hoover had done. Nothing in the ratification was to be construed as constituting approval of the principle of reduction or cancellation.

This same representative yesterday suggested an immediate meeting of the ways and means committee to examine the French and British notes. Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills emphasized the importance of the Ragon rider in the future of the debt negotiations. The British and French notes, however, he pointed out, took no definite stand on the nonpayment of their December 15 obligations. There was nothing in the notes to indicate that they would decline to meet the payments, if Congress should decide on

Gov. Rolfe to Pardon 1,000 Dry Violators in California

State's Wineries and Breweries Eager to Resume Manufacture as Governor Announces He Will Free Prisoners as Soon as Repeal Is Certified.

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Freedom came in sight today for about 1,000 persons held in California prisons and jails, on charges of violating the State prohibition law, when Gov. James Rolph, jr., announced he intended to pardon all these as a result of the overwhelming vote last Tuesday for repeal of the statute.

Replying to a query from a New York newspaper, the governor announced his intention to pardon all Wright act violators as soon as the results of the election are certified to him by the Secretary of State. The Wright act, in unofficial election returns, was repealed by a vote of approximately 2 to 1.

State authorities recently estimated there were 300 Wright law violators in California prisons and about 700 held in county jails.

The governor's announcement was but one of many developments in the State, where willingness to abandon the old order was shown.

City authorities in Oakland and other cities in the east San Francisco Bay area ordered police to stop all liquor raids. The Oakland council voted to repeal an antiliquor ordinance. Many towns, particularly in northern California, signified their intention of forgetting prohibition.

Wineries of the State hummed with new activity in the light of increased possibilities for the legal sale of their vintages for beverage purposes. Brewers in many towns and cities announced preparations to be ready to sell beer the minute such can be done legally.

Despite the decisiveness of the repeal vote, several legal difficulties appeared to lie ahead of the result of existing laws, old and new, relating to liquor.

In the first place the State not only repealed its prohibition law, but also voted to adopt a State constitutional amendment, giving the State the right to control alcoholic beverages. Besides this there are State and local ordinances on liquor dating back as far as 1858.

NO EXTRAS!

Attention of The Washington Post has been called to the fact that irresponsible newsboys, particularly in residential sections of the city, have been crying "extra" late at night and in some instances "Post extra" in their efforts to dispose of their wares.

The Post once more reminds its readers that Post extras are very few, even over a period of years. Only in the cases of major catastrophes or events of world significance does The Post feel that an extra is warranted.

The Post will be glad to inform its readers by telephone at any time as to whether or not extras have been issued. Just call National 4205 and the veracity of any "extra" cry may be learned.

Paraguay Claims Signal Victory in Bolivian War

(Associated Press.)

The Paraguayan Legation last night received a cablegram from Asuncion describing "the greatest battle of the war."

It told of the capture of Forts Platanillos, San Fernando, Loa and Bolivar on November 6 and of a Paraguayan center line offensive launched November 7.

The report described Saavedra as the most important defensive post of Bolivia in the war, and said La Paz students and the last of the Bolivian officers, who escaped in the fighting at Boqueron, Castillos and Arce, were making a stand there.

Paraguayan troops, the report said, advanced on November 8, meeting a counterattack on November 10. In this fighting Paraguay claimed 800 Bolivians killed and 100 taken prisoners, among them captains Montalvo and Riveras and four lieutenants and two second lieutenants, 10 heavy machine guns, 22 light machine guns and 200 rifles with ammunition.

La Paz, Bolivia, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—An official announcement tonight said that long-range cannon in the Fort Arce sector of the Gran Chaco had destroyed the Paraguayan front lines and had inflicted 1,000 casualties on the enemy. The announcement caused much public exultation.

(It was not clear whether this announcement meant that a counter-offensive had been started against Fort Arce, which the Paraguayans hold, or in the Fort Saavedra sector, about 50 miles to the south.)

Asuncion, Paraguay, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Five thousand Bolivian soldiers clung stubbornly today to Forts Murguia, Samaklay and Saavedra after heavy fighting over the week-end in which the Paraguayan forces contended they killed 800 of the enemy.

The artillery was credited with preventing the capture by the Paraguayan attackers of the thrice-guarded doorway to Fort Munoz, Bolivia's principal stronghold in the Chaco. Cesar Vasconcellos, former Paraguayan delegate to the neutral conference at Washington, returned from the front with the statement that Bolivia would not be able to resist the hammering much longer.

THE ONCE OVER

H. I. PHILLIPS

THE LANDSLIDE
(In the Ogden Nash Manner.)

MR. HOOVER, despite his fund of knowledge,
Barely got into the Electoral College;
He carried the State of Pennsylvania
Which apparently has a curious mania
For wanting to be decidedly exclusive
When the rest of the country is feeling abusive.
He also carried Vermont and New Hampshire
Where the residents evidently don't give a damshire
How the other sections of the country are voting
Nor what the Literary Digest straw votes are denoting.

The control of both houses will now be Democratic Which assures plenty of conduct very erratic;
The total vote for Mr. Roosevelt was somewhat surprising
As very few people anticipated that sort of uprising;
Everybody had an idea the voters were pretty weary
But didn't realize they were so anti-engineery.
There were people who felt that somehow Mr. Hoover
Was the best man to help the country
recoover,
And even the Democrats felt full of thrills
When they found the G. O. P. had carried only Ogden Mills.

* * * *

Millions of voters were influenced by the Brown Derby;
They wanted to sock somebody and felt it might as well be Herbie.

* * * *

Herbert also carried the State of Connecticut
Where to defeat J. Henry Roraback is a breach of ettiqut;
But Gov. Cross managed to win by a couple of noses
Which was most disconcerting to his Republican foeses.
Senator Bingham was literally hurled through the transom
Which is too bad because the Senate needs men who are handsome.

* * * *

Senator Reed Smoot, to his surprise, was defeated in Utah
And naturally it left him very black and blue-tah;
Senator Moses was whipped and will make no more passes
For a long time at Sons of the Wild Jackasses;
They gave Jim Watson the gate out in Indiana
And did it in what might be called a very rough manna.

* * * *

One of the big surprises came from the State of Ohio
Which went Democratic completely,
oh me, oh my-o!
The donkey had no trouble at all cleaning up in Nebraska;
In fact it was pretty much the same story from Mexico to Alaska;
Seldom in history have so many Republicans been given the gate
And there is a very general feeling it must have been something they ate.

* * * *

In New York State and city Roosevelt's choice was so unanimous
That Mr. Curry is now regretting he showed so much June animus;
At the Democratic convention Curry was so cold to Franklin
That in the breast of the Democratic winner it must still be ranklin'.

* * * *

Looking over the Nation today and broadly speaking
It looks very much like a keg with the seams all leaking;
The Noble Experiment seems to have a bad case of jitters
And the people may soon get something to drink besides bad gin and bitters;
The overwhelming revolt would seem to indicate Prohibition's fall,
But Mrs. Ella Boole says that it doesn't mean anything like that at all;
And that keen interpreter of events,
Mr. Deets Pickett,
Says all it means is that the people are satisfied with a wine bricket.

* * * *

Even Bishop Cannon
Can't understannon
How anybody can be so silly as to think for a minute
That so far as repeal is concerned there is anything in it.

* * * *

Anyhow it is all over and it is up to us to see if we can Convince Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt we are the Forgotten Man.

A COMPLETE SWAP.

The country not only changed horses in midstream but changed streams.

CLAIMING DUE CREDIT.

We always said it was only a matter of time before synthetic gin drove the American public to a revolt.

Damage Suit Is Filed As Result of Injuries

Speros Mantalvanos, 42 B street southwest, yesterday filed suit against Marie J. Hyndman, Brooklyn, N. Y., for $10,000 damages.

The suit, filed by Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer in District Supreme Court, charged the New Yorker with failing to observe a stop sign at Thirteenth and Q streets northwest, with the result that she drove her car into the plaintiff.

6 Police Cars Speed to Row At Roadhouse

The Blue Pelican roadhouse at 8840 Conduit road was the scene of much excitement late last night.

Policeman E. C. Darby, who chanced to visit the place, arrived just in time to see a man fighting with a woman and flourishing a gun. The policeman started toward the man and shouted for assistance.

In the excitement some one put in a riot call to police.

A short while later radio cars 31, 32, 72 and 82, a patrol wagon and a car load of plain clothes men arrived on the scene.

As a result Darby had the assistance of 15 policemen in arresting Charles Berger, 24, 1929 Calvert street northwest, and Irene Boswell, 29, 300 C street northwest, the principals in the disturbance which halted the dance.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK IN CROSSING STREET

Witnesses Say Child Darted From Behind Pole in Path of Vehicle.

TRAFFIC TOLL
To Date

Protect children while they are playing. Instruct them not to cross intersections by themselves, or to play in the streets, as a large percentage of fatalities and traffic injuries involving children are caused by playing in the street or running across an intersection without adult supervision.

The death count to date has increased to 41 more fatalities than during the corresponding period of 1931, and 200 more injuries have been recorded. The total number of accidents has decreased by 425. The figures are:

Deaths	69	110
Injuries	3,115	3,324
Accidents	7,284	6,859

"Be Careful!"

Three-year-old Harriet Monashkin, youngest of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Monashkin, of 2410 Nichols avenue southeast, was instantly killed when she was crushed between the wheels of a truck in front of her home last night.

The truck was operated by William C. Lane, 40, of Baltimore, Md., who was arrested by Eleventh Precinct police and held for the coroner. He was later released on bond to appear at an inquest.

Harriet, who was with the child of a neighbor, started to run across the street when she was struck by the truck. Witnesses said that she darted into the busy thoroughfare from behind a trolley pole.

Both front and rear wheels passed over the child, crushing her body. Bystanders pulled her from beneath the vehicle, but she was dead when examined by an ambulance physician. Policemen tested the brakes of the truck and found them in good condition.

The child's mother was prostrated when she learned of the accident. The father was in New York. He was immediately notified by telephone. The other children are Ethel, 18; Leonard, 16, Seymour, 8, and Albert, 6.

Mesny Is Elected By Kalorama Body

Crowded School Is Topic Discussed at Meeting of Association.

Arthur B. LeP. Mesny was elected president of the Kalorama Citizens Association last night at the annual meeting in the John Quincy Adams School, Nineteenth and California streets northwest.

George W. Hodgkins was named first vice president; Miss Eleanor M. Hough, second vice president; John L. Haynes, secretary, and B. Tracy Ansell, treasurer. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley and Joseph FitzGerald, jr., were selected as delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

E. C. Babcock addressed the association in behalf of the Community Chest. The crowded conditions at the Western High School were discussed, and the matter was referred to the committee on education.

$25,000 Asked in Suit On Auto Crash Injuries

Paul G. Hogan, 7701 Georgia avenue northwest, yesterday, in the District Supreme Court, instituted suit for $25,000 damages against Alvin W. Marshall, 1237 Sixth street southwest, for injuries in an automobile accident at First street and Constitution avenue last month.

Mr. Hogan, through Attorneys Frank F. Nesbit and Charles E. Pledger, jr., claimed that an automobile he was driving was struck by an automobile driven by Mr. Marshall.

Barber Pleads Guilty In Slaying of Another

Ervin McFadden, a colored barber, yesterday entered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree in connection with the slaying of James C. Havenner, a white barber.

McFadden said he cut Havenner's throat with a razor in the rear yard of 320 C street southwest while both were drinking. The slaying occurred on May 17, and McFadden had been indicted for first-degree murder. Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue remanded McFadden for sentence next week.

Arthur Mihill, 3615 Tenth street northwest, a policeman, brought back this 175-pound doe as a souvenir of his hunting trip to the Adirondack Mountains near Wilmington, N. Y. Left to right—Mihill, Junior Mihill and Lee Thew, who accompanied him on the trip. Others in the party were Vernon and Roy Mihill, Arthur Myers and Ed and Paul Hazleton.

STEWARD PRAISES U. S. DEPARTMENTS

Speaker Hits 'Outside Talk' Favoring Abolition of Federal Units.

Interests "outside of Washington" advocating the abolition of three Government departments were scored last night by Luther C. Steward, national president of the Federation of Federal Employes, at ceremonies attending installation of new officers of Federal Employes' Union, No. 262.

The meeting, held at 710 Fourteenth street northwest, was addressed by Mr. Steward, following the installation exercises.

Mr. Steward pointed to a movement now under way "outside of Washington" whereby the departments of Agriculture, Commerce and Labor would be abolished. This interest, Mr. Steward declared, suggested that any necessary part of these departments could be established in one bureau in the Department of Interior.

Following a brief outline of the movement, Mr. Steward urged members of the local union to lend their efforts toward discouraging any such "propaganda." He declared that the public at large would suffer if the three departments were altered in any way.

New officers of the union were J. O. Burnham, president; Edgar Graham, first vice president; W. E. Perry, second vice president; Mrs. Ola G. King, third vice president; E. C. Hooper, financial secretary and treasurer, and R. O. Hundley, recording secretary.

Wilfred Offutt was appointed chairman of the membership committee and A. D. Sartwell chairman of the ways and means committee. W. H. Clark was made trustee.

Man Stops Policeman To Beg Money for Oil

Apparently stranded here without gasoline for his sedan, Albert Seastrom, 27, of New York, chose the wrong man to stop for money when he drove his car alongside one being driven by Policeman J. R. Birch.

After he had asked Birch for a dime, he was placed under arrest. Yesterday his personal bonds were taken when he was tried in Police Court. As a condition of letting the man go, Judge Ralph Given told him to leave town. "Yes, sir, just as soon as I get the money for gasoline, I'm going," Seastrom said.

Georgetown Is Facing Ousted Teacher's Suit

The president and directors of Georgetown University were named defendants in a suit for $25,000, filed in District Supreme Court yesterday by Jacob Markowitz, a former professor of physiology in the Georgetown Medical School.

Mr. Markowitz, through Attorney Charles L. Frailey, charged he had been discharged from his position without cause last August. He said that as a result of the discharge, he will lose his salary of $4,500 a year and will be prevented from obtaining a position with any other school because of the custom of the schools in banning professors who have been discharged from other schools.

POLICEMAN ADOPTS HUNGRY LITTLE GIRL

But Two Small Sisters and Baby Brother Face Stern Winter.

Two small sisters and a baby brother will envy little Edna when she leaves them to romp through the home of Policeman George Greenip, of the Eleventh Precinct, who lives in Mount Rainier, Md. The child, who made friends with Greenip and gradually won his heart, knows that when she goes to live with her trusted friend that the days of bread crusts will be over, and that her life will be a sheltered one as she plays in the rural section.

Her only concern will be the fate of her brother and sisters, who have been left in care of their mother. Unable to support her flock, the mother, who grew to know Policeman Greenip, as he patroled his beat, appealed to him for aid and he decided that he would take the child to his home and adopt her. Edna, who is 4, will find a new mother in Mrs. Stella Greenip, and in this way will help her own mother, who is recovering from three major operations performed last year.

The child will go to her new home December 1, but the little faces she knows so well are facing a winter of hunger and cold. Officer Greenip said yesterday that any one who can provide the children with a good home and were interested in adopting one of Edna's little relatives, could make arrangements with him to get acquainted with the youngsters.

Man With $6 Gets Jail Sentence for Begging

Raymond Blackman, 35, was sent to jail for 10 days yesterday when Judge Ralph Given found he had $6 in his pockets when he was arrested Saturday for begging on F street.

Policeman W. A. Schotter said he watched Blackman accept coins from several persons before he arrested him. The man had all his money in small pieces when he was arrested.

Traction Company Is Sued for $45,000

Auto-Trolley Collision and Fall From Street Car Basis of 3 Actions.

Three suits totaling $45,000 were filed against the Capital Traction Co. yesterday in District Supreme Court.

Two of them were filed by Mrs. Esther Siegal and her husband, Adolph, of 4707 Georgia avenue northwest, as a result of a collision between their automobile and a street car at Seventh and T streets northwest, on September 10. Mrs. Siegal asked for $25,000 damages, and her husband seeks $10,000. Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer and Jacob Sandler filed the papers.

The third suit was filed by Annie Ketonen, of 1515 Park road northwest, who, through Attorney Michael J. Lane, demanded $10,000 for injuries suffered when she fell from a street car at Fourteenth and H streets northwest, on September 23.

Dilapidated Gun Resents Doubts as to Efficiency

It is only a little rusty .22-caliber pistol, held together with an elastic, but it will shoot, as Joseph Howard, 17, colored, 126 Sixteenth street southeast, learned to his sorrow.

It happened this way: Chester Brown, 17, colored, 1629 East Capitol street southeast, had bought the pistol for 75 cents. He took the pistol with him to the Holy Comforter Bowling alley at Fifteenth and East Capitol streets. His fellow pinman, Joe Howard, didn't think much of the gun.

When the boys left the alley yesterday afternoon, Howard challenged Brown to prove that his pistol was all right, by taking a shot at him from across the street. Brown took him up, raised his pistol and pulled the trigger. Bang! Both boys were surprised. The gun not only fired, but the bullet hit Howard in the leg. He was not seriously hurt, however, so they walked to Casualty Hospital to have the wound treated. On their way they also manufactured a story about Howard being shot by some white boys. Under police questioning they cracked and they told the truth.

BRAVERY OF WOMAN MAY FIX BLAME FOR WAVE OF ROBBERIES

Holds on to One of Men and Gets Good Description to Give to Police.

The bravery of Mrs. Minnie C. Weaver, of 3100 Wisconsin avenue northwest, in trying to hold one of the men she discovered looting her apartment yesterday, may result in the arrest of men believed to be responsible for several housebreakings in fashionable sections of the city, police believe.

When Mrs. Weaver returned home, accompanied by a friend, her apartment was found in disorder and two men were surprised in the act of ransacking trunks and bureau drawers. When Mrs. Weaver screamed the men fled, but she grabbed the coat of one man and held on until he reached the bottom of the stairs. Attracted by the commotion, other persons joined in the chase, but the men escaped.

Police said the descriptions given by Mrs. Weaver and witnesses was identical to those given of two suave and well-dressed men who have been calling at fashionable apartments under the pretext of renting apartments and gaining information evidently needed for burglaries later committed in the houses.

$1,000 Losses Reported

Clothing, jewelry and other articles, aggregating more than $1,000 in value, were reported yesterday as having been stolen in housebreakings and thefts from automobiles.

Thieves who entered the home of Commander Greene W. Dugger, U. S. N., at 3436 Thirty-fourth street northwest, took a radio, sewing machine, a Latin Bible printed in 1630 and other articles. No value was placed on the Bible, but the other articles were valued at $118. Commander Dugger told police the theft occurred during his absence from home since April.

Miss Nellie M. Marshall, of 2714 Quarry road northwest, reported burglars who jimmied a lock to the door of her apartment yesterday stole a 48-piece sterling silverware set, valued at $250, together with a sewing machine, a radio, clothing and jewelry, valued at $255.

Cleaning Shop Robbed.

Harry Cohen, of 224 East Capitol street, reported that $5 in cash, an overcoat valued at $25, and other clothing were stolen from his cleaning shop Sunday night.

Two traveling salesmen were the victims yesterday of thieves preying on parked automobiles.

Benjamin D. Hubley, of Philadelphia, reported that clothing, jewelry and other articles, valued at $203, were taken from his car while parked at 5068 North Capitol street.

Lester Jaffe, also of Philadelphia, reported his car was looted while parked at 906 Eighth street northwest. Forty dresses valued at $300 were stolen.

Hotel Guest Gets $2,000 for Jewels

Mrs. Mabel Deming Awarded Damage Verdict for Lost Gems.

Mrs. Mabel F. Deming, of the Shoreham Hotel, was given a $2,000 verdict in the District Supreme Court by a jury that heard evidence in her suit against the Wardman Real Estate Properties. Mrs. Deming, while a guest at the Carlton Hotel in 1930, lost several valuable pieces of jewelry, which were stolen from her room.

Through Attorney George W. Offutt and Ross H. Snyder, Mrs. Deming said she had left the jewels in her trunk when she left her room. Both the trunk and the door of the room were locked, she declared.

On her return she found the room had been entered and the trunk broken open. A platinum bracelet, set with 60 diamonds, a string of pearls with a diamond and emerald clasp, and a pear-shaped pendant aquamarine with diamonds were among the articles missing. Justice Joseph W. Cox sat at the trial.

Presbyterians Appoint Youth Budget Group

The monthly meeting of the Washington City Presbytery was held yesterday in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Henry B. Wooding presided.

A committee was appointed to report at the next meeting on the matter of the youth budget, presented by the Rev. Franklin Mack, young people's secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions. The committee included the Rev. F. S. Niles, the Rev. B. Braskamp, the Rev. Freeley Rohrer, the Rev. Paul Schearrer and the Rev. D. Hobart Evans.

Court Admits Practice By Breckenrdige Long

Breckenridge Long, Assistant Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, yesterday was admitted to practice in the District Supreme Court at a general term of that court, presided over by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat.

Mr. Long is a member of the bar of Missouri. His Washington home is at 3224 Sixteenth street northwest. Others who were admitted to practice at the general term were Comer C. Bell, Georgia; Charles H. Fleming, Pennsylvania; Seymour S. Guthman, Illinois; S. Jones Hill, Virginia, and William T. Joyner, of North Carolina.

NEW SAFETY RULE HITS UNFIT AUTOS

All Used Cars Must Pass Traffic Inspection When Sold.

As a measure to eliminate from Washington streets automobiles which are mechanically unfit and unsafe, the District Commissioners yesterday adopted an amendment to traffic regulations providing that after January 1 "no used motor vehicle shall be delivered by a vender or titled or registered in the District" unless it has been inspected by a representative of the traffic director's office or a registered dealer authorized by the traffic director.

Suggested by Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer and approved by the Traffic Advisory Council, the amendment will, in the opinion of the former, "eliminate from the streets a large number of vehicles which are mechanically unfit and that many others will be repaired, so as to be in safe mechanical condition before being operated again."

In addition, the traffic director recommended that the Commissioners ask Congress at its next session "to authorize the inspection of all vehicles at least once a year and to authorize the District government to collect an appropriate fee to cover the cost of this work, including the purchase of necessary testing apparatus and the employment of competent mechanics to do the work."

At present the District has no ban on motor vehicles, no matter what their mechanical condition, unless it be bad brakes. A yearly inspection of all motor vehicles is made in Maryland prior to the issuance of license tags.

CLASS LACKS HEAT; CITIZENS URGE QUIZ

Blair Kindergarten Pupils' Dismissal Followed by Plea for Inquiry.

Because the kindergarten class of the Blair School at Sixth and I streets northeast had to be dismissed yesterday morning due to lack of required heat, the Northeast Washington Citizens Association, at a meeting last night, adopted a resolution to place immediately the matter before the Board of Education for investigation.

According to Blair School officials the furnace at that institution could not be made to regulate the temperature above 58½ degrees, which mark, they said, was too low to allow children of the kindergarten to remain in class. They were dismissed and sent home.

The association also adopted a resolution requesting traffic lights at Fifth and H streets and Eleventh and H streets northeast, citing recent congestion at those intersections.

G. E. Taylor, of the Speakers Bureau of the Community Chest, delivered a short address on the Chest drive, and Morris Reddy, of the Red Cross, also spoke.

SCHOOL DEDICATED AND TRIBUTE PAID TO PHOEBE HEARST

Senator Copeland Speaker; Aquarium and Flag Are Presented.

Described by Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, in his dedicatory speech, as "a worthy monument to the most public spirited woman of her period," the new Phoebe Apperson Hearst Elementary School at Thirty-seventh and Tilden streets northwest was dedicated last night with a program of music and oratory.

Senator Copeland traced the career of Mrs. Hearst, laying stress on the important work she did while in Washington in laying the foundation for the kindergarten system and launching the parent-teacher movement. As a member of the District committee of the Senate, Senator Copeland pledged the advancement of every possible effort in interest of the local public school system and expressed confidence that his fellow members on the committee entertained similar sentiments.

Aquarium Is Given.

The two grandsons of Mrs. Hearst, William Randolph Hearst, jr., and John Hearst, presented an aquarium to the school in behalf of their father, William Randolph Hearst. They took part in the corner stone laying ceremony of the school last year. Miss Catherine Watkins, director of kindergartens in the District, accepted the gift.

An American flag was presented to the school by Mrs. J. Jerome Lightfoot, representing the auxiliary unit of the Henry C. Spengler Post, No. 12, of the American Legion. The flag was accepted by Mrs. Sarah B. Holland, principal of the school.

Keys of School Presented.

The keys of the school were presented to Miss Holland by A. L. Harris, municipal architect, who designed the building. A bronze tablet, a gift from the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, was presented by Mrs. Arthur Birney, and accepted by Mrs. Philip Sydney Smith, of the Board of Education. The tablet bears an inscription from the address of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, delivered at the corner stone laying of the school.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, paid a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Hearst, and pointed to the school built in her name as a realization of the type of school she had in mind when she worked for the establishment of ideal school surroundings for young children.

Mrs. Smith presided at the exercises, which were opened with invocation by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church. Baritone solos were given by Henry Nestor, and soprano solos by Miss Dorothy Reddish.

TURNER BREAKS EAST-WEST AIR RECORD IN DASH

Averages 199.2 M. P. H. in Taking 12 Hours and 33 Minutes for Trip.

HE ABANDONS PLANS FOR RETURN FLIGHT

Previous Mark Was Set by Captain Hawks in 1930.

Burbank, Calif., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Breaking the transcontinental East-West speed record by 2 hours and 17 minutes, Col. Roscoe Turner set his airplane down at the United Airport at 5:19 p. m., Pacific standard time, today, 12 hours and 33 minutes out of New York.

Turner abandoned tentative plans for an about-face in an effort to establish a new round-trip record between Los Angeles and New York, explaining it would be necessary to do some work on his ship.

Breaks Hawks' Record.

The previous New York-Los Angeles speed record of 14 hours 50 minutes, was set by Frank Hawks on August 6, 1930.

Turner said he averaged 199.2 miles an hour against strong headwinds the entire distance." He left New York at 7:46 a. m., Eastern standard time.

Turner took off from here at 2:34 a. m. last Saturday in an effort to set a new round-trip speed record between New York and Los Angeles, but damage to his landing gear in setting the ship down at Columbus, Ohio, forced him to abandon the attempt.

Head Winds Slow Flight.

Turner landed in Albuquerque at 2:58 p. m. (Mountain standard time) and took off at 3:00 p. m. The Albuquerque ground crew refueled his ship in 2¼ minutes, believed to be a record.

A seventeen-minute stop was made at Columbus, Ohio, and ten minutes at Kansas City. Head winds slowed down the New York-Columbus hop.

Schuyler's Senate Race Lead in Colorado is 868

Denver, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Absentee ballots in 6 of Colorado's 63 counties today increased to 868 votes the lead of Karl C. Schuyler, Republican, over Walter Walker, Democrat, for the unexpired term in the United States Senate of the late Senator Charles W. Waterman.

In Denver the absentee vote gave Schuyler 720 and Walker 439. The election commission also discovered an error in their official count of Saturday which took 100 votes from Walker's previous total. Election officials do not expect the total absentee ballots vote to be tabulated before the end of the week.

Throat Tube Kills Man It Had Aided

Kentuckian at Union Depot Dies as Wife Cleans Clogged Device.

An artificial breathing apparatus which had been instrumental in prolonging his life caused the death of William G. Chamberlin, 68, Covington, Ky., while he was waiting with his wife for a train in Union Station yesterday afternoon.

For more than a year it had been necessary for the man to wear the artificial tube in his throat in order to obtain sufficient breath. His wife, Isabelle, 65, said the tube often became clogged, and it was necessary for her to remove and clean it.

While they were sitting in the station, waiting for the train which would take them home, she said he complained that the tube was clogged. She removed and cleaned it quickly, but when she put it back into place, he had stopped breathing. He was rushed to Casualty Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

New Duties of England On Irish Goods Effective

London (Tuesday), Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Expiration of imperial preferences granted the dominions under the tariff act of last autumn today placed duties on imports of goods from the Irish Free State ranging from 10 per cent in the case of manufactured articles to 50 per cent in the case of cattle.

From the stroke of midnight the new duties became effective and, as far as trade relations between it and the United Kingdom were concerned, the Free State became a foreign country. Its goods became subject to the general 10 per cent tariff of the United Kingdom, in addition to special duties imposed on some farm products.

RED HUNGER MARCH ON CAPITAL STARTS

Police Redouble Efforts to Check Influx; 10,000 Goal of Leaders.

The Communist "hunger march" on the Capital was definitely under way last night, with groups en route here from Spokane, Wash., and Chicago, as the Police Department bent efforts to discourage the march and to keep track of those now on the way.

With relief legislation as their objective the bands of radicals started toward the Capital, while Communist headquarters in New York announced that 10,000 will be here when Congress convenes in the first week in December.

A children's hunger march to arrive here on Thanksgiving Day was announced in New York yesterday by Herbert B. Benjamin, who directed the last "hunger march" on the Capital last December.

The eight columns of marchers, which will converge here simultaneously from all directions, will demand a "$50 unemployment bonus, passage of a workers unemployment insurance bill, and an appropriation for Federal child relief stations," its sponsors announced.

The group from Seattle, Wash., which left Sunday, is known as column one. There are 70 in this group, and will pick up recruits en route. The other columns will leave for Washington shortly.

Column two will leave San Francisco tomorrow, and column three leaves Los Angeles today and joins with column two at Denver, Colo., on November 23. Column four leaves Sioux City, Iowa, on November 21. Column five leaves Houston, Tex., on the same day. Column six leaves New Orleans and column seven leaves Boston on November 27. Column eight leaves Miami, Fla., on November 28.

Chicago is expected to be one of the principal rallying points of the marchers. A delegation of 60 is on the way from Chicago to Springfield,

Berlin's Papers Cautious On Paris Arms Proposal

Berlin, Tuesday, Nov. 15 (A.P.).—Editorial comment in Berlin morning papers today approached the French disarmament plan with extreme caution, and, in one case, even expressed distrust of possible pitfalls hidden in the French reasoning. The view was maintained that the plan needed elucidation in many points.

With only partial returns from some of the units, the Community Chest campaign really got under way yesterday with contributions amounting to $189,403.80 reported at the first report meeting, held in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel. The bulk of the contributions was reported by the special gifts unit, of which Clarence A. Aspinwall is chairman. The unit has been working since last Thursday, and its list of donors was headed by Andrew W. Mellon, Ambassador to Great Britain, who, solicited by mail, sent his check for $35,000.

Yesterday's program included talks by E. C. Graham, president of the Chest; Newbold Noyes, campaign chairman; Mrs. Edward Everett Gann and Elwood Street, in addition to the reports of the various unit chairmen. Music for the daily meetings is furnished by the Bernheimer Trio, consisting of Mrs. Clara Bernheimer, pianist; Miss Elizabeth Bernheimer, violinist, and Miss Louise Bernheimer, cellist. The meetings are broadcast daily over Station WJSV.

In calling the meeting to order, Newbold Noyes, presiding, called attention to the new time set for meetings this year. He asked all workers to be in their places promptly at 12:15 o'clock, in order that the program might be handled on schedule time, and thus take advantage of the radio facilities donated to the Chest, so that "all Washington may be afforded a daily opportunity to learn of the progress of this campaign in the success of which the city as a whole can not but be vitally concerned.

PRESIDENT MEJIA COLINDRES

Alleged Swindler States Dry Leader Was Drowned by Jersey Bootleggers.

Boston, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A story which police said today would bear "deeper investigation" was related by an alleged swindler, who said Col. Raymond Robins, missing prohibition worker and friend of President Hoover, was thrown to his death in the Atlantic Ocean 40 miles off Montauk Point, Long Island, after being kidnaped by rumrunners.

Police said Ralph Code, 40, held on a charge of swindling two New York men, said Robins, for whom a fruitless Nation-wide search has been conducted after he disappeared September 8, was abducted on orders of a New Jersey beer baron.

Police said Code told one of the men, Carlisle C. Byrd, oil and mining promoter, of the death of Col. Robins in an effort to substantiate his alleged knowledge of ship movements and of the underworld as "a former Secret Service man." Officials of the Secret Service at Washington said, however, that Code had never been an agent of the service, as far as they knew.

Code was held in $10,000 bond after he had pleaded not guilty to larceny charges. His case was continued until November 28. He was specifically charged with the larceny of $325 from Byrd and $600 from Edmund H. Noyes, a guest at the Prince George Hotel, New York. The method employed in obtaining the money from the two men was a scheme to raise a treasure-laden ship from the ocean bottom, police alleged.

Code was arrested last Saturday upon his return to a Boston hotel from the Harvard-Holy Cross football game.

Col. Robins was last reported seen outside a New York club. His absence did not become generally known until he failed to keep an appointment with President Hoover several days later. His wife first said she believed him to be the victim of rumrunners because of his prohibition activities. Later she said she was confident he would return after the national election.

Bogus Bill Passer Escapes Druggist

Man's Nervousness Stirs Suspicions and Store Owner Gives Chase.

Police were searching last night for a well-dressed young man who attempted to pass an allegedly counterfeit $10 bill at the drug store of Dr. Irving Sealfon, at 6130 Georgia avenue northwest.

Dr. Sealfon told police the man made a small purchase and handed him the bill. He said he started to give him change, but the man's nervousness and hurried actions aroused his suspicions. On looking at the bill, he saw it was bogus. The man fled and he pursued him. When the fleeing man jumped in a car, Dr. Sealfon got into his own and gave chase, following him through Takoma Park, but the man finally escaped.

FIVE HONDURAN CITIES TAKEN IN BLOODY REVOLT

Hundreds Reported Slain in Liberal Party's Uprising.

REBELS SUSTAINED ELECTION REVERSE

Capital Is Loyal as Federals Begin Counterattacks at San Pedro.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Many hundreds were reported killed during the twelve hours of heavy fighting between rebels and federal troops today at the city of San Pedro.

Insurgent Liberals, who lost in the presidential election two weeks ago, captured Nacaome, 100 miles from Tegucigalpa and the key to the southern district of Honduras. They captured San Pedro last night and federal troops, assisted by Nationalists, were making a counter attack.

Outbreaks have not occurred in this city, but the situation is extremely threatening.

The Liberals were reported to have seized the towns of Trujilla, La Ceiba and La Esperanza also.

Leader Reported Killed.

The insurgent movement had its inception, officials said, at San Pedro. The federals reached the outskirts of that city this morning and hoped to capture it before nightfall.

It was reported that rebel troops were in the field in the southern district also and federal forces were hurried to Comayagua, in anticipation of an attack.

Reports were received that William Coleman was one of the leaders of the rebellion and that he was killed as federal troops under Gens. Funes, Rosales and Guy Maloney stormed San Pedro. Fighting also was reported at Puerto Cortes, but there were no details.

Capital Remains Loyal.

In the Honduran election October 30 Gen. Tiburcio Carias Andino, the Nationalist - Conservative candidate, won over Angel Zuniga Huete, the Liberal nominee. The inauguration has not yet taken place and President Mejia Colindres remains as the head of the government. The president and the president-elect are political allies.

New Orleans, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Frederick Smith, consul for Honduras here, said this afternoon he had received an official communique announcing the recapture of San Pedro Sula from revolutionaries by federal forces and informing him that the revolt had been put down.

Discontented supporters of Dr. Angel Zuniga Huete, defeated Liberal candidate for president, were reported in dispatches from Honduras to the State Department yesterday to have started a revolt by capturing the military barracks at San Pedro Sula in the northern part of the republic.

Julius G. Lay, United States minister in Tegucigalpa, reported the capital remained loyal to the government.

Quiet was said to prevail in the northern coast towns to which women and children have been taken as a precautionary measure.

Veterans Told to Quit Camp Near Uniontown

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The remaining members of the Bonus Expeditionary Force at Camp Sherry, near here, late today, were given 24 hours' notice to vacate the camp by Dr. C. H. Sherry, owner of the property.

Dr. Sherry invited W. W. Waters, as B. E. F. commander, to establish a camp on his property after the veterans were evicted from Washington. He said he had spent $5,000 in preparing buildings, but with the removal of headquarters to Chicago, only 30 or 35 veterans are in the camp now.

GOV. ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS HOOVER DEBT PARLEY BID; DATE TO BE SET SHORTLY

President-Elect Asks Personal Meeting.

Reminds of His Plan for Conference in Georgia.

Albany, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight agreed to visit President Hoover at the White House for "a wholly informal and personal" meeting at which the two could go over "the entire situation."

In his message to the Chief Executive accepting the invitation of Mr. Hoover to come to Washington for a conference, the President-elect said, however, that "the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority."

Mr. Roosevelt reminded the President of the forthcoming conferences the President-elect had arranged to hold at Warm Springs with various congressional leaders and said it would be very helpful if he had the views of Mr. Hoover and "all pertinent information when I meet with them."

Suffers Slight Cold.

No date was set for the conference, Mr. Roosevelt relating to the President that he had been confined to the house with a slight cold for the last several days.

"I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the South has been determined," the message said.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would be glad to cooperate in every appropriate way with the outgoing Chief Executive on all matters affecting the welfare of the country, "subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as Governor of this State."

"May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal," he added. "You and I can go over the whole situation."

Reply to President.

The message replied to one sent yesterday by Mr. Hoover in which the President pointed out to Mr. Roosevelt that several nations had asked that

Kidnaper Victim Writes Parents

Letter From Missing Boy Says Captors Are Kind to Him.

New York, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Police disclosed tonight that the parents of Paul Marciante, 10, who was kidnaped last Monday while on his way to school, had received word from the boy. A special delivery letter, mailed in Brooklyn Monday night, read:

"Dear Dad: Don't worry. I am all right. They are treating me well—Paul." The note was in the boy's handwriting.

Following delivery of another note yesterday, Capt. Michael McDermott and a squad of detectives left for Carmel, N. Y. They returned today, said their quest had been futile, and declined to divulge the contents of the second note. A package was delivered to the Marciante home today, but the contents of that, too, was kept secret.

Roosevelt Acceptance Of Hoover's Invitation

The text of Gov. Roosevelt's telegram accepting President Hoover's invitation to confer here on international debts and other issues follows:

The President,
Pratt, Kans.

I appreciate your cordial telegram. On the subjects to which you refer, as in all matters relating to the welfare of the country, I am glad to cooperate in every appropriate way, subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as governor of this State.

I shall be delighted to confer with you in Washington, but I have been confined to the house with a slight cold and I am, therefore, not able to suggest a definite date. I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the South has been determined.

May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal? You and I can go over the entire situation.

I had already arranged to meet a number of the Democratic leaders of the present Congress late this month at Warm Springs. It will be helpful for me to have your views and all pertinent information when I meet with them. I hope that you also will see them at the earliest opportunity, because, in the last analysis, the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority.

My kindest regards,

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

British Exposition Is Due to Be Presented Tomorrow; Davis Confers.

Geneva, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—An elaborate scheme for breaking the disarmament deadlock, solving the problem of security and meeting Germany's arms equality demand by tying together arms reductions and security pacts, was submitted textually to the disarmament conference tonight in behalf of the French government.

The French plan calls for application of the Briand-Kellogg pact, the League of Nations covenant and special regional agreements for mutual assistance against any aggressor. It proposes reduction in effectives and materials of war, with a special allotment of certain troops and arms for use of the league in enforcing peace.

The technical features of the plan, which is designed to achieve these general purposes, are:

1. The establishment in European countries of short-term defensive conscript armies.

2. Special offensive forces which would be placed under the direction of the league in a time of emergency.

3. The establishment of stocks of powerful arms in certain localities in the countries providing those stocks, which would be under the control of the league and for the use of the league.

4. A special Mediterranean naval

Congress Chiefs Seem Opposed To New Study.

Administration Firm Against General Conference.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt last night telegraphed his acceptance of President Hoover's invitation to a White House conference on the momentous problem involved in the British and French requests for reconsideration of the intergovernmental debt situation.

The exact date for the unprecedented White House meeting between the Chief Executive and his successor will be made definite in a few days.

In the meanwhile, congressional opinion was definitely crystallizing in two distinct groups; those opposed to any reconsideration of the problem at all and those who are willing to discuss the proposal only as a basis for definite compensatory action by Europe, in the realm of disarmament, economic cooperation or revision of war inequalities.

Reconsideration Opposed.

A careful canvass of the congressional leaders now in Washington failed to reveal any out-and-out approval of the request forwarded by France and Great Britain for a continuation of the Hoover moratorium. On the contrary, the temper of many of the congressional leaders at this moment seemed to be definitely opposed to any reconsideration of the war-debt problem.

Chairman Collier (Democrat), Mississippi, of the House ways and means committee, is in the strategic position of dominating the committee from which must originate all revenue legislation. He said last night:

"I am opposed to any effort to cancel the European war debts. If they can't pay, let them owe us. I favor keeping the obligation on our books. Some day we may be able to get some of the money anyway."

Limited Its Action.

A significant rider was attached to the congressional approval of the Hoover moratorium last year by Representative Ragon (Democrat), of Arkansas. This constitutes the nub of the present debt situation. Under the terms of this instrument Congress specifically limited its action in the European debt problem to a bare approval of what President Hoover had done. Nothing in the ratification was to be construed as constituting approval of the principle of reduction or cancellation.

This same representative yesterday suggested an immediate meeting of the ways and means committee to examine the French and British notes. Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills emphasized the importance of the Ragon rider in the future of the debt negotiations. The British and French notes, however, he pointed out, took no definite stand on the nonpayment of their December 15 obligations. There was nothing in the notes to indicate that they would decline to meet the payments, if Congress should decide on

Gov. Rolfe to Pardon 1,000 Dry Violators in California

State's Wineries and Breweries Eager to Resume Manufacture as Governor Announces He Will Free Prisoners as Soon as Repeal Is Certified.

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 14 (A.P.). Freedom came in sight today for about 1,000 persons held in California prisons and jails, on charges of violating the State prohibition law, when Gov. James Rolph, jr., announced he intended to pardon all these as a result of the overwhelming vote last Tuesday for repeal of the statute.

Replying to a query from a New York newspaper, the governor announced his intention to pardon all Wright act violators as soon as the results of the election are certified to him by the Secretary of State. The Wright act, in unofficial election returns, was repealed by a vote of approximately 2 to 1.

State authorities recently estimated there were 300 Wright law violators in California prisons and about 700 held in county jails.

The governor's announcement was but one of many developments in the State, where willingness to abandon the old order was shown.

City authorities in Oakland and other cities in the east San Francisco Bay area ordered police to stop all liquor raids. The Oakland council voted to repeal an antiliquor ordinance. Many towns, particularly in northern California, signified their intention of forgetting prohibition.

Wineries of the State hummed with new activity in the light of increased possibilities for the legal sale of their vintages for beverage purposes. Brewers in many towns and cities announced preparations to be ready to sell beer the minute such can be done legally.

Despite the decisiveness of the repeal vote, several legal difficulties appeared to lie ahead of the result of existing laws, old and new, relating to liquor.

In the first place the State not only repealed its prohibition law, but also voted to adopt a State constitutional amendment, giving the State the right to control alcoholic beverages. Besides this there are State and local ordinances on liquor dating back as far as 1858.

Attention of The Washington Post has been called to the fact that irresponsible newsboys, particularly in residential sections of the city, have been crying "extra" late at night and in some instances "Post extra" in their efforts to dispose of their wares.

The Post once more reminds its readers that Post extras are very few, even over a period of years. Only in the cases of major catastrophes or events of world significance does The Post feel that an extra is warranted.

The Post will be glad to inform its readers by telephone at any time as to whether or not extras have been issued. Just call National 4205 and the veracity of any "extra" cry may be learned.

Paraguay Claims Signal Victory in Bolivian War

(Associated Press.)

The Paraguayan Legation last night received a cablegram from Asuncion describing "the greatest battle of the war."

It told of the capture of Forts Platanillos, San Fernando, Loa and Bolivar on November 6 and of a Paraguayan center line offensive launched November 7.

The report described Saavedra as the most important defensive post of Bolivia in the war, and said La Paz students and the last of the Bolivian officers, who escaped in the fighting at Boqueron, Castillos and Arce, were making a stand there.

Paraguayan troops, the report said, advanced on November 8, meeting a counterattack on November 10. In this fighting Paraguay claimed 500 Bolivians killed and 100 taken prisoners, among them captains Montalvo and Riveras and four lieutenants and two second lieutenants, 10 heavy machine guns, 22 light machine guns and 200 rifles with ammunition.

La Paz, Bolivia, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—An official announcement tonight said that long-range cannon in the Fort Arce sector of the Gran Chaco had destroyed the Paraguayan front lines and had inflicted 1,000 casualties on the enemy. The announcement caused much public exultation.

(It was not clear whether this announcement meant that a counter-offensive had been started against Fort Arce, which the Paraguayans hold, or in the Port Saavedra sector, about 50 miles to the south.)

Asuncion, Paraguay, Nov. 14 (A.P.). Five thousand Bolivian soldiers clung stubbornly today to Forts Murguia, Samaklay and Saavedra after heavy fighting over the week-end in which the Paraguayan forces contended they killed 500 of the enemy.

The artillery was credited with preventing the capture by the Paraguayan attackers of the thrice-guarded doorway to Fort Munoz, Bolivia's principal stronghold in the Chaco. Cesar Vasconcellos, former Paraguayan delegate to the neutral conference at Washington, returned from the front with the statement that Bolivia would not be able to resist the hammering much longer.

FURLOUGH END SEEN BY BYRNS HINGING ON TAX

Little Hope, However, Is Held for Suspension This Session.

HEARINGS TOMORROW ON FIRST SUPPLY BILL

McDuffie Indicates He May Relent in His Attack on Federal Pay.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

House Democratic leaders yesterday stripped decks for a fresh assault on costs of Government, as appropriation committee members gathered here for opening hearings tomorrow on the first of the departmental supply bills.

Chairman Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), Tennessee, who returned to the Capitol yesterday, will wield the expenditures knife without aid of the House economy committee. Neither Byrns nor John McDuffie, House Democratic whip and former economy chairman, sees early prospect of its revival.

But both leaders reiterated their old determination to cut costs. Representative McDuffie indicated he may relent in his attack on Federal salaries. Yet neither Byrns nor McDuffie held out much hope for suspending the Government payless furlough by action at this short session.

Hearings to Open.

The economy situation, as disclosed yesterday at the Capitol, shapes up as follows:

1. Hearings on the Postoffice-Treasury supply bill will get under way tomorrow, with budget estimates reputedly cut approximately $1,000,000.

2. Opening hearings of the joint committee investigating appropriations for veterans may start November 28, according to Chairman McDuffie, who predicts a report this session. Business interests are seeking a $400,000,000 curtailment of veterans costs.

3. Scant chance for deficiency legislation, remedying inequities in departmental supply bills caused by last session's unequal reductions, was seen by Representative Byrns. Five Government departments took a 10 per cent cut last year under the McKellar resolution. Other departments were not hit by it.

Favors Holiday Sessions.

4. The appropriations chairman favored sitting through the Christmas holidays to get appropriation bills and other pressing legislation out of the way before March 4, whether or not a special session is called.

Representative McDuffie aired his views on Government salary cutting as follows:

"I hope it will not be necessary to make any cuts in Government pay. The furlough plan I never favored. But Congress has enacted it into law, and what will be done to extend it must depend on the condition of the Treasury."

Representative Byrns said the only chance for suspending the furlough after this fiscal year hangs on the enactment of "some quick revenue-producing measure" at the short session of Congress.

Jones Not So Liberal.

On the subject of deficiencies, Representative Byrns was more liberal than Chairman Wesley L. Jones of the Senate appropriations committee, who before leaving for his home State, served notice on department heads that no such legislation would pass his committee.

"If a bureau head can demonstrate that unless a deficiency is granted, the operations of Government will be seriously handicapped, I think our committee will allow a deficiency," Representative Byrns said.

"But the burden of proof is upon the departments, and they must make out a clear case. Generally speaking, we do not intend to allow them."

Others Will Follow.

The Postoffice-Treasury supply bill hearings opening tomorrow will be followed by the Agriculture appropriations bill Friday, and the Interior Department, the War Department, and the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor bills early next week. Hearings on the District appropriations bill may be delayed until after Christmas, according to Representative Byrns.

He said it would be impossible before hearings to set any figure as the economy total sought. Conceding that department supplies were sharply reduced last session, and may not be trimmed much closer, he pointed out there is still broad latitude for savings in construction, rivers and harbors work, and by reducing the amount of special legislation requiring funds, of the type passed last session.

SPECIAL NOTICES

GOV. ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS PRESIDENT'S BID TO PARLEY

making any discussion of the debt question subsequent to payment of the sums due in December. Great Britain owed in principal and interest $95,550,000, and France has an interest payment amounting to approximately $20,000,000.

Transfers Are Reported.

Reports have been received from abroad that transfers already have been made to New York of sums sufficient to cover these payments on behalf of the Bank of England and of the Bank of France. It was impossible, however, to verify this in either of the embassies concerned.

Considerable significance was attached to the strategic appearance at this time of the new French proposals for disarmament. The French arms plan was announced at Geneva yesterday with a flourish of promises for its treatment of the three-point problem of consultation, security and arms equality. None of the congressional leaders had had an opportunity to study the French proposal and were unable to say how far it went toward satisfying their demands that "Europe first put its own house in order."

Borah Persistent Opponent

Senator Borah has been a persistent opponent of any settlement of the debt problem that did not take into consideration settlement of some of the inherited problems of the Versailles and other war treaties. He has indicated his opposition to any special treatment for the debtor nations unless they first reduce their armaments. He is also determined to get revision of some of the provisions of the Versailles treaty, particularly with regard to such territorial inequalities of the treaty as the Polish Corridor, as the price for further investigation of Europe's capacity to pay.

The Republican whip, Senator Simeon D. Fess, expressed opposition to any negotiations pointed toward cancellation. He was, however, in favor of an international parley looking toward "readjustments." Senator Ashurst (Democrat), of Arizona, will fight extension of the moratorium.

Against this mounting tide of congressional opposition to British and French requests for suspension of payments, the Presidential conference between the two men most vitally interested may prevail. President Hoover has frequently expressed his disapproval of any move whereby the onus of the debt would be removed from European shoulders and placed on the American taxpayer. Likewise, President-elect Roosevelt is bound by campaign speeches and the limitations of the Democratic platform.

Claim Inability to Pay.

What will be before the minds of the two men at the White House conference is the possibility of a general European crisis with all its attendant implications of credit strain, and financial stress. The payment of the December 15 obligations for either Great Britain or France does not present any great problem as both countries could make the payment with comparatively little effort. However, such is not the case with Belgium, Roumania and some of the other debtor nations, three of whom, Poland, Esthonia and Latvia, have already declared their inability to pay.

The Lausanne agreements made last July practically ended reparations payments. Germany has frequently notified her creditor countries she will no longer be able to pay the war annuities. These same agreements were predicated on the assumption that Germany's creditor countries would receive favorable treatment from their creditor also, which in this case was the United States. This agreement formed the basis of the now famous "Gentlemen's Understanding," which was not officially revealed at the time the reparations treaty was made.

Attitude Is Unchanged.

The traditional attitude of this Government toward the negotiation of debt payments still remains, it was assured at the Department of State yesterday. There had been some slight basis for belief that the essence of the French and British note was an appeal for a general conference on debts. Such a conference would be contrary to the policy heretofore established in dealing with this problem, it was pointed out. The United States originally made separate funding agreements with all the allies—the British settlement, the Mellon-Berenger agreement, the Mellon-Volpi agreement — were part of the general policy of dealing with each individual nation separately rather than en masse.

The same policy would be followed in the treatment of the debt problem again. This could be done either through the re-creation of the War Debt Funding Commission, which proposal Congress summarily rejected when it was proposed by President Hoover, or it might be done by separate conferences between Treasury officials and delegations from the various countries involved.

Hoover Bid to Roosevelt Praised by French Press

Paris, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—President Hoover's invitation to President-elect Roosevelt to discuss the debt situation created by the British and French notes was generally described by the French press today as a logical step. French newspapers are following Washington developments most closely.

Le Temps analyzed the President's telegram to his successor, and expressed optimism that the French and British disarmament proposals would lead the way to reduction in the arms burden.

Le Journal said everything now depends upon the American Congress. It expressed regret that for the present the question is in the hands of the old Congress instead of the newly elected one.

It was officially indicated that France will make no plans for debt negotiations with the United States until the Government receives an answer from Washington to its suggestion for a prolongation of the Hoover moratorium.

M'ADOO URGES U. S. REJECT DEBT DELAY

Senator Bratton Is Opposed to Either Cancellation or Holiday.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—William Gibbs McAdoo, senator-elect from California, said today in a statement, "The proposals of Great Britain and France for a postponement of the debt payments due the United States should be rejected promptly."

"The whole matter," he said, "must be dealt with by the incoming Democratic administration, which has a direct mandate from the American people on the subject of foreign debts."

Albuquerque, N. Mex., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, said today he was opposed either to a cancellation or to an extension of a moratorium on war debts by France, Great Britain, or other foreign nations.

If payment can not be made at this time, he said, he favored letting the debts default and then allow the nations to pay at the first opportunity.

Dodge City, Kans., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—C. C. Isely, Dodge City, a member of the committee for the consideration of intergovernmental debts, said today, "Mr. Hoover's message to Roosevelt seeking a conference on war-debt problems, reechoes the request of Southwest wheat farmers, made here February 13."

"We now must insist that credits of war debts be made a factor to stimulate exports of wheat and other farm products," said Isely.

"President Hoover, indeed, makes this suggestion, but the West needs to be on its toes and see to it that the conference works out a program on debt adjustment that will protect the interests of Western farmers. Farmers' interests in this adjustment should be our paramount consideration, not the interests of Wall street bankers."

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Senator Lynn Frazier, of North Dakota, in an interview today expressed belief Congress would reject any extension of the moratorium on French and British debts owing the United States.

"I don't like the idea of extending the moratorium," he added. "I voted against it the first time and will do so again."

(Associated Press.)

Representative Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi, who fought the Hoover moratorium in the House a year ago, yesterday said: "President Hoover and his international banker advisers seem to be trying to rush this matter, hoping to get a lame duck Congress to betray the American people by canceling or reducing these war debts and unloading that burden onto the backs of the already overburdened taxpayers of America."

"I am unalterably opposed to cancellation of a single dollar," he went on.

Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, said he would favor a conference "looking to adjustments in fulfillment" of war debt obligations, but would oppose negotiations "designed by the debtor countries to lead to ultimate cancellation."

In a statement in response to questions, the Republican whip of the Senate said:

"These loans must and will be paid. If the debtor countries default their payment the taxpayer of the United States will have to pay as this country does not repudiate its obligations.

"A concrete proposal in a definite agenda should be submitted as a basis and prerequisite for a conference."

HOOVER SCANS DEBT ON WAY TO CAPITAL

Allots Only Minimum of His Time to Rest; Cheered by Crowds en Route.

On Board Presidential Special en Route to Washington, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Working steadily at his own plans for dealing with the moratorium requests of foreign debtors, President Hoover today continued his swift journey toward Washington for a projected debt conference with President-elect Roosevelt.

As his train rolled across the flat cow country of New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma and headed on through Kansas, the Chief Executive awaited word from the New York Governor. His invitation to a White House parley was dispatched to Albany Saturday night.

The President today allotted a minimum of his time to rest. During most of the day he worked at an improvised desk in his private car or conferred with Secretary Wilbur and members of his secretarial staff. He maintained a strict public silence, however, concerning his international debt plans.

Is Cheered by Crowd.

At Tucumcari, N. Mex., during the morning, Mr. Hoover stepped to the sun-flooded rear platform of his train to be welcomed by a crowd estimated by railroad police at 2,000 persons.

He was cheered when he waved the same gray hat he wore throughout much of his campaign against Roosevelt, and thanked the crowd for the reception given him. Mrs. Hoover appeared also to speak to a group of school children.

Again at Dalhart, Tex., a throng estimated at nearly 3,000 surrounded the rear platform of his train and lined the roofs of nearby box cars to greet the President with a band and a line of American flags. To criers of "Speech! Speech!" Mr. Hoover said: "I haven't enough of a voice for that. I still have to find it again."

Train Halted by Cattle.

Earlier Mr. Hoover made one of his few unscheduled stops of the day, an engineering necessity of which he was not aware, to allow a herd of cattle time to wander across the railroad tracks.

One of the President's secretaries told newspapermen today a sheaf of telegrams had been received aboard the train complimenting Mr. Hoover upon his invitation to the President-elect, and that they had been placed before him while he worked. None was made public.

Presidential aids also took occasion to reiterate a point made by Mr. Hoover in his telegram to Gov. Roosevelt that any action by debtor nations of the United States in seeking a suspension of December 15 payments, and asking a review of the debt situation, was not "based upon any assurances of the United States."

Presented With 72 Ducks.

Liberal, Kans., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—President Hoover bagged 72 ducks for the White House table here today without firing a shot.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were presented the ducks by citizens of Liberal when the President's special train stopped here briefly.

A crowd estimated by police at 12,000, consisting of visitors from many towns in this section of southwestern Kansas, greeted the President.

"Now that the election is over," he told the crowd, "I know that your presence in this vast throng means friendship, and I want to tell you how deeply I appreciate it."

He remained on the rear platform of the car, waving good-by, until the train was far down the tracks.

Pratt, Kans., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A cold wind caused President Hoover to shiver as he stepped out on the rear platform of his special train here tonight to greet a large throng, but he smiled and said, "Your greeting certainly is a warm one."

He was introduced to the crowd by Representative Clifford R. Hope, of the Seventh Kansas District.

Roosevelt Leading By 6,154,809 Votes

Associated Press Reports 9,518 Precincts Are Still Uncounted.

(Associated Press.)

With 9,518 voting units still missing, Associated Press compilations yesterday showed that Franklin D. Roosevelt's plurality was 6,154,809 with 36,700,600 votes recorded.

The Democratic nominee's total vote was 21,115,222 and President Hoover's 14,960,713.

The returns for minor parties were fragmentary in many States, but the totals compiled were: Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, 857,216 votes; Upshaw, Prohibitionist candidate, 26,220; Harvey, Liberty party candidate, 21,220; Foster, Communist party candidate, 15,410, and Reynolds, Socialist-Labor party candidate, 2,580.

2 KIDNAP SUSPECTS SHOT IN WILD CHASE

Car Theft Opens Road Gun Battle as Farm Family of 5 Is Abducted.

Charleston, Ark., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Spreading gunfire over a ten-mile course as officers pursued them for the theft of an automobile and kidnaping of a farmer and his four children, two men were wounded and captured near here today.

The prisoners gave their names as Leo Scarborough and Frank Townsley. Scarborough, shot three times, was in a critical condition tonight. Townsley was wounded slightly in the back. Police said Scarborough had served a one-year term in the Arkansas penitentiary for robbery.

The theft of a car at Paris, Ark., started the chase. With officers in pursuit, the men stopped at the farm home of A. J. Gibson, ransacked the house, and brandishing a rifle and a pistol, forced Gibson and his four children into the Gibson automobile. Mrs. Gibson was not taken, but was warned against notifying officers.

The Gibsons later were put out on the highway and the men continued their flight in the Gibson car.

Paris officers already were in close pursuit and Mrs. Gibson telephoned to Branch, where a deputy sought to stop the fleeing car but was hurled from the running board. He exchanged several shots with the men. Other officers joined the chase here.

Bullets flew as the car speeded through Charleston, with officers close behind them, and others joining the race.

With escape virtually impossible, Townsley, already wounded, left the car on the highway southeast of here and the officers found him with arms lifted. Shortly afterward the officers stopped the car with bullets and Scarborough was captured.

Amy Johnson Off For South Africa

Aviatrix, in Algeria, Aims to Break Record Held by Husband.

Oran, Algeria, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Amy Johnson, who is trying to better the time of her husband, Capt. J. A. Mollison, on a flight by stages from England to South Africa, landed here this evening.

Lympne, England, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Flying a tiny silver-colored airplane named Desert Cloud, Amy Johnson, the wife of Capt. J. A. Mollison, took off today in an attempt to beat her husband's record of 4 days 17 hours and 19 minutes to South Africa.

She wore a badge of St. Christopher, the patron saint of travel, which was carried by her husband on his transatlantic flight from Dublin a few months ago. Her ship was equipped with special fuel tanks expected to give a flying range of about 2,000 miles. Her plans call for a 1,500-mile desert hop during the night.

Bodies of Typhoon Victims Recovered

3 Taken From Debris in Japan; 6 Injured Are Recovered.

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (U.P.).—Bodies of three persons have been recovered from the debris left by a typhoon that swept Japan last night, resulting in landslides that buried at least twenty persons. And, it is feared, killed many others in remote fishing villages.

The twenty persons buried were residents of suburbs of Yokohama. Three bodies and six persons seriously injured were recovered. Train service, disrupted during the storm, was resumed today.

Thirty thousand homes were inundated during the typhoon. Fire, spread by the gale, destroyed the village of Kashiwabara, 24 miles from here. The city of Tokyo was in darkness last night when electric transmission wires were torn down.

Fur Factory Fire Damage Is $200,000

Women Escape When Danbury Plant Is Destroyed; Spark Blamed.

Danbury, Conn., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Five buildings were destroyed or badly damaged today by a fire in the factory of the Eastern Fur Products Co., manufacturers of hatters fur. Fire officials said the loss would exceed $200,000.

An employe of the company, Tony Stanzo, jumped from a roof and broke his left leg. Daniel Green, fire department chauffeur, was burned severely on the face and head.

Most of the employes, about 100 of them women, escaped down stairways. Others gained access to roofs of adjoining one-story structures and leaped to the ground. A spark from a grinding machine was thought to have ignited a heap of fur.

ports at these daily luncheons, will answer a number of solemn questions.

"It will answer the question as to whether the Capital of the Nation is capable of dealing with this year's unprecedented suffering on a humane and merciful and compassionate basis.

"It will answer the question as to whether the suffering and the despairing of our city are to be succored and helped or are to lose their faith in the common decency and humanity of their fellow citizens.

"It will, I honestly believe, answer the question as to whether the Chest and the welfare agencies it supports are to survive, or whether another and less noble method must be found for dealing with our communal welfare and relief problems.

Of Vital Significance.

"Thus these meetings are fraught with grave and vital significance. No one can tell you better how true this is than the speaker who will today address you. More than anyone else he bears the responsibility of our united effort. How gallantly he carries that burden you all know. It is my pride to present E. C. Graham, president of the Community Chest."

"You have volunteered in this great movement to relieve human suffering," Mr. Graham said. "You have attended organization meetings. You have read the catalogue of the 63 agencies. You know of the 22,000 unemployed in Washington; of the some 5,000 families receiving material aid; of the increase of nearly 100 per cent in family relief; of the deficit for this year; of the greatly increased demands on hospitals and health agencies; of the suffering children; of the aged and infirm; of the stricken homes and the young men and women, boys and girls, in these thousands of stricken homes, who are hungry for and in real need of encouraging human interest, which are available in community centers, Y's, Boy's Clubs, &c.

"The Chest appeals to Washington in behalf of these 63 agencies of mercy. Our job is personally to acquaint our neighbors who have salaries or income of these needs. You are giving time and money. Washington is the most fertile field in the world. We have here larger salaries and more salaried people in proportion to our population than any other city. The pay roll amounts to 150 millions. The individual quota is surprisingly small. No group will fail. No individual will fail to reach his quota.

Confident of Success.

"The consciousness of the good people has been aroused as never before. The nominal goal has been set at $2,419,707, but the actual amount is that which will meet the needs of the people. I am confident we will exceed the nominal goal. You are engaged in the most noble cause ever undertaken. There are some obstacles, but the favorable conditions outnumber these ten to one. I wish you Godspeed."

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann and Mrs. Owen J. Roberts, wife of Justice Roberts, were introduced as guests of honor. Mrs. Gann said: "I am here because I am so intensely interested in this work that has now begun. I hope you will succeed. I am going to do everything I can to help that end."

Start Is Encouraging.

Elwood Street, director of the Chest, declared: "We are off to an encouraging start. There has apparently been a good reaction to our solicitation so far, and I trust that it will continue. If all of us work earnestly and carefully, making it a point to see every possible giver, I believe that we can succeed."

Mr. Street then told of a gift announced by Mrs. George F. Stringer, a solicitor, of $150 from the Washington Hebrew Congregation Sunday School, this fund being made up from pennies saved throughout the year for what is known as their "sacrifice fund." The children of this institution, Mr. Street said, are taught from youth to be ever mindful of helping their fellow man.

Reports were made by the unit and area chairmen, following which Chairman Noyes again admonished every worker to make the most thorough canvass possible of his particular territory and also asked that every one make it a point to be in place by 12:15 p. m. today.

List of Contributers.

Among the contributions of $100 and above received yesterday were the following:

Thirty-five thousand dollars, Andrew W. Mellon; $5,500, Dr. William C. Rives; $7,000, Mrs. Florence S. Kees; $6,500, Mr. and Mrs. George Hewitt Myers; $4,250, Frank R. American War Mothers Give $50 in Chest Drive

A check for $50, a gift from the American War Mothers, was presented to the Community Chest yesterday by Mrs. Virgil Stone, of Landers, Wyo., national president of the organization. The gift was accepted by Newbold Noyes, Chest campaign chairman.

The sum was voted by the national executive board of the American War Mothers, now holding its annual meeting here. The gift was dedicated to the memory of Mary Ball Washington, as "America's first war mother."

the payment of their war debt payments due next month be deferred until a conference could be held to survey the debt question. The President also related that the disarmament conference would be held soon, and that a world economic conference was pending. These problems, Mr. Hoover said, could not be settled during the tenure of the present administration. He added that he felt that the outgoing and incoming Chief Executives should talk over their views with regard to handling them.

Never before in history has there been held a joint conference of the leaders of the two opposing parties, one about to take office and the other about to step out.

Sent Aboard Train.

Mr. Roosevelt's answer was mapped out at the Executive Mansion and dispatched to the President aboard the latter's train at Pratt, Kans.

The President-elect has spent the last three days in the Executive Mansion, much of the time confined to his bed with a cold. His cold had virtually disappeared today and he was able to go downstairs to his study and to hold numerous telephone conferences with close advisers.

The date for his departure for Warm Springs had tentatively been set previously for either November 20 or 21. Whether it will be deferred beyond that date is not certain.

Mr. Roosevelt will resume his work on the State budget tomorrow.

Hoover Has No Comment.

On Board President Hoover's Train, En Route to Washington, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—President Hoover tonight received aboard his train at Hutchinson, Kans., shortly after 8 o'clock, Central standard time, a telegram from Franklin D. Roosevelt, President-elect, accepting an invitation to confer with him at the White House on war debts.

The President had no public comment to make concerning the message.

MILK STRIKE TRUCE AVERTS OHIO FAMINE

Deliveries in Cincinnati Will Be Resumed as Drivers Fight Pay Cuts.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A strike of union milk wagon drivers, which almost precipitated a milk "famine" for the greater Cincinnati district, ended tonight when drivers, farmers and dealers agreed to arbitration. The drivers will return to work at 7 a. m. tomorrow.

The agreement to arbitrate was reached shortly before two organizations of dairy farmers were to meet to determine whether to cut off the milk supply to the greater Cincinnati area. Numerous instances of non-union drivers being attacked while delivering milk earlier had caused a dozen distributors, including two which control a third of the retail milk business, to announce they would discontinue deliveries until settlement of the dispute.

Fred Keightly, conciliator of the United States Department of Labor, was agreed upon as the arbitrator. He will determine to what extent the drivers' wages will be cut. The drivers walked out in protest against a proposed 20 per cent reduction, saying they regarded 10 per cent as the maximum cut acceptable.

Farmers producers had considered cutting off the supply to Cincinnati when they found their product was undelivered after they had braved the anger of strike pickets in bringing it to the city.

When the union drivers went on strike Saturday, refusing a proposed 20 per cent cut in pay, producers of the Cooperative Pure Milk Association manned the wagons of the large distributors. Today H. B. Berning, secretary, said the producers had been "beaten, kicked, shot at and stoned."

Two substitute drivers, Hallard Wek and Rex Ball, told police they were fired on. Another driver reported his truck stolen. It later was recovered.

Ziegfeld's Relics Are Sold Cheaply

Book of Rare Programs Brings $4.50; Other Items Sacrificed.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (U.P.).—Florenz Ziegfeld's keepsakes, including autographed photographs of Lillian Russell and Lottie Collins, the "Ta-ra-boom-de-ay" girl, were knocked down at public auction here today. The sale was held in the old Victorian mansion of the Ziegfelds to dispose of Mrs. Florence Ziegfeld, sr.'s, personal possessions. She died recently without learning of her famous son's death.

Seven autographed photographs of celebrities went for $1. A scrapbook filled with programs of the well-remembered Trocadero Theater, where Ziegfeld gained his first stage experience, sold for $4.50.

His sister, Mrs. Willis Buhl, of Detroit, said that "Flo's" 16-year-old daughter, Patricia, had kept as mementos a photograph of Geraldine Farrar and another of Enrico Caruso.

Mildred Rosenberger, representing the Friendship House, is receiving The Washington Post trophy offered for the second best civic float, from Judge Isaac Gans. The parade next year again will be sponsored by the Greater National Capital committee.

Foreign News in Brief

Montevideo, Uruguay, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A report received today from Bella Union said a Uruguayan cavalry patrol had fired upon an Argentine police launch near the frontier between Uruguay, Brazil and Argentina, presumably mistaking them for smugglers. The launch proceeded to the nearest Argentina port to report the incident.

Bogota, Colombia, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A nun and six girl convent students were killed today when a motor truck in which they were returning from school overturned on a mountain road. The nun was Margarita Maria Arosemena, 40, sister of former President Florencio H. Arosemena, of Panama. Four other students were seriously injured.

Berlin, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Entering church politics for the first time, the National Socialists today captured 1,335 parish board seats in 67 Berlin parishes. Nonpolitical Christians were elected to 1,209 seats; Fundamentalists, 1,111; Liberals, 298; Evangelical Federationists, 87, and Religious Socialists, 36.

Berlin, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Even Gerhart Hauptmann, poet-dramatist, who celebrates his 70th birthday tomorrow, is not immune from the struggle between the two rival Prussian governments. The Braun-Severing ministry announced at noon today that it had been decided to confer the Golden State medal on him. An hour later the Von Papen-Bracht commission, which took over the Prussian government at the direction of the federal government, announced it did not understand why the Braun-Severing group had taken such action, as the commissioners decided long ago to make the award.

Durham, England, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Two men were killed today by an explosion in a colliery at Ushaw Moor near here. It was the second fatal accident of the kind in two days. On Saturday 25 men were killed in the Edgefield Colliery at Ashton-in-Makerfield. Today's blast was deep inside the mine.

London, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Great Britain has made no arrangements for official participation in the Chicago Exposition next year, the House of Commons was informed today. The secretary of the overseas trade department said this omission was due to the high cost involved and the pressent necessity for rigid economy in public expenditure.

Rome, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A number of the leading intellectuals of Europe gathered here today for a meeting under the auspices of the Royal Academy of Italy to consider the continent's economic and social ailments. Premier Mussolini, opening the convention, said he was sure that these thinkers will be able to suggest solutions to the world's men of action.

Lausanne, Switzerland, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Fifteen men were arrested today in connection with the explosion of a bomb last night in front of the City Hall. Seven persons, one of them a woman, were injured in the explosion.

Munich, Bavaria, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German Ambassador to the United States when that country entered the war in 1917, reached his seventieth birthday today. He is spending his declining years on his beautiful estate which overlooks Lake Starnberg, half an hour from here, leading the life of a country squire.

London, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Friends of Ignacio Zuloaga, one of Spain's foremost painters, said today that he had been commissioned to do a portrait of United States Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon. He is coming here to stay at the Spanish Embassy, they said, and Mr. Mellon will sit for him each day. Should the ambassador change his plans, Senor Zuloaga would finish his work in the United States.

Istris, France, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The two flights of Lucien Bossoutrot and Jean Mermoz to South America were postponed today. Bossoutrot held up his expected take-off at 6 a. m. on account of a poor gasoline feed into his engine. Mermoz hoped to take off this afternoon if the wind changed to the north.

Oviedo, Spain, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Thirty thousand miners in the Huyera-Turon mining district were idle today in compliance with a general syndicalist and miners' strike order. Guards patrolled the region. All was quiet.

Philippines Send Envoy To Assist Liberty Move

Manila, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Senator Benigno Aquino, of the Philippine Legislature, sailed tonight on the Empress of Canada to arrive in Washington December 8 to join the independence mission.

Senator Aquino bears new secret instructions to the Philippine delegation, presumably in the form of a mandate of the legislature opposing both the Hawes and Hare bills, and demanding a new independence grant without reservation by the United States of naval bases and coaling stations.

EDUCATORS WARNED OF DRASTIC SLASHES

Land Grant Colleges' Session Is Attended by More Than 500.

The American educational system is facing two great perils today—the organized group seeking a reduction of 50 per cent in the cost of public education, and "the few self-constituted leaders who protest against the whole scheme of American public education," Dr. E. O. Holland, of Washington State, president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, declared at the opening of the forty-sixth annual convention of the association yesterday afternoon at the Willard Hotel.

Dr. Holland told the more than 500 representatives of State colleges who are gathered here for the convention that the American educational system may not be perfect but that it is the great socializing agency in the Nation.

"The ugly visage of revolt on a national scale will never appear in America unless our educational system is hampered and crippled so that eventually it can not adequately serve the needs of the millions of boys and girls attending it," he declared.

Standards Are Threatened.

Dr. Holland asserted that it would be better to close our schools and abandon the whole educational program for a year or two of depression than to set standards that are inefficient and permit them to continue for an indefinite period.

Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in bringing greetings to the association, pictured the State educational institutions as the bulwark of the Nation. "If you don't guide the ship of state, I don't know who will," he said.

Speaking on Federal and State cooperation in agricultural education and research, Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific research, U. S. Department of Agriculture, declared that what is needed more than ever before is "joint planning and effort to solve the social and economic problems that affect the welfare of our rural population and our country as a whole."

Reactionary Policy Looms.

"Our problem now is to make the best of the situation and work it over into a constructive plan," he said. "The Land Grant colleges in cooperation with the State and Federal governments are entering the field of social and economic problems scientifically and fearlessly."

The college representatives were warned against a traditional and reactionary attitude in the social sciences by Dr. E. G. Nourse, director of the institute of economics of the Brookings Institute.

"We should not forego the great benefits of technological advance," he said, "but should do everything possible to promote and encourage scientific and engineering progress."

At last night's session, Provost A. R. Mann, of Cornell University, spoke on the function of the college in agricultural adjustment, taking up the technical and economic phases of the problem.

Dean J. H. Skinner, of Indiana, spoke on adjusting the college to decrease revenues, while Dr. Woods discussed adjustments in research to meet the present emergency.

The convention will continue through tomorrow.

President of Howard U. In Address of Welcome

Mordecai Johnson, president, of Howard University, delivered an address of welcome at the Conference of Presidents of Negro Land Grant Colleges last night at Howard University. Other speakers were J. M. Gandy, president of Virginia State College; Dr. Ambrose Caliver, senior specialist in Negro Education in the Government Office of Education, and Fred McCuiston, executive agent of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States.

Headquarters of the conference, which will continue today and tomorrow, is at the Whitelaw Hotel. F. D. Buford, of Greensboro, N. C., is president of the conference.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Walter J. Kohler, jr., son of the former governor of Wisconsin, and Mrs. Celeste McVoy Holden were married today at the Lake Shore Drive home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fortuno Jerance, of Chicago and Rome. The bride was divorced last August from Edward Holden, a Canadian Railway official's son, whom she married in 1922.

Legion for Bonus And Dry Revision

National Committee Backs Resolutions Adopted by Convention.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The national executive committee of the American Legion, meeting here today for the first time since the last national convention, adopted a program in line with resolutions approved at that meeting.

Louis A. Johnson, national commander, told the committee the legion would "go squarely down the line" for prohibition repeal and immediate cash payment of the bonus, in accordance with convention resolutions.

Opposition to veterans' hospitalization and compensation legislation, John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the national legislative committee, said, has arisen from persons who desire to "shift the cost back to local communities because at present 42,000 big Federal income taxpayers are paying four-fifths of it."

7-DAY RECESS TAKEN BY SUPREME COURT

Oil Interests Are Involved in Two Cases Announced for Review.

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court yesterday passed its last word in three cases and announced it would take a week's recess to prepare opinions in a number of others.

Besides handing down three written decisions, the justices also dismissed three cases, refused to review fifteen and agreed to study five. Then they said the court would recess from next Monday until December 5.

The controversy between New Jersey and Pennsylvania as to which will collect a large transfer inheritance tax of many millions on the intangible personal property of John T. Dorrance, most of it made in canned soups, took a step forward yesterday when Pennsylvania was given 30 days to convince the court it should not entertain a suit brought by New Jersey.

Review of Oil Cases.

Oil interests will be interested in two cases the court announced it would review. In one it will decide whether an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission fixing rates on petroleum and its products from Southwestern points to North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota shall be approved and in the other whether capitalized expenditures for drilling oil wells shall be considered by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue subject to depletion or to depreciation allowances in calculating Federal taxes.

The appeal of the Penny Stores, Inc., and others, attacking the validity of the Mississippi Chain Store tax, was dismissed on motion of counsel, the dispute having been settled since the appeal was filed.

Two Inquiries Dismissed.

The highest court dismissed two inquiries from the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. One asked whether the Circuit Court could modify a slander verdict awarded Minnie J. Yount by the Federal District Court for eastern Missouri against the Kroger Grocery & Banking Co.

In the other, the Circuit Court asked whether the conviction of Rocco Catagrone, of Kansas City, Mo., by the Federal District Court, on the charge of violating the Federal prohibition law, must stand.

The Eighth Circuit Court, under the dismissals, must exercise its own best judgment. The Supreme Court will reserve its views unless the cases are brought before it on appeal.

Roosevelt's Alabama Plurality Set Record

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Alabama gave Franklin D. Roosevelt the largest plurality ever cast in this State for a presidential nominee in last Tuesday's general election.

Complete official returns gathered by the Associated Press from the county canvassing boards today showed Roosevelt's total vote 207,604, and the nearest approach was in 1920, when Cox, the Democratic nominee, had 163,254. The State's 2,136 boxes showed the following other totals: President Hoover, 34,650; Norman Thomas, Socialist, 1,473; William Z. Foster, Communist, 240.

COSMIC RAY SOURCE IS TRACED TO EARTH

Dr. Compton Offsets Theory Shafts Come From Out of Space.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The cosmic ray was pinned down as probably an earthborn thing instead of a wanderer from space by Dr. Arthur H. Compton tonight, in summarizing before the National Academy of Sciences his recent world-wide survey of this strange radiation.

Incidentally he showed that these rays may be shooting a rain of X-rays downward from the stratosphere, which penetrated deep into the earth, and pass through both man and metals.

As he has previously announced, Dr. Compton said the great survey indicates that the cosmic rays are electrons, that is, electrified particles of some sort, rather than photons, or immaterial waves like light.

To that deduction he added tonight the conclusion that preponderance of evidence suggests the rays originate high in the stratosphere, rather than in space far beyond earth. It seems likely they are emitted in the regions which produce the aurora borealis.

"We already know enough regarding these rays," Dr. Compton said, "to show that they have for us some important message.

"What this message may be, we have not, however, learned. Perhaps they are bringing news of the innermost structure of the atomic nucleus."

Incumbents Fight For House Seats

Two Republicans Battling for Last Minnesota Vacancy.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Two Republican incumbents, August H. Andresen, of Red Wing, and Harold Knutson, of St. Cloud, were fighting tonight for ninth position in Minnesota's congressional battle, with the other eight posts at large apparently decided.

With only 24 precincts of 3,716 in the State missing, Andresen was leading Knutson by 302 votes. F. H. Shoemaker, Red Wing Farmer-Laborite, held eighth place, 3,268 votes ahead of Andresen, while Einar Holdale, of Minneapolis, the only Democrat apparently elected, was seventh. Although the official canvass will not be made for a week, unofficial figures give these three enough of a lead to practically assure them a seat in Congress.

Others who have a lead large enough to elect them on returns gathered from Tuesday's election are four Farmer-Labor candidates, Magnus Johnson, of Kimball; Paul J. Kvale, of Benson, incumbent; Henry Arens, of Benson, and Ernest Lundeen, of Minneapolis, and two Republicans, Ray P. Chase, of Anoka, and Theodore Christianson, of Dawson, former governor.

Broadcasters Consider Appointment of Czar

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Operators of radio broadcasting stations, attending a meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters in St. Louis, today decided to consider the advisability of appointing a "czar" to supervise the industry.

A committee was appointed to formulate details of a plan for placing the industry in the hands of a paid executive, whose powers would correspond to those of Will H. Hays in the motion picture industry, and of former Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in the professional baseball world. Tomorrow the plan for a "Czar of the Air" will be submitted to the approximately 300 radio station operators attending the meeting.

David Mulvane Estate Is Valued at $1,000,000

Topeka, Kans., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The estate of the late David W. Mulvane, Republican national committeeman from Kansas, who died unexpectedly last Wednesday, was valued at approximately $1,000,000 today by officials of the National Bank of Topeka, in which M. Mulvane held the office of chairman of the board of directors.

In the absence of any will providing for disposal of the property, his two sisters and only survivors, Mrs. Harrison Morgan, of Topeka, and Mrs. Speed Hughes, of Los Angeles, tonight signed an application for appointment of the bank as administrator of the estate.

CANAL PACT DRAWS FIRE OF WITNESSES

St. Lawrence Waterway Is Assailed as Unsound at Senate Hearing.

(Associated Press.)

Ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada was opposed before a Senate foreign relations subcommittee yesterday by representatives of railroads and New York State interests, who said the project was economically unsound.

They appeared as witnesses at the opening of the committee's hearings on the treaty calling for joint participation by the United States and Canada in a waterway and power project on the St. Lawrence estimated officially to cost more than $500,000,000. The treaty was signed last July after years of negotiation between the two countries.

The hearing marked the beginning of committee activity on Capitol Hill that will grow in intensity from now until Congress convenes three weeks hence.

Called Impractical.

Using similar weapons, three opponents of the project led the attack on the treaty. They were Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives; E. P. Goodrich, consulting engineer representing the Albany Port District Commission, and Peter G. Ten Eyck, president of the New York State Waterways Association.

All contended that the cost of the project, together with essential complementary developments, would be far more than estimated; that it would not produce the savings proponents claim, and that it would prove an uneconomical proposition that would burden American taxpayers.

Thom contended the project would constitute a Government subsidized waterway, which would offer unfair and unjustified competition for railroads. He argued further that the project was not necessary or economically sound.

Cost Estimate Questioned.

The capital cost to this country was placed by Thom at $491,045,000 instead of the $272,453,000 estimated by the joint board of engineers.

"The costs," he said, "whatever they may prove to be, will be borne in large part by taxpayers and thus establish a subsidized service competitive with the rail carriers."

Thom also said the project would result in "unjustifiable injury to the railroads" and would cost in interest, maintenance and operation charges enough to haul free on the railroads all the grain that would move through it.

Goodrich estimated the cost of the waterway and allied projects at $1,054,467,000 and recommended that the All-American route be thoroughly surveyed before this country agrees to go ahead with the St. Lawrence development.

Borah Gets Laugh.

"The farmer will get virtually nothing out of this development," Goodrich said.

"That will be in accordance with the usual rule," Chairman Borah (Republican), Idaho, replied as the room full of spectators laughed.

The engineer testified that under the treaty America would invest $42,000,000 in Canadian power plants without compensation, which would make it possible for Canada to produce power on a commercial basis while the United States could not.

"Official estimates of the cost are badly misleading," Goodrich said. "By design or deliberate congressional direction, the engineers have prepared estimates which are far from complete."

Ten Eyck's estimate of the cost was $1,350,000,000. He said it would be ridiculous for the United States to spend so much to help construct a route "as a rival to an existing all-American route wholly within the * * * United States."

United States Benefits Doubted.

He suggested that before the United States embark upon such a development it should purchase all Canadian land south of the St. Lawrence, embracing New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and part of southern Quebec, to insure this country the same benefit that Canada would derive from the waterway.

Marcus H. Tracy, representing the New York State Chamber of Commerce, and Reginald G. Narelle, spokesman for the Seaboard-Great Lakes Corporation, the New York Boat Owners Association, and the Canal Executive Committee of New York City, also opposed the treaty in brief testimony.

Ashurst Will Vote For Resubmission

Platform Pledges Should Be Kept, He Says in Telling of Intention.

(Associated Press.)

Asserting that "honesty and good faith require that platform pledges be kept," Senator Ashhurst, Arizona Democrat, announced yesterday he would vote to submit a prohibition repeal amendment.

In a formal statement, Ashurst said: "The Democrats would make themselves 'embezzlers of power' if they refused to live up to their own political platform promises.

"The Democratic national platform specifically favors a repeal of the eighteenth amendment and also includes a demand that complete supervision and control of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors be restored to the States. As a Democratic senator it is, therefore, my duty to vote for a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to be submitted to representative conventions in the States, for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Economy League Plans Drive to Start Dec. 1

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Active work of the Virginia branch of the National Economy League, of which Robert Hill Carter, of Richmond, has been appointed executive secretary is expected to start by December 1.

Organization of a State executive committee probably will be completed within two weeks, Mr. Carter said. After that the central body will set up committees and posts in each congressional district and in many cities and towns, to advocate reduction in costs of Federal, State and local governments.

CLAY WILL IMPROVE NEW CONCRETE TYPE

Invention to Prevent Water Seepage in Building Materials.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Clay, which was one of man's first building materials, gives promise of coming back into wider use as part of a new type of concrete under test at Rensselaer Institute.

This concrete is made by replacing 10 per cent of the cement ordinarily used with clay of equal weight. The object is production of a form of concrete more waterproof and more weatherproof, but at the same time at least as strong as present concretes.

The idea was suggested by Col. Hugh L. Cooper, consulting engineer of New York City, who has just finished what dispatches called "the world's greatest power plant," built on the Dnieper River for Soviet Russia.

Until recently strength was considered the most important property of concrete. But the appearance of the finished construction and its capacity to prevent water from passing through it is becoming of more and more importance.

Cracks sometimes appearing on the surface of exposed concrete, such as faces of dams and retaining walls, spoils the appearance of the work and are otherwise objectionable because in certain climates frost will continue the destruction of the surface.

This new material is subjected to compression tests to discover its strength and to tests of water flowing through it, called permeability, to learn how nearly waterproof it is.

Two years of experiments have been conducted, and two and a half years more will be required to complete the tests.

The results to date show that substitution of the clay causes but slight change in the compressive strength of the mixtures containing the least cement. The clay adds a little to the strength of richer mixtures of concrete for certain conditions of storage.

Comparatively few waterproof tests have been completed. These indicate that the "lean" mixture, the one using the least cement, produces a more impervious concrete.

Hofstadter Probe Record Defended

Seabury Opposes Chairman's Resigning Because of Tammany Tinge.

New York, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, took sharp issue today with demands that Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter resign as chairman of the investigating board.

In a formal statement he expressed a belief "the interests of the committee" would be served if the senator continued as chairman until he takes office January 1 as a supreme court justice. He was nominated by both Democratic and Republican parties. The original request for Hofstadter's resignation came from three of his fellow Republican members of the body, who contended that his connection with the committee, after he had accepted a supreme court nomination from Tammany Hall, "will seriously jeopardize the effectiveness and value of the committee's work."

The inquiry board is about to begin a series of public hearngs to formulate constructive suggestions for reforming the municipal government.

Garner to Start Today On Deer Hunt in Texas

Uvalde, Tex., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—John N. Garner, Vice President-elect, puttered around his home here today getting ready to start out on a deer hunt tomorrow with Ross Brumfield, a close friend. "We saw a large number of deer last Friday," Mr. Garner said, "and I hope to be among the first to bring one down."

The legal limit is two bucks in a season, and although Garner probably could get both this trip, he planned to go after only one so he would be able to hunt a second time before returning to Washington.

Harry Lauder's Nephew Is Buried.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The funeral of James Lauder, nephew of Harry Lauder, the comedian, was held here today, with burial in the British war veterans' plot of a local cemetery. Born in Scotland, Lauder served with the Australian navy during the World War. His father, Matt Lauder, brother of the noted comedian, survives in Los Angeles.

Fine Saddle Horses Displayed at Show

Cattle Also Vie for Prizes in Kansas City at Show.

Kansas City, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The saddle horse, a truly American development of the day when it was the only mode of transportation for scouts and pioneers through the wilderness, stepped into the spotlight at the American Royal tonight.

Under the eye of expert judges, saddle horses went through their paces at the live stock and horse show, following a day featured by exhibits of some of the Nation's finest short horn and Hereford cattle.

Hereford exhibitors opened competition for more than $75,000 in prizes with some 4,600 cattle entered. The grand champion shorthorn bull title went to Balmuchy Landlord, Milky Way Farms, Pulaski, Tenn. The junior championship in the class went to Raven Leader, T. Dorsey Jones, Shelbyville, Ind. Announcement was made today that Ohio State University's live stock judging team won first honors with 4,364 points.

101-Ranch Supplies 24 Teams in Job Campaign

Oklahoma City, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A "lot of horses" is a big order, even in this plains country, where wild mustangs once romped and cow ponies held sway in later years. Numerous requests for "men with teams" to work in the city's "make work" program have rounded up only a few teams.

Now Col. Zack Miller, of the 101 Ranch, comes to the rescue with 24 teams of his defunct wild west show, offering to rent them to the city at $1.25 a pair. City Engineer L. M. Bush, who says all horses look alike to him, turned the offer over to the employment directors.

Quantity of Advertising Over Radio Is Protested

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A warning that many radio stations are overcommercializing and "operating mainly for the profits they gain through excessive and uninteresting advertising," was given in an address today before the National Association of Broadcasters by Harold A. LaFont, acting chairman of the Federal Radio Commission.

"In doing so, I warn them," Mr. LaFont said, "that they are selling their birthrights for a mess of pottage, and their judgment day will come. Already an irate public is besieging their representatives in Congress for drastic action."

Illinois Man Urged For Cabinet Place

Indiana Democrats Attend Session for Restoration of Prestige.

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Restoration of Illinois and Indiana to the place held in party affairs in the days of Roger Sullivan and Thomas Taggart was discussed here today when Democratic leaders got together for a postelection conference.

No definite demands were formulated, however, but Illinois leaders suggested that in the picking of a new Attorney General, the Roosevelt administration might give consideration to the name of Bruce Campbell, of East St. Louis.

Attending the conference were Henry Horner and Paul V. McNutt, the governors-elect, respectively, from Illinois and Indiana. The United States senators-elect from the two States also were there. They are William Dieterich and Frederick Van Nuys. R. Earl Peters, Indiana Democratic chairman, and Urey Woodson, for sixteen years Kentucky's member of the national committee, were others participating in the discussions.

Tonight Deadline For Car Inspectioh

"Save a Life" Campaign Is Near End; Arrests Are Threatened.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—If Virginia automobile operators don't have an official inspection sticker on their windshield after midnight tomorrow, a summons to court may make them wish they had.

The month-long "Save a Life" campaign comes to an end in the State tomorrow night, and with it comes to an end the period of grace given for the inspection and necessary safety adjustments to all automobiles owned and operated in Virginia.

Capt. T. K. Sexton, chief of the State motor patrol, served notice tonight that his patrolmen have been instructed to summon to court operators of all cars that have not been inspected at one of the more than 1,000 official inspection stations designated in every county and city in Virginia.

Liquor Fleet Prepares For U. S. Holiday Rush

Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The Canadian press said today a dozen speedy motorships cleared South Shore harbors over the week-end, bound for St. Pierre to load up with liquor destined for the United States.

Their skippers carried instructions to appear off New York next week-end if possible. As an inducement for speed they had the promise of a group of New York bootleggers of bonuses to themselves and members of their crews if the liquor were landed in time to meet the Thanksgiving holiday demand. The New York bootleggers, who arrived here by car early Saturday, have disappeared.

Former State Senator Indicted in Bribe Case

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Solicitor Temple Selbels of Montgomery circuit court said today former State Senator E. D. Jordan, of Gadsden, was indicted on a charge of agreeing to accept a bribe or demanding a bribe, by the Montgomery County grand jury last Saturday. A capias for Jordan's arrest has been sent to the sheriff of Etowah County.

Jordan resigned November 2, during a senate committee investigation of charges he had solicited $250 as "expense" money from Lee Castleberry, Gadsden Theater manager, for passing the Gadsden Sunday amusements bill through the Senate.

G. O. P. Obtains Control of Rhode Island House

Providence, R. I., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Control of the Rhode Island House of Representatives went to the Republicans today when the State returning board in its official count declared William R. Wood (Republican), of Pawtucket, elected by three votes.

The warden's returns on election night gave the victory to John W. Moroney (Democrat), by five votes. The House now stands 51 Republicans to 49 Democrats. Democratic watchers at the count indicated they would appeal to the courts and ballots declared defective by the returning board were marked as exhibits.

Petroleum Group Plans '33 Drive for Oil Tariff

Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The Independent Petroleum Association of America voted in convention here today to make work for the oil tariff its paramount project in 1933. Wirt Franklin, reelected president, said there was a movement on foot to eliminate the present import levies on crude oil and its derivatives at the next session of Congress.

RAGE UNBRIDLED

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the famous animal painter, Paul Bransom...inspired by the fierce battle between wild mustang stallions on the western ranges... fighting to the death with flashing teeth and slashing hoofs. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies –that's why they're so mild

Copr. 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

COURT DROPS BARS TO AIRLINE COMBINE

Delaware Chancellor Ends Restraining Order Against Firm.

Dover, Del., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The order issued last week, restraining Aviation Corporation, Inc., from consummating a contract with North American Aviation, Inc., for the purchase of certain assets of the latter concern, was dissolved and vacant late today by Chancellor J. O. Wolcott.

The restraining order was issued after the filing of a bill by the Cord Corporation, owner of upward of 750,000 shares of Aviation Corporation stock.

The contract called for the purchase of certain assets of North American Aviation, Inc., by the Aviation Corporation, in exchange for approximately 1,997,776 shares of the Aviation Corporation stock.

Chancellor Wolcott in dissolving and vacating the order said he felt that the directors of Aviation Corporation first should be given an opportunity to consider the contract and either approve or disapprove it. It was pointed out to the court that the contract must be acted upon not only by the directors, but also by the stockholders.

Counsel for both sides agreed that the meeting of directors scheduled for tomorrow in New York for consideration of the contract should be adjourned for one week to give E. L. Cord, president of the Cord Corporation, an opportunity to come East and attend the meeting.

The bill filed by the Cord Corporation last week stated Cord believed the assets "to be worth less than half of the value of the stock supposed to be issued for payment."

The action of the chancellor today was on a motion filed last Saturday by counsel for Aviation Corporation for dissolution and vacating the restraining order.

Gunman Gets $44 In Store Robbery

Holdup Victims Feel They Know Identity of Intruder.

Forcing two shoe store employes at 435 Seventh street northwest into a closet after threatening them with a gun, a holdup man yesterday rifled the cash register at the establishment, escaping with $44 and a pocketbook containing papers and cards.

B. R. Frye, of 644 Hamilton street northwest, manager, and C. W. Buckle, clerk, reported to police that a man they thought they recognized as a former employe of the firm entered and, at the point of a gun, forced them into a closet.

They waited until they heard the robber leave the store and reported the holdup to police. The cash drawer was found to have been emptied and the money missing.

Lafayette Park Gets Elm of Noble Lineage

An elm tree which traces its paternity directly to the elm in Cambridge, Mass., under which Gen. George Washington accepted command of the Continental Army, will be planted tomorrow in La Fayette Park.

Planting will be in charge of Frank T. Gartside, chairman of the memorial tree committee of park executives. The tree will be sponsored by the American Institute of Park executives as a Bicentennial feature.

Christmas-Gift Class Planned.

A special "Christmas-gift group" will be formed tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Langley Community Center, First and T street northeast. Mrs. F. C. Chaney will organize a class to meet regularly until the middle of December to take lessons in hooked-rug weaving, needle point, beadwork, knitting, crocheting and crepe-paper art.

U. S. Radio Antitrust Suit May Be Settled Amicably

Department Officials Indicate Defendants' Plan, to Be Offered Today, May Bring Agreement Out of Court, Avoiding Long Litigation.

(Associated Press.)

One of the Government's most important antitrust suits—against some of the biggest electrical manufacturing and communications companies in the country—may be settled out of court.

The case has been set for trial today at Wilmington, Del. John Lord O'Brian, Assistant Attorney General, is ready to proceed, but a plan advanced by the defendants for eliminating causes of the suit has been presented. Department officials indicated this may lead to amicable settlement, presumably with the consent of the Wilmington court.

Charles F. Curley, attorney for the Radio Corporation of America, one concern involved in the case, said at Wilmington after a conference with John T. Nields, Federal judge, that the Government today will "make a motion." What that will be he would not say.

Briefly, the charges are that the Radio Corporation, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the Western Electric Co., General Electric, Westinghouse and others have, through corporate interrelation, eliminated competition among themselves, and through the cross-licensing of the many basic radio patents the group holds have compelled the rest of the radio manufacturing industry to use these needed patents on the defendants' own terms.

The suit was brought after years of agitation by independent radio concerns and when filed was welcomed by Owen D. Young, chairman of Radio Corporation's board, as a test of the validity of that company's set-up. He said grouping the patents under one control made possible the amazingly rapid growth of broadcasting in the United States since the war.

Early this year Attorney General Mitchell informed the Senate the companies had offered settlement on the basis of maintaining their interrelation through stock ownership and noncompetition agreements, while placing the patents in a pool which would open up their control to outsiders.

This was rejected, Mitchell said, and preparations for the suit continued. Since that time there had been recurrent indications that the defendants would try further to avoid the long litigation.

FRANCE'S ARMAMENT PLAN IS GIVEN TO GENEVA PARLEY

pact and a general pact for the suppression of the most offensive naval arms.

5. The abolition of aerial bombardment and the regulation of all aircraft to prevent the use of bombardment; the organization of European civil air transport under international European supervision and a special air force which would be placed at the disposition of the league for peace purposes.

Two underlying principles, which the French regard as of supreme importance, are that there shall be no rearmament and that the proposals are a unified whole, all parts of which are strictly essential to the success of the whole.

General Discussion Pends.

General discussion of the French plan will await a meeting of the general commission of the disarmament conference some time within the next few weeks, but Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, will present the British observations before the conference bureau, or steering committee, on Wednesday.

Sir John arrived today to prepare this exposition which, he asserted, will not be in the form of submission of a British plan but, instead, an effort to make the French plan embody the British ideas.

The British foreign secretary conversed during the day with Norman H. Davis, American disarmament delegate; Arthur Henderson, president of the conference; Augusto Rosso, Italian representative, and Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league.

Geographical Situation Cited.

A memorandum conveying the French plan said that the geographical situation and the special conditions of each state and continent must be taken into account before the reduction of armaments can be accomplished.

The problem before the conference is political as well as technical, the French contended; the disarmament and security must progress along parallel lines.

"With this conclusion," the memorandum continued, "is connected another, which on the occasion of the discussions aroused by President Hoover's proposals met with unanimous approval, namely, that the task which lies before the conference consists in increasing the comparative power of the defense through decreases in the power of the attack.

"With this end in view reductions of effectives and quantitive and qualitive reductions in material have been contemplated."

Issue Raised by Germany.

The memorandum goes on to say that the conference must examine the whole problem of the relative value of different types of soldiers and materials, for in no other way can a solution be found for the question of military equality. This issue recently was raised by Germany.

"While the French government has objected," the memorandum says, "to the conditions in which the claim for equality of rights has been put forward, while it does not recognize the force of the legal arguments on which this claim is based, and while it persists in the belief that any solution involving rearmament would be inacceptable as being contrary to the very purpose of the conference, it has never denied that the problem was among the political problems brought up before the conference.

"The French delegation has every confidence that its proposals would permit of an equitable solution of this problem in the interests of general peace by the progressive equalization of the military status of the various countries and by an equal participation in the burdens and advantages of the organization of common action, all question of rearmament being ruled out."

System in Three Parts.

The security system envisaged by the French plan is, as was explained by War Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour ten days ago, in three parts.

The first and most comprehensive invokes the Briand-Kellogg pact. This concerns above all else the share of the United States in discouraging aggression and in enforcing peace. It embodies in general the interpretation of the pact recently made by Secretary Stimson.

"Any war undertaken in breach of the Paris (Briand-Kellogg) pact is a matter of interest to all the powers and shall be regarded as a breach of the obligations assumed toward each one of them," the plan says.

"In the event of a breach or threat of a breach of the Paris pact, the said powers shall concert together as promptly as possible with a view to appealing to public opinion and agreeing upon the steps to be taken.

Break in Relations.

"In appreciation of the pact of Paris outlawing war, any breach of that pact shall involve the prohibition of direct or indirect economic or financial relations with the aggressor country. The powers shall undertake to adopt the necessary measures to make that prohibition immediately effective.

"The said powers shall declare their determination not to recognize any de facto situation brought about in consequence of the violation of an international undertaking."

If this part of the plan is the feature most interesting to the United States, it also is regarded as no less important by Europeans who look upon American participation as essential to the successful organization of world peace.

The second security provision is the firm application of league engagements.

Action Against Attacker.

The third security provisions envisages the organization of Europe along the lines of the Locarno treaties, which include common action against an attacker. This common action would be lent to the attacked State upon a majority vote of the league council.

"The council of the league will decide assistance shall be given on simply ascertaining that an attack or invasion has taken place," the plan says.

This European security scheme includes the proposal for establishing a system of conscript armies in Europe which is perhaps the most sensational feature of the plan, as it upsets the provisions of the Versailles Treaty as to the character of Germany's army.

"Land forces assigned for the defense of home frontiers of the states of continental Europe," the plan says, "will be reduced to a uniform general type—that of a national short-service army with limited effectives—not adapted to a sudden offense. * * *

This protects against the building by Germany of a superior force because of her greater man-power.

"As regards naval forces," the plan said, "the solutions necessarily find place within a general framework applying equally to all powers. But the conclusion at the Washington conference of the specific agreement which made possible the signature of the naval treaty of 1922 has clearly shown the advantage of regional understanding of a political character for the purpose of facilitating the reduction of fighting fleets."

It is in accordance with the spirit of the Hoover proposals that the principal reductions should be effected in those categories of vessels which have been recognized as most offensive. This would be done by means of qualitative reduction of the characteristics at present fixed for certain types of war vessels.

ROLFE WILL LIBERATE ALL STATE DRY LAW VIOLATORS to demand indorsement of the marchers' national program.

The two larger columns are those which will organize in Chicago, and the one from Boston, which will pick up reinforcements in New York. The Boston column will pass through New York, Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore.

The Chicago column will move through South Bend, Ind.; Kalamazoo, Mich.; Detroit, Mich.; Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown, Ohio; Pittsburgh, Uniontown, Pa., and Cumberland, Md.

The march of the children, Benjamin said, would be under the direction of the Young Pioneers of America, which is the Communist equivalent in some details of the Boy Scouts. He said there would be 1,000 children here to hold an open hearing on "child misery in the United States."

That Benjamin's figures might be somewhat exaggerated may be inferred from the fact that on his last march he predicted 25,000 would participate. Actually there were less than 1,500.

Assistant Superintendent Frank S. W. Burke yesterday sent letters to investigators in fifteen large industrial centers asking for approximate information as to the number of marchers which could be expected, their means of transportation, the routes over which they will move, the character of those composing the marches and whether the persons coming to the city have funds to sustain themselves.

Maj. E. W. Brown, superintendent of police, stated the police force is ready to handle any large disturbing element. Plans to obtain mounted police to meet riot emergencies were discarded when it was found that it would be impossible to get horses for the occasion, but an ample supply of gas bombs will be distributed among the men to quell any type of disturbance.

Local Agitators Watched

In commenting on the use of tear gas, Maj. Brown said that the anti-riot expedient would be used only when found absolutely necessary, and that in his estimation the use of the gas during the recent melee in front of the Capitol was uncalled for.

Officials of the Police Department reiterated their statements that there were no means of housing or feeding groups of marchers. It was pointed out that unless the marchers had arranged for sleeping facilities there would be no way for them to find quarters at the expense of the municipality.

A close watch is being kept on local agitators who, it was said, were holding meetings to outline plans for demonstrations. The City of New York is held to be the center of the radical group instigating the march and Inspector Burke has communicated with Commissioner of Police Edward P. Mulrooney for information as to their activities.

Cooperation Is Promised.

With assurance of cooperation from a half dozen governors and mayors in the matter of discouraging marches of unemployed on Washington this winter, the District Commissioners definitely announced that no food or shelter will be provided by the Municipal Government.

The marchers will be permitted to enter the Capital, however, and municipal authorities will follow a "hands off" policy so long as the visitors care for themselves and are orderly. This announcement by Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the board, was the first admission that the order issued last summer barring all delegations, save those of "a lawful purpose," from the District would not be enforced.

So far at least three marches on the Capital are scheduled. They are the national hunger march, invasions by aggrieved farmers and the radical wing of the Bonus Expeditionary Force.

Responses from Governors.

Responses to messages dispatched to the governors of the 48 States and mayors of 14 principal cities by the Commissioners began drifting in yesterday.

Governors of Arkansas, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Indiana and the mayors of Omaha and Kansas City have been heard from to date. All promising to give publicity to the communications from the commissioners and to employ every possible means to discourage citizens of their States from joining marchers on Washington.

Two men, who represented themselves as officials of the B. E. F., submitted a statement to Maj. Brown that in a tour of several large cities they discovered that the persons organizing the marches were Communists, backed by gangsters. The local Police Department, neither directly nor through statements received from police investigators in other cities, have found facts which would justify this statement, Maj. Brown said. The men gave their names as Delbar Nelson and Joseph Witt, both of St. Louis.

CUBA BURNS BODIES OF STORM VICTIMS

La Gloria's American Colony Asks Red Cross Aid; Troops Guard Ruins.

Havana, Cuba, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Cremation of the bodies of most of the estimated 2,500 persons killed last week when a great tidal wave virtually washed the town of Santa Cruz del Sur off the southern Cuban shore was completed tonight.

A military cordon girdled the area to prevent looting in the ruins. The sea, which contrived with the funeral pyres to keep the exact number of deaths a secret, brought many bodies floating back to shore. It was estimated only about 1,000 of the town's 3,500 population survived and most of them were injured.

Public works engineers expressed the opinion that, if the town ever is rebuilt, it will be several miles inland from the unprotected sand spit, where it met the full force of the hurricane which left a trail of ruin from Colombia to the Bahamas.

Americans Are Destitute.

United States Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim was advised, that 150 Americans engaged in fruit growing at La Gloria, another town in Camaguey province, where destitute and asking for Red Cross aid. The embassy was conducting a thorough investigation of storm damage to the American properties and will recommend relief measures.

The American Legion post here sent nine tons of food and clothing to the stricken province in trucks.

President Machado left for Santa Cruz today to view the desolation. Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, minister of the interior, who inspected much of the 100-mile-wide path of the hurricane, telegraphed that nails and hammers were needed urgently and the Hardwaremens Association here responded with a promise to furnish them.

Many of the hundreds of wounded, injured in Camaguey City or brought there from other points in the province, were reported in a critical condition.

High Seas Raging

Mrs. W. S. Rogers, resident in the American colony at La Goria, was killed and her husband and sisters seriously injured. Homes of Americans were wrecked also at Garden City.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—High seas were still raging today about the Cayman Islands, where about 80 persons were killed and more than 300 injured by the hurricane last week, making it difficult to land relief stores.

Most of the deaths occurred on Cayman Brac Island (about 150 miles southwest of Santa Cruz del Sur, Cuba), and burial of the victims there was completed today.

The British warship Dragon was proceeding to Grand Cayman Island, largest of the group, to assist the distressed.

Ludington Revises Norfolk Schedule

Rates on Planes Also Are Changed; Pact Made With Ship Firm.

The reorganization of the Ludington Airline's Washington-Norfolk service, with changes in rates and schedules effective November 21, was announced yesterday by James M. Eaton, president of the organization.

The same type of planes used between Washington and New York will be operated on that division. Under the new schedule planes will leave Washington for Norfolk at 11:25 a. m. daily, except Sunday, arriving at 12:45 p. m. Leaving Norfolk at 1:25 p. m., the plane will arrive in Washington at 2:50 p. m.

It was also announced that a working agreement had been arranged with the Norfolk-Washington Steamboat Co., whereby it will be possible for the traveler to leave Washington on the morning plane and return on the night boat.

4 Women and Baby Saved From Fumes

Escape Asphyxiation Only by Opportune Arrival of Visitor.

Four women and an 11-month-old baby narrowly escaped asphyxiation shortly after noon yesterday when a heater in the basement of their home at 4502 Thirteenth street northwest, sprung a leak, filling the house with gas.

Their asphyxiation was prevented only by the opportune visit of Mrs. Edna Mahan, of 5741 Fourth street northeast, who found the women overcome by the gas. The baby, who was near an open window, however, was still conscious. Mrs. Mahan spread the alarm.

First aid was given by the Fire Rescue Squad, and the victims were removed to Emergency Hospital for treatment. All except Mrs. Edith Kosters, 41, were later allowed to return home. The others, Miss Mary Kosters, Mrs. Rose Kelly, and her baby Edith, and a colored maid, were seriously affected by the gas, however, and are said to be in danger of complicating effects.

Capital Women to Go To Baltimore Session

Mme. Emanuel Dimitriu, wife of the Assistant Financial Counselor of the Roumanian Legation, the former Patricia Poe Bennett, will address the conference of the Maryland branch of the National Woman's Party at its international luncheon at the Woman's City Club in Baltimore today.

Other Washington women who will attend the conference are Senora Abelli, wife of the former Minister of Bolivia; Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Washington, chairman of the national council and president of the District Federation of Women's Clubs; Miss Pearl M. McCall, president of the Woman's Bar Association of the District; Miss Ruth Tauton, Mrs. John Bennett, Miss Dorothy Ogle and Mrs. Merritt O. Chance.

FARM AID CHANCES POOR, LEADERS SAY

Short Session Expected to Give Modification and Debts First Call.

(United Press.)

Legislative relief in the short session of Congress for the 30,000,000 Americans who depend on the farm for their livelihood is virtually impossible, congressional leaders agreed yesterday.

They foresee a flood of legislation on other subjects that are pressing for immediate action. With the calendar loaded with such questions as modification of the Volstead act and the war debts, they think it is unlikely that the farm problem can be dealt with in the crowded, three months of the short session.

Despite the gloomy outlook, farm groups are going ahead with their plans to petition Congress. Farm delegations will arrive next month from all parts of the country to urge the necessity of aid for agriculture. Specifically, they want an easement of the mortgage problem and some sort of action that will bring commodity prices up above the cost of production.

McNary in Doubt.

Senator Charles L. McNary (Republican), Oregon, said yesterday all forms of farm legislation were in an indefinite state. There has been some informal discussion, he declared, among senators on what, if anything, could be done, but no specific program has been mapped.

"The great difficulty in the situation," he said, "is the surpluses, Argentina and Australia are overproducing. And you haven't heard of any empty grain bins in this country, have you?"

McNary was coauthor of the McNary-Haugen farm bill, which put forward the equalization fee principle. President Coolidge vetoed it. In the Seventy-third Congress McNary, because of defeat of Senator James E. Watson, will become Republican Senate leader.

"As soon as we convene," McNary said, "the debt problem probably will come up. There doubtless will be pressure for a beer bill. Besides that there is all the routine legislation to consider."

Democrats Skeptical.

Democratic leaders who will be in control of the House during the short session, as well as in the Seventy-third Congress, think there is slight chance of farm relief legislation. Privately, most of them prefer to wait until President-elect Roosevelt has elaborated on his farm program. Several experts on agricultural legislation—McNary among them—say they are in doubt as to the actual workings of the plan which Roosevelt advanced in his Topeka speech.

Others insist it embodies some variation of the domestic allotment plan. That involves voluntary limitation of acreage on the part of farmers. They are not required to participate, but are left free to seek their own markets if they choose. Prices are stabilized by means of a tax on millers, packers and all others engaged in processing. Opponents of the plan contend the tax eventually would be passed along to the consumer, thus throwing the burden of supporting the farmer on the backs of the urban population.

Cuban Sugar Quiz Halts Appraisals

U. S. Bureau Gives Order to Inspectors Pending Dumping Probe.

(Associated Press.)

The Bureau of Customs yesterday ordered collectors in affected ports to suspend appraisals of Cuban refined sugar pending an investigation to determine whether it is being dumped into the United States.

Domestic producers have complained that Cuban refined sugar was being sold in the United States for less than in Cuba—dumped into this country.

The order for a suspension of appraisals will require importers to post bond until the correctness of the charges can be ascertained.

DIVERSION OF RIVER COMPLETED AT DAM

Boulder Construction Work Now One Year Ahead of Schedule.

Boulder City, Nev., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Diversion of the Colorado River was completed here today, with $27,000,000 spent thus far on the $165,000,000 Hoover Dam project.

The full flow of the stream was sent through the two Arizona diversion tunnels, after the completion of a rock-fill barrier. It was accomplished in less than 24 hours after the Sunday noon blast of 150,000 pounds of dynamite, that signalized the river was about to give up a portion of its bed and dive underground.

Two days will be required to pump out the still water between two temporary dams at the inlet and outlet of the diversion tunnels, so the bed may be laid bare nearly a mile to permit excavation.

The chief construction engineer, Walker R. Young, in charge of the project for the United States Reclamation Service, said he hoped bedrock will be reached by next July.

Some 4,000,000 cubic yards must be removed before pouring of concrete starts, the river bed being excavated to a depth of 130 feet.

With work more than a year ahead of schedule, it is now expected filling of the reservoir will be started in July, 1935, and initial power generated by September 1, 1935. Thirty-five hundred men are engaged in construction work.

Frank T. Crowe, general field superintendent of the Six Companies, contractors, said today the most difficult part of the project is behind the engineers. Building of the dam itself, he explained, will be comparatively simple work. He said the big job was the pioneering stage of shaping the great canyon walls, building the diversion tunnels and spillway bores and getting the river out of its channel.

It is now expected the project, which will provide flood protection for the Imperial Valley, one of the largest blocks of hydroelectric power ever generated, reclamation for vast areas, as well as future water supply for southern California cities, will be completed by the end of 1937, instead of 1938, as originally scheduled.

Packers Say Meat Is Now at Lowest

Movement Upward Seen After Dip to Mark of 1878.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—John W. Rath, chairman of the Institute of American Meat Packers, today said meat prices were as low as they could go, and the next price movement must be upward, at the institute's annual convention today. "Prices now are at the 1878 level," Mr. Rath said, "and, like the man who can't fall out of bed when he's sleeping on the floor, they can't go lower."

Mr. Rath said high tariff walls faced American packers abroad and told of attempts being made to surmount these barriers. Defects in the Sherman antitrust act were brought to the attention of delegates by Rush C. Butler, Chicago, chairman of the committee on commerce of the American Bar Association.

Sixteen men who have passed the 50-year mark in service in the industry were awarded gold buttons. Among them were George Weinhold, Kansas City; Joseph Kimmig, sr., Dayton, Ohio; John Kirkpatrick, Witchita, Kans.; Charles Reinert, Indianapolis, and M. J. Waldron, Boston.

26,000 Chicagoans Facing Tax Suits

Judge Orders 56,000 Parcels of Land Sold; Blow to Strike.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Dealing what county authorities regarded as a decisive blow at the so-called tax strike, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki today ordered 56,000 parcels of Cook County real estate—valued at some $50,000,000—sold for taxes.

The property belonged to 26,000 members of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers, which for months has fought payment of real estate tax on the ground that the assessments were illegal. The association contended the assessments levied too great a tax against real estate and not enough against personal property.

County officials said the decision of the judge overruling objections against the 1930 assessment would bring in at least $8,000,000 to the sadly depleted treasury coffers and would start clearing up the county's muddled tax situation.

J. M. Chamberlin Last Rites Today

Services for Former Head of District Bar to Be Held at 11 A. M.

Funeral services for Justin Morrill Chamberlin, prominent Washington lawyer and former president of the District of Columbia Bar Association, will be held in St. Margaret's Church, Connecticut avenue and Bancroft place northwest, at 11 a. m. today.

Frank J. Hogan, president of the bar association, has appointed the following honorary pallbearers: Justice Charles H. Robb, Justice Wendell Phillips Stafford, Justice William Hitz, Justice Peyton Gordon, Justice Jesse C. Adkins, Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, Justice Joseph W. Cox, Justice James M. Proctor, Leon Tobriner, H. Prescott Gatley, James B. Archer, Stanton C. Peelle, John Lewis Smith, Joseph A. Burkart, Maj. Julius I. Peyser, Col. J. Miller Kenyon, George P. Hoover, Benjamin S. Minor, John J. Hamilton, J. Spaulding Flannery, C. F. R. Ogilby, Frank J. Hogan, Lucian H. Vandoren, George E. McNeil, George C. Gertman, William W. Millan, Samuel McComas Hawken, Milton W. King, F. Regis Noel, Frederick Stohlman, Richard E. Wellford and Godfrey L. Munter.

SAMUEL A. SINGMAN RITES.

Funeral services for Samuel A. Singman, 45, who died Sunday night after an extended illness, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Danzansky's chapel, 3501 Fourteenth street, with Rabbi S. Silverstone and the Rev. W. Tash officiating.

Mr. Singman, who was a painter and decorator, resided at 4309 Second street. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, F. A. A. M.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna D. Singman, and two sons, Henry and Howard J. Singman, of this city.

ROBERT S. AKERS FUNERAL.

Funeral services for Robert S. Akers, 58 years old, who died Saturday at Garfield Hospital, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Thomas S. Sergeon, 1011 Seventh street, followed by interment in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Akers was retired several months ago after a long service as superintendent of carpentry repair work in the District shops.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine E. Akers, who resides at 5421 Eighth street.

HOLMAN CASE END IS EXPECTED TODAY

North Carolina Is Likely to Clear Mrs. Reynolds of Murder Charge.

Winston Salem, N. C., Nov. 14 (A. P.).—Libby Holman Reynolds may be freed tomorrow of the murder charge that has hung over her since shortly after her tobacco heir husband, Smith Reynolds, was fatally shot here last July.

Solicitor Carlisle Higgins said today he would probably decide within 24 hours whether to drop the case against the former Broadway blues singer and her 19-year-old codefendant, Albert (Ab) Walker, Winston Salem youth who was a chum of young Reynolds.

Refusing to forecast his probable decision, the solicitor did indicate, however, that the State will not seek an early trial, in the event the case is not thrown out of court.

"I think I shall decide either to nol-pros the case, or to ask a continuance tomorrow," he said.

No date for a trial has ever been set.

Blood relatives of young Reynolds publicly suggested dropping of the cases in a letter to the solicitor a month ago.

Washington Physician Dies in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Dr. Llewellyn Eliot, 80, for 50 years a practicing physician in Washington, D. C., died here today.

Dr. Eliot, son of Dr. Johnson Eliot, Civil War surgeon, retired from practice in 1926, residing with his daughter here, Mrs. F. H. Harrington. His widow, and two daughters, Mrs. Harrington and Mrs. John C. Hanway, Greenville, Miss., survive.

RITES FOR WALTER BASEMAN.

Funeral services for Walter Baseman, who died at Sibley Hospital Sunday after a brief illness, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Lorain Park Cemetery, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Baseman, who was 71 years old, was born in Baltimore, but came to this city many years ago and was one of the first mechanics to enter the automobile tire repair business.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Carrie M. Jensen, of this city, and Miss Bessie K. Baseman, of Baltimore.

CONGRESS MUST DECIDE.

Gov. Roosevelt's courteous acceptance of President Hoover's invitation makes it certain that there will be an early conference on the situation arising from the British and French requests for the reopening of the debt question. The meeting of the two executives will be informal. Later at Warm Springs Gov. Roosevelt will meet Democratic leaders in Congress, and President Hoover doubtless will call in leaders of both parties for a conference. Out of these exchanges of views may come a definite policy, approved by Congress, to be observed by the Government without regard to the change of administrations. This, at any rate, is the outcome to be desired.

During the campaign conflicting views were expressed by Messrs. Hoover and Roosevelt in regard to the best method of dealing with the war debt problem. Mr. Hoover does not favor reduction of the tariff as a means of enabling foreign debtors to sell goods to America and thereby to extinguish their debts. Gov. Roosevelt spoke in favor of that plan. Neither President Hoover nor Gov. Roosevelt favors debt cancellation, and both presumably are anxious to see a plan adopted which will insure to the United States some substantial equivalent for any reduction of the debts or readjustment of payments.

The attitude of Congress is all-important. Last December, in approving of the Hoover moratorium, Congress adopted the following resolution:

> It is hereby expressly declared to be against the policy of Congress that any of the indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States should be in any manner canceled or reduced; and nothing in this joint resolution shall be construed as indicating a contrary policy, or as implying that favorable consideration will be given at any time to a change in the policy hereby declared.

The President is without power to postpone the payments due from Great Britain and France on Dec. 15. These payments are fixed by the debt agreements which were approved respectively by Congress on Feb. 28, 1923, and Dec. 18, 1929. Inasmuch as the requests for suspension of payments are not based upon the right which each debtor would have had to postpone payment upon giving notice, but are based solely upon the plea for reopening of the entire debt question, they thrust upon the President the task of ascertaining whether or not Congress will consent to revision or cancellation of the debts. Both debtors are able to pay their December installments, and no purpose would be served by postponement if the debt question is not to be reopened.

Much difficulty may be encountered in obtaining from Congress, or even from its leaders, a definite expression which would serve as the basis of executive policy in framing a reply to the debtor governments. Both the outgoing and incoming Presidents will wish to be sure of the approval by Congress of any policy that may be evolved. An immediate extra session of Congress is suggested, but even this would afford little time before Dec. 15 for disposing of the many questions that will arise from the demand for debt cancellation.

The United States heretofore has insisted upon dealing with each debtor separately, and no doubt it will continue that procedure. There is no warrant on the American side for collective negotiation, and there is sound reason for refusing to meet all the debtors in one conference. This reason is that the United States holds the war debts to be dissociated entirely from the question of German reparations. Another reason for separate negotiation is that each debtor has made a settlement distinct from the others, with different rates of interest, etc.

Pressure from economists, internationalists and interested financiers for cancellation of the debts may merely stir up more determined opposition in Congress. The adroitness with which the debtor nations avoided any agreement at Geneva on reduction of armaments, while professing to be laboring for reduction, has been noted throughout the United States. Congress, both political parties, and both the incoming and outgoing Presidents have declared their opposition to cancellation. On all sides it is felt that the request for reconsideration of the debts is nothing but a thinly veiled request for cancellation. The enthusiasm with which interested parties urge acceptance of the request helps to confirm this opinion.

Events may reveal that the British and French governments acted unwisely in asking for a decision before Dec. 15. They did so, of course, in the hope of retaining the sums then due; but they have made it practically impossible for the United States to postpone these payments without also agreeing to conferences which would be regarded by Americans generally as preliminary to cancellation. The United States might have consented to postponement of the December payments if that question had been presented by itself, but the attempt to withhold payments for the sake of creating "the necessary atmosphere of mutual trust" in order to bring about cancellation of all future payments is likely to arouse opposition to postponement of any payments at all. In that case the two debtors may find that it would have been wiser to make the December payments without raising the question of revision.

The celerity with which Britain and France acted after the American election may have been inspired by the belief that they had a better chance of obtaining favorable action from President Hoover than from President-elect Roosevelt. Their notes attempt to convey the idea that President Hoover is somehow bound to favor reconsideration of the debts because of the Hoover-Laval statement. But in this statement "all reservations" were made concerning possible reconsideration of the debt agreements, and subsequently Congress fixed national policy by its joint resolution. Both the present and coming administrations are bound by that policy. Congress alone has power to modify the laws which give effect to the agreements between the United States and its debtors.

FARM RELIEF PLANS.

Farm organizations are anxiously speculating as to the possible effects of "the new deal" on agriculture. One of the foremost pledges in Gov. Roosevelt's campaign was increased purchasing power for the farmer. The plan by which that objective is to be brought about has not been definitely outlined, but in view of the fact that Gov. Roosevelt told a Boston audience that Henry I. Harriman's plan for the restoration of agriculture "is not unlike my own," interest is centering on the Harriman proposal.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has sponsored the equalization fee as a means of raising domestic prices for crops produced in surplus. The National Grange is inclined to favor the export debenture plan. In both cases the objective is the same. American farmers are in distress because they must take world prices for their agricultural exports, and low world prices keep domestic prices low also. Farmers seek some means of increasing prices in the domestic market, without reducing production or curtailing their exports.

Mr. Harriman proposes to accomplish that result by levying an excise tax on the surplus commodities as they go into American mills and then protecting producers of such commodities against foreign dumping by a prohibitory tariff. Cotton growers are especially interested in the plan. With a view to raising cotton prices to about 11 cents per pound, a fluctuating tax would be laid on all cotton entering American mills. Under present circumstances that tax would be about 4½ cents a pound, but as the price increased the tax would be diminished. When cotton reached 10 cents the tax would be reduced to 1 cent. Consumers of cotton goods would pay the tax in the form of higher prices. The proceeds would go to cotton producers for the domestic market.

To be workable at all this plan requires some form of acreage allotment to avoid disastrous increases in cotton production. Mr. Harriman would have the Government determine the average acreage and production for the last five years together with the amount of cotton consumed in the domestic market. Each cotton-producing State would be assigned a quota, which quota would then be divided among the counties and farms. Farmers would be given certificates showing the amount of cotton on which they could obtain a bounty from the Government. The bounty would be paid on only that portion of the crop needed for domestic uses, while farmers would have only world prices for their exports.

Some defects in the other schemes offered to raise farm prices seem to have been corrected in the Harriman plan. If strictly enforced, it probably would not increase production, and it would undoubtedly increase the farmer's income during this critical period. But it would make the Government a virtual dictator to agriculture. It would induce farmers to look to the taxing power of Uncle Sam for their income instead of to their own resources and their own organizations. Furthermore, the Harriman plan would lead to charges of dumping against the United States and foreign nations would undoubtedly discriminate against surplus commodities sold in their markets at prices lower than those prevailing in the United States.

Farmers as well as leaders in Congress may be expected to scrutinize this plan with the utmost care before committing themselves to it.

MOUNT VERNON HIGHWAY.

Among the many tributes that have been paid to George Washington during this bicentennial year none is more fitting and significant than the construction of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway. Today a marker at the Mount Vernon terminus of that highway will be dedicated to commemorate the completion of this work. The name and the estate of Washington is thus linked even more closely than in the past with the National Capital. Millions of Americans will drive down this beautiful boulevard, conscious of its rich historic significance.

In the short time that the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway has been open to the public it has become famous. It affords one of the most enchanting drives in America. Every tourist in the country looks forward to a trip along the bank of the quiet Potomac from the city which Washington planned to the home that Washington loved. The Bureau of Public Roads and the Bicentennial Commission may well be proud of this highway. It is perhaps the only bicentennial memorial that will endure. Certainly it is the most appropriate.

BANKRUPTCY CAUSES.

The Department of Commerce has recently been making an intensive study of bankruptcy. Of nearly 600 cases examined the major causes for failure were found to be incompetent management, lack of economic field, and unwise extension of credit. Of course, the usual percentage of personal troubles, excessive overhead, dishonesty and fraud was found, but it was remarkable in how many cases lack of experienced direction and poor judgment as to the opportunities offered for business were found responsible for business collapse.

The investigation disclosed that about one-third of the owners or managers of the concerns which had failed had not even completed high school educations. In more than half the cases no accounting records were kept, and half of those kept by the others were totally inadequate. The credit accounts of these houses were many times greater than the losses shown by the average business firm. Only 5 per cent of the bankrupts had made use of credit rating bureaus.

The granting of credits to the failed firms seems to have been almost as lax. More than half of the bankrupts had trouble for six months or a year in paying their bills, yet they often continued to obtain loans. Some 250 creditors out of 350 admitted that they did not know the cause of failure of the debtor companies. Half the bankrupts, prior to engaging in the unsuccessful concerns, had had no experience that would help them in the new field. They embarked in a business of which they knew nothing and sought trade where no possibility of establishing a profitable business existed.

Evidently there would have been bankruptcy in these cases, even if there had been no depression.

JAPAN FACES CHAOS.

Reports of a cabinet crisis in Tokyo are not surprising to careful observers in the United States. Japan is in extreme financial difficulties, chiefly because of her expensive military campaigns in Manchuria. A change of policy, with or without the overthrow of Premier Saito's administration, seems to be inevitable.

A few weeks ago it was reported that the Japanese budget would probably amount to 2,000,000,000 yen, and that at least half of this amount would be spent on the army and navy. The military forces demanded even larger appropriations than were anticipated, and the cabinet yielded. A record budget of 2,235,000,000 yen ($472,032,000 at the current rate of exchange) was approved. Nearly half of this must be raised by a bond issue.

Japanese financial circles and business men are very much dissatisfied with the militaristic cabinet. They fear that the yen will continue to decline in value and that Japan will encounter a period of economic chaos. The yen has already lost three-fifths of its value, and Japan is frantically exporting tremendous quantities of goods in an attempt to strengthen its financial position.

To the outside world Japan pretends that Manchuria is an independent state, but the Japanese people have no illusions as to the intentions of their government. Tokyo is sending groups of soldier-pioneers to colonize the "independent state" that was created with the aid of Japanese arms. The people know that their government intends to absorb Manchuria, as it did Korea, and they are aware that the military costs of such a project will be tremendous. When the government is able to raise only a little more than half of its budget needs, and is yet unwilling to relinquish in any degree its policy of conquest, an economic crash is portended.

Premier Saito is conscious of the hostile sentiment against his administration. He rushed back to Tokyo from Osaka without waiting for the parade which is to climax a series of military maneuvers. It remains to be seen whether he can avert the crisis temporarily. But Japan seems to be moving straight toward disaster under his leadership. It is not improbable that the Japanese people will themselves break the deadlock over Manchuria by turning out the militarists who are bankrupting the country in their campaign of conquest.

Beer for Christmas?

POST HASTE

The united states of Europe are indebted to the United States of America for an issue on which there is unanimous agreement.

If the next army marching on the Capital arrives waving red flags it will be a bully way to start a fight.

The all-of-a-sudden majority party finds Republican cooperation making a noise like initiative and referendum.

Do the European cancellationists realize that all the things they said about Germany now apply to them, only more so?

For nations that appreciate no difference between solicited borrowings and enforced reparations, arguments are quite useless—better begin with diagrams.

Immediate cooperation in momentous matters will compensate somewhat for two months that will probably be clipped from the Roosevelt term by the lame-duck amendment.

Repealist hopes for next year and modification promises for next session encourage nullificationists to get busy at once.

Old Nick Butler sees the party in a Mephisto fix unless young Republicans take charge. Is his resignation in writing?

Americans are so poor at mathematics they just can't understand that only in case the 10 per cent dept payment is made will the 90 per cent armament expenditure break Europe's back.

It is a trifle hard to comprehend the reasoning that denounces a general sales tax of 1½ per cent, and then proposes to tax the poor man's beer twenty times that much.

Foreign nations have a lot to learn about the difference between campaign generalities on lower tariffs and the congressional attitude toward specific reductions.

Newspapers protest the futility of marches on Washington, yet find it impossible to suppress the one thing that supports them—publicity.

When we get the European disarmament pledges let's make Germany swear off on her bimonthly election debauches.

WHAT IS ENGLISH?

In two centuries the English-speaking world will not be speaking English, according to H. C. Bailey, British writer. What it will speak is to be "a strange compromise between future British English and future American English," a lingo, perhaps mercifully, hidden by Providence from our imagination. He adds:

"This prophecy is not mine. It was made this week by a lecturer in phonetics, A. Lloyd James. His reason for the hybridization of our language is that there are many more people in the world today who speak American English than there are speaking British English.

"Here we have one of those undeniable statements which in fact is fallacious. America has many more citizens than this country, but they do not all speak the same tongue.

"The inexperienced English ear could detect, even if their own novelists did not insist upon it, differences in the speech of the American from the Eastern States, from the South and from the Middle West. Which is the true American English?"

When a Good Customer Makes a Threat, He Uncovers the Yellow Streak

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IN time of peace men's souls are tried more sternly than in war.

The problems that confront us today afford the supreme test of patriotism, good citizenship, courage and manhood.

War, it is true, threatens life. But the threat is far away, and only those cursed with imagination realize what is in store for them when they don their uniforms.

The land is ablaze with patriotism. To be a patriot is to follow the course of least resistance. Blaring bands, waving flags and cheering crowds combine to develop a national frenzy for service. The individual is swept along with the mass. And before he reaches the point of danger, where he might hesitate to choose the path of glory, he has become part of a machine and is given no choice.

In time of peace the way of good citizenship is the hard way.

There are no bands or cheering crowds to encourage the patriot. He has no support except his conscience. He must choose his way calmly and grimly, knowing full well the price he must pay.

If you would test a man's courage, threaten his pocketbook. If you would measure his manhood and his patriotism, ask him to serve his country at the risk of his job. Ask him to stand for the right when that course will cost him business.

We are divided into factions. One group favors paying the soldiers' bonus in full at once; another would wait until it is due under the contract. One group would allow all veterans a pension; another would pension none but those injured in service. One group favors Government aid for all who are in need; another would at any cost reduce the burden of taxation. One would continue prohibition; another would suppress gangsters by cutting off their source of revenue. One would make this a land of Nordics; another would give all races equal opportunity.

In every instance, self-interest makes opinion and creed and principle.

In every instance, one group would injure America and the other would serve it.

In every instance, men know right from wrong and choose wrong only because it offers a profit or prevents a loss.

Where is the man who dares to speak boldly in defense of his country, no matter how great the loss of friends and business?

There is your test of courage and manhood and love of country. How many dare risk a wound in the pocketbook?

WHAT IS TO COME?

Press Surmises as to Probable Developments in Politics as a Result of the Election.

No Time for Apathy.

Syracuse Post-Standard.

The voter, having exerted his authority with great satisfaction to himself, now will be inclined to allow it to gather dust until another year rolls around.

There is a great deal to be done, politically, and if the voter wants it done he will keep public opinion stirred up and inspired as a whip to stimulate his political servants.

The campaign which has ended was devoted almost exclusively to problems of the present. They will prove as pressing in the days to come, and it will be even more necessary to plan and provide for the solution of future problems.

Unless there is a coherent and intelligent public sentiment at work, knowing what it wants done, progress in solving our difficulties will be impeded. This is no time for apathy about public affairs. The public official must know the public mind if he is to work most efficiently and effectively.

Beer Not Enough.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The short session of Congress which opens the first Monday in December is under a plain obligation to start the ball rolling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It can not evade its solemn duty by passing a beer bill.

The first thing to do is to get rid of the eighteenth amendment. As long as that amendment is in the Constitution, it must be debatable whether real beer of any satisfactory alcoholic content would be in the spirit of the amendment. In our opinion, it would not, and we can not believe the United States Supreme Court would uphold it.

Greater Expectations.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Tariffs and currency, farm relief and war debts—these and a score of other questions are complex and susceptible of varying interpretations. But the issue respecting prohibition is clear, and the decision of the people is clear. Prompt modification and eventual repeal are authorized. We have a right to expect an exact and rapid performance of these commitments.

How $400,000,000 Can Be Saved.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The National Chamber of Commerce challenges the plea of "it can't be done" and calls for an immediate reduction of $400,000,000 in the cost of veterans' relief. Furthermore, it shows how such a saving of 40 per cent of present expenditures may be brought about. It suggests a simple and, it seems to us, entirely just program.

In brief, it calls for a strict limitation of compensation and free hospitalization to disabilities clearly attributable to war service. It further suggests that disabled emergency officers, many of whom now receive substantial pensions, be returned to the same basis of disability compensation that applies to veterans of the ranks.

Along with a much overdue reduction in administrative costs, such a program would materially reduce the size of one of the many holes through which dollars are pouring from the Treasury.

Settle It in Jig Time.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

National Government Responsible for Handling Marchers on the Capital. No Right to Picket.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I hope you can spare me space for a brief statement of what I think in regard to "hunger marchers" and other groups that visit the Capital to ask for special favors. In the first place, as their business is with the National Government, I think the national authorities should have the first say as to how they shall behave themselves when in our midst. I think that when the Constitution gave them the right "peaceably to assemble," it meant they could hold unmolested meetings in their own neighborhoods to discuss public questions of special interest to themselves. It did not mean that as good patriots they could "demand" special favors from the Government and picket the Capitol and White House.

It is not fair and it is not safe to expect the citizens of the District and the local authorities to regulate and take care of groups of discontented citizens who come here to do business with the National Government.

Suggests Economy Recipe—Americans Eat Too Much, Anyway.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The inclosed recipe might be of use to many people in this time of general unemployment. It is from the "Economy Administration Cook Book, 1913:"

"The most unusual recipe I can give is of rice, with a little oil, and garnished with olives and hard-boiled eggs; with a teaspoon of 'pickle lilly' mixed with the rice.

"Any one could live and thrive on this dish. It contains all the nourishment needed. I have a friend in Paris whose six children never have had a 'meal' in their lives, but eat bread and water whenever they feel hungry. Once a week sugar is added. They have cheeks like red apples and are always well.

"Overfeeding and living to throw off poisons is far more usual and injurious than being simply underfed. We Americans eat many useless foods and poison our bodies and waste our energy. Vice Consul B. said, '$4 a week is the least that would keep one alive.' Quite a wrong statement. Strong men have been known to do heavy work in other countries on a pint of rice a day, and keep well and vigorous." MRS. M. E. B. J.

"Old Soak" Looks Askance at 2.75 Beer—"No Kick in It."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What I would like to know is: What kind of beer is it the wets in Congress want to legalize in their proposed beer bill? In the pre-Volstead days I did not worry over the alcoholic content of my lager, so that it had a good honest kick in it. And I do not believe this 2.75 per cent stuff will have the kick. In agreement with the Constitution it must be nonintoxicating.

As an old States rights Democrat I don't like the looks of the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution. I will be glad when it is repealed and we have a choice of drinks for everybody. But I don't understand how such a politicians' makeshift as the nonintoxicating beer-legalizing bill can fool a large number of people. It has too much froth on it.

OLD SOAK.

Election Repealed the Eighteenth Amendment by Will of the People.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Once upon a time, in England, there was a mass meeting. An individual tried to get up in front, shouting, "Make way, I am a representative of the people." One of the crowd gave him a shove and a dig with his elbow and said, "Keep back. We are the blooming people themselves."

The voice of the people November 8 practically repealed the eighteenth amendment. If our legislators grasp this, they will expedite the movement and will have the best reason for doing so. It is the will of the whole people.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE POSSIBLE ANSWER.

Oh, we sit around our tables and we talk of this and that,
And life goes on forever in its even, solemn way,
For in spite of our inventions and the wisdom of our chat,
There's none of us can ever keep the tears of grief away.

"The cities are too crowded," says a gray-beard sage we love,
But men are fond of cities and you'll never change that whim,
Though poets sing of pastures green and opal skies above,
The youngster in the country hears the city calling him.

"The need is for employment," cries another. We agree,
But who can give employment till the people start to buy?
Of such a vicious circle who the end can clearly see?
Well, not a man impractical and soft of heart as I,

For not by laws or promises will courage come again,
And not by stocks which rise or fall will happiness return,
For the anguish of the city is the country dweller's pain,
And all men go to business for the money they can earn.

Then what may make us happy?
Just the will to do with love,
To face life as we find it, without whimpering or dismay,
To quit the money standard as our symbol of success
And somehow get to living in a friendlier sort of way.

Washington Rites Will Be National

Pollard Is Sorry Roosevelt Can Not Come to Mt. Vernon.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Although disappointed that Gov. Roosevelt found it impossible to participate in the final Virginia Washington Bicentennial ceremony, Gov. Pollard said today that plans for the exercises were going ahead.

The exercises are to be held at Mount Vernon, probably on December 14, the anniversary of the death of Washington. Governors of the 48 States have been invited to attend, and Gov. Pollard said that since Congress will be in session he hoped that those who can not be present will be represented by members of Congress from their respective States.

The governor said he regretted that the thirty-second President of the United States could not be present.

Tree Will Be Planted At Methodist Home

The George Washington Bicentennial tree planting ceremonies at the Methodist Home for the Aged will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Connecticut avenue and Ellicott street northwest.

Mrs. Samuel Polkinhorn, assisted by Mrs. Harry Hoskinson and Mrs. Irving O. Ball, will be in charge of the exercises. Brief addresses will be made and music will be furnished.

Banquet for MacNider.

Ottawa, Ontario, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will tender a farewell dinner Thursday evening to Col. and Mrs. Hanford MacNider, and there will be no session of the House of Commons, as the entire cabinet will be present. Col. MacNider resigned a few months ago as United States Minister to Canada.

Peru Authorizes Sale Of Iron Ore on Shares

Lima, Peru, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Sale of iron ore in the Marcona district, south of Lima Ford development, by foreign or domestic enterprise is authorized in a government bill introduced in Congress today.

It provides that the government would participate in the profits of the enterprise, using the money to pay off the foreign debt.

Marked for Presidency

Roosevelt's Election as New York Governor in Republican Year of 1928 Made Him at Once Strong Contender for National Leadership.

(Editor's Note—Defeated at the polls and stricken with infantile paralysis, Franklin D. Roosevelt retired to the political sidelines—but only temporarily. He was back again in a few years. This time as Governor of New York. In today's sixth and final installment of his life story his rise to the Presidency is recounted.

By GARDNER BRIDGE.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—As Governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a progressive Democrat, came to grips almost immediately with the Republican-controlled Legislature.

His election, in the year of a Nation-wide Republican victory, 1928, marked him at once as a strong contender for the Presidency, and the majority party in the Legislature greeted him with narrowed eyes.

The first fight was over the executive budget, a new procedure in spending the State's money which was having its first try-out under Roosevelt's administration.

Gov. Roosevelt was dissatisfied with the way the fiscal chairmen of the Legislature interpreted the new system, and the ensuing battle ended up in the courts. Roosevelt won.

Next came the St. Lawrence water power issue, a political football which had been kicked around in midfield for some twenty years. Roosevelt was determined to get behind a goal post with it and chalk up a score of "cheap electricity for the small consumer."

Given Free Hand.

The Republicans, apparently anxious to eliminate the issue from the next State campaign, broke away and gave Roosevelt a free hand to appoint a commission charged with the duty of working out a plan of public development of the hydro-electric resources.

Other problems that rose during Roosevelt's two terms as governor included three State prison riots, the City Trust failure and the closing of the Bank of United States, and the necessity of deciding what was to be done about Mayor James J. Walker, whose New York City administration was under investigation by Samuel Seabury.

The Seabury investigation, with its climactic hearing in the executive chamber, presented what many observers considered the most critical test of Roosevelt's political career. If he removed Walker, he would incur the wrath of Tammany Hall; if he did not remove him, he would be accused of genuflecting toward the Wigwam.

The Nation watched with interest as the drama unfolded itself. The scholarly looking Seabury, once a judge of the State's highest court, calmly and impassionately drew a picture of alleged indiscretions in the mayor's financial household. Walker, impulsive, eloquent, made stirring speeches about being persecuted, about his public record, and pleaded for a reputation builded on the best years of his life. The governor, who by now was the Democratic nominee for President, sat back patiently directing his questions and pressing when necessary for full answers.

Sees Need of Change.

Then on the night of September 1 the problem solved itself. Walker resigned.

Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago, his spectacular flight to the convention halls to accept the candidacy, the celebrated break between himself and "Al" Smith which was healed during the campaign, partly through their mutual interest in Gov.-elect Herbert H. Lehman, all that is recent history and needs no retelling here.

His election to the highest office in the land followed upon a campaign in which he stressed the importance of bringing aid to the "forgotten man."

"There can be only one great principle to guide our course in the coming years," he said in closing his campaign. "We have learned the lesson that extravagant advantage for the few ultimately depresses the many.

* * * We must put behind us the idea that an uncontrolled, unbalanced economy, creating paper profits for a relatively small group, means or even can mean prosperity."

The Roosevelt who enters the White House will be, in his own words, a "Progressive." And by Progressives he means those "who realize that a government must grow and change as its people grow and change; that which is wise government today may be foolish government tomorrow."

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A charming winter frock of lightweight "rouge grenat" woolen, completed with matching wool lace as a sleeve incrustation and collar. (Courtesy of Phillipe et Gaston, Paris.)

HAWAII in the Rue Cambon! Even so! Now I haven't been to that glad isle, but I've heard from reliable scurces that the natives are so glad to see you come (and also so glad to see you go), that to greet you or to bid you farewell they drape about your neck garlands of fresh flowers. You know . . . really superior people like that . . . just arriving in Hawaii all decorated up.

Now can you guess what I'm getting at? Of couse you can . . . the really important place (besides the Ritz) in the Rue Cambon being Chanel's. I'm talking or rather raving (and so is everybody I guess) about the long garlands of flowers that Chanel made to wear with some of her last summer evening frocks. They are romance; they make you think, of lovely far-away places warmth, sunshine, moonlit evenings. They do your soul good! Now the evening frocks thus adorned were made of common or garden pique . . . although from the way it hung I suspected it wasn't so common at that . . . probably super pique made especially for Mademoiselle Chanel. These frocks were superbly cut of course, but very simple. Their stark simplicity a rational excuse for the existence of the matching garlands, flowers cut out of the same pique as the frock. The white pique gowns have the square decolletage in front . . . little straps over the shoulder, and a rather low back. The wreath, of pique flowers is worn loose, unattached. One throws it backward or forward according to who is sitting at the table in front of you or behind you. Most important this!

A red pique wreath on a red pique frock is unattached too. But the blue pique frock . . . perhaps the loveliest . . . wore its garland attached and outlining the decolletage . . . high in front and sweeping to a low V shape in the back.

Oh, I almost forgot to tell you that these frocks were so successful last summer that they have appeared full-fledged in her Palm Beach collection!

Have you one basic nightgown design that you have found practical, chic, comfortable, and taking very little material to make? Well, we have. 'Tis semitailored, or rather severe, really, so. If you like fluff and lace and frills on your nighties, don't bother to send for the leaflet which tells you how to make it. But if you will ever have occasion for a severe but elegantly chic and comfortable nightgown, send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the detailed sketch and directions which will tell you how to make this—or how to have your dressmaker make it. You'll like the idea as much as I do—I am sure.

You never can tell about a frock these days! Here is a lightweight red woolen dress, delightful for street wear, but dressy enough for afternoon, especially with the wool lace that trims it. And the lace starts to be an incrustation, changes its mind and becomes a cape-epaulette-vestee affair—as you can see. Philippe et Gaston, the famous house whose name has been so long familiar to the woman who values her appearance, is responsible for this model. Nice? I think so!

THE BEAUTY SORCERESS.

"If you don't wear rubber gloves at least three times a week, my dear, with plenty of skin food in them—these winter days!"

"If you find them uncomfortable to sleep in, just fall asleep with them on and pe-e-e-e-e-el them off later in the night. But do wear them—to keep your hands plump and fresh and youthful."

Au revoir!

(Copyright, 1932.)

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

ALL health and beauty authorities who have preached the sermon "educate yourself to exercise" doubtless receive queries from home-builders—

"But we do—our whole vast army of women who are building better homes and trying to raise our children to be better citizens. Right in our own homes we walk miles a day, and haven't you told us time and again that walking is one of the best all around exercises?"

* * * *

Indeed it is, providing one gets all the good out of it. By that is meant deep, rhythmic breathing and proper posture. But the truth of the matter is, most women are so breathlessly busy with their thousand tasks they seldom stop to watch themselves walk or catch themselves slumping into poor posture habits. And walking with shoulders lunged forward and abdomen out can do a lot of harm.

Posture Test.

As you go about the house, make this important posture test. Stop and look at yourself in the mirror now and then. Is the profile of your figure a smooth, flowing line or is it bumpy? Now stand for a minute with your back to the wall, on your toes, heels touching the wall about an inch above the ground. Draw your abdomen in and up, head up, chin horizontal, shoulders relaxed back and down. Now for the most important step. Stand straight and tall and try to make the small of your back touch the wall. If you are not accustomed to this position, it will seem a bit strained at first. But do try to get accustomed to it. You will get that much good out of every mile you walk through your house. Breathe deeply and rhythmically.

One reason why so many of our grandmother's had hollow backs and what we moderns call the "lordosis curve" is the way they stood and walked. They pulled the small of the back in and pushed the buttocks out instead of down, in and under. Make the posture test several times a day. It's a swell exercise. Then, still on toes walk away and about the room. Work that way too. And speaking of walking and working—do wear sensible shoes with low, sturdy heels. And mind you, keep them in repair for it's bad business to walk about on run-down heels.

Tomorrow, we'll educate ourselves to exercise advantageously as we do our housework.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

IF NOVEMBER 15 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m., and from 2:30 p. m. to 3:15 p. m.

You may perhaps feel that you are struggling along with your back against the wall and fighting a hopeless battle. Do not let such suggestions enter your thoughts. You are on the right track and all you need to conquer is to continue your efforts.

Acquaintances made on this November 15 should ripen into lasting friendships. Lover's lane may be rough in spots this day.

The child born on November 15 will on occasions show excessive timidity and shyness. The child must be "brought out" and made to take its rightful and active place in society, and made to mingle with groups of children. The child's feelings will be easily hurt, as its nature is most sensitive. A love of the beautiful will affect its every thought and act. At school it will excel in studies, but will not take part in athletics.

Born on November 15, yours is a nature that craves power and authority. To gain even a small measure of happiness you must be at the head of whatever pursuit you are engaged in. Not the most kindly and honest of people you are not averse to using deception and trickery to gain your point. You will never be without money, but whether you have much or little, you will not know how to use it wisely. You are more lumbering in your thought than most people, but you do have a brain that thinks logically. You are not in any sense a spiritual person, and were you to be asked if you believed in a Supreme Being, most probably your answer would be that you had never really thought about the matter.

Yours is a sensual nature and you are inclined to surfeit yourself with material pleasures. Guard against excessive indulgence in eating and drinking. A careful and wise selection in taking a mate will almost guarantee you a happy and successful married life. Both the men and the women are inclined to be greatly emotional with those who are dear to them.

Successful people born on November 15:

William O. Thompson, educator.
Franklin P. Adams, writer.
Vincent Astor, capitalist.
Andrew Carnegie, philanthropist.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HUNTER'S HEADACHE.

WHY is it that a quail shooter is very apt to come home from a day's hunting suffering from a headache, whereas a duck shooter pays no such penalty for his sport?

The reasons for the difference, as found in a medical journal, are these: Modern powders are especially rich in nitrogen compounds, more so than the old powders. As they explode various nitrate gases are formed. These are moderately poisonous. A successful quail hunter, working over dogs, shoots against the wind. If he and his dog are going down wind the birds get their scent and escape. When a man shoots into the wind some of the gases produced by explosion are carried back into the hunter's face. In shooting ducks the gun is pointed in every direction, down wind and up wind, and the hunter inhales less of the gases. The one gets headache. The other does not.

A physician who has had enough shooting experience to satisfy any one pronounces this theory as the bunk. He says hunters are apt to come in with a headache, but the trouble is due to the jar of many explosions or to exposure, fatigue, hunger, interrupted habits—but not to inhalation of powder gases.

Whatever the cause, the fact is that hunters are very prone to headaches. To prevent this kind I presume the simplest procedure is to buy your game in the market.

In a discussion of headaches held by the members of a medical society, there was a general agreement that a physician's task had only begun when he made a diagnosis of headache. Such a diagnosis was no place to stop, but was instead the place to begin. This was just as true of migraine as it was of headaches of other types.

One of the disputants said that in his experience 85 per cent of the cases resulted from digestive disorders. Therefore the stock method of prevention was to change the diet and the eating habits, to overcome constipation, and to give sour milk preparations in great abundance.

Another physician said his experience was radically different. Most of the headache cases he saw were suffering from eye strain. His method of prevention was to examine the eyes very carefully and to prescribe properly fitted glasses. At this point another physician got into the discussion. In his experience most headaches were due to allergy. They were caused by eating certain foods or exposure in other ways to substances to which this individual was sensitized. The method of prevention, which had been successful in his practice, was to search out the food that was harmful or the something else to which there was hazardous exposure, and to get around the cause in that way.

At first blush this appeared discreditable to the debaters. It seemed as though each one saw every case through his own glasses. On further thought the state of facts was creditable to both patients and physicians. Each had a reputation in his specialty. The people have learned that some headaches have one cause and some another. Some, having reason to think their digestive apparatus to be the cause of their headaches, sought a specialist in that field. Others, thinking their eyes responsible, sought the eye specialist.

ABOUT GROWING.

J. W. writes: 1. Up to what age does a person grow?

2. What foods should one eat to promote growth?

REPLY.

1. In height, until 17 years of age; in weight, until about 30. It is best not to put on fat after 30.

2. There are no "growing diets." If a child gets enough food and eats the usual American diet he will have the elements he needs to carry out his program of growth.

KEEP EVERLASTINGLY AT IT.

C. L. writes: I am suffering from diabetes and have seen many doctors who have not helped me much. I am suffering very much from the kidneys. Will you be kind enough to tell me what to do, what diet I can follow?

REPLY.

A person with diabetes should enlist for the war. Changing around from physician to physician is like instability in war and peace—unprofitable.

The only policy for you is to pick out one doctor and have him teach you in minute detail how to live. Perhaps he has a class in diabetes which you should join. When you have learned what you are to do you should follow the plan laid down for say, 50 years. Otherwise the story is liable to terminate in 50 weeks.

Geneva Objection Withdrawn by U. S.

Action to Control Manufacture of Munitions Seen Constitutional.

(Associated Press.)

A belief that legislation to control the manufacture of munitions would be held to be constitutional in the United States has led the American Government to withdraw one of its reasons for objection to such a proposal in the Geneva disarmament negotiations.

Secretary Stimson said yesterday that precedents of such control in narcotics led to the belief that a claim that munitions control was unconstitutional in America would not hold.

The American Government, Stimson said, will continue, however, to stand by a reservation on the plan as a matter of policy.

Ellis Is Reelected By Archeologists

Named President for Another Term; Vice Presidents Also Chosen.

Wade H. Ellis, president of the Archeological Society of Washington, was reelected to that office for another term at the annual meeting of the trustees yesterday in the Southern Building.

Those elected vice presidents were: Irwin Laughlin, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Duncan Philips and Charles M. Remey. Arthur S. Riggs was reelected secretary and also elected treasurer.

James T. Russell was elected vice president of the Washington Academy of Sciences, and Dr. George MacLean was elected to the board of directors. The first open meeting of the society will be held tomorrow night at the Shoreham Hotel, at which Prof. Ralph Magoffin, of New York University, will be guest speaker.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Department of Agriculture.)

Of all the various relishes made by pickling fruits and vegetables, there is probably none more universally liked than dill pickles. These are not difficult to make, as you will see by the recipe below from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dilled Cucumbers.

1 pint vinegar
1 pound salt
2 gallons water
2 ounces mixed pickle spices
Fresh or dried dill

Select fresh picked cucumbers, uniform in size and free from blemish. Wash well and drain. Into a 4 or 5 gallon crock place a layer of dill and spice. Fill the jar with the cucumbers to within 4 or 5 inches of the top. Prepare the ingredients for the pickling mixture and pour it over the cucumbers. Cover with a heavy plate and weight it down to hold the cucumbers under the brine. The brine should barely cover the cucumbers, for as the liquid is drawn out of the cucumbers it will be very likely to run over the sides if too full at first. Remove the scum which forms over the cucumbers each day. Keep the cucumbers at an even temperature (86 F.), and in about two weeks they will be ready to use. They should be of pleasing dill flavor, clear throughout, with no white spots when cut, and crisp.

To protect the dilled cucumbers from spoilage, cover the surface of the brine with paraffin and store in a cool place; or transfer the cucumbers to smaller containers, add some of the brine heated to boiling temperature; then cover with paraffin and seal.

Green tomatoes can be dilled in the same way, with 2 tablespoons of sugar added to each gallon of brine to facilitate the formation of the acid.

Pickle With Olive Oil.

30 to 35 firm dill pickles
12 peeled garlic buttons (may be omitted)
3 pints cider vinegar
1 pint tarragon vinegar
½ cup whole allspice
1-3 cup whole black pepper or 6 red hot pepper pods
10 pounds granulated sugar
1 pound brown sugar
1 cup olive oil

Cut the pickles in cross slices ½ inch thick, and drain in a colander over night. In a 3-gallon stone crock (with lid) pack the pickles in layers, using two garlic buttons to each layer. Boil together the vinegar, sugar and spices for 15 minutes, watching carefully that this does not boil over, and pour at once over the pickles. Next morning stir in the olive oil. Stir the pickle well each day for 10 days. It is then ready to serve or to store in sterilized quart jars. The crispness is retained in the pickle if kept air tight, so seal the jars.

Heavy Frost Hits Tropical Florida

Oklahoma and Arkansas Also Warned to Expect Freezing Weather.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—The palm trees in south Florida's tropics were given a coat of frost and more northern portions of Dixie were treated far more severely by cold and snow as winter came in earnest today.

Warning of an additional cold wave in the Southwest came today from Dr. R. A. Dyke, of the New Orleans Weather Bureau, who said temperatures ranging from 20 to 30 degrees could be expected in Oklahoma, north Arkansas and northwest portions of east Texas tomorrow.

The usual balm of the Florida winter retreated temporarily before icy blasts that brought freezing temperatures at several points and frost as far south as the Everglades. Some winter crops were damaged. The coldest weather in that State was felt at Ocala, where the mercury went down to 28.

Memphis Is Host To U. D. C. Session

39th Annual Convention Will Open Tomorrow; Delegates Pour In.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Memphis, rich in the traditions of the Southland, gave an old-fashioned Southern welcome to the United Daughters of the Confederacy today.

Here, where a great naval battle was fought, where Nathan Bedford Forrest sleeps, where a former home of Jefferson Davis still stands as a reminder of a colorful past, the descendants of the Gray hosts of the sixties pitched their camp for a week to do honor to their heroic dead.

The general meeting of the thirty-ninth annual convention does not open until Wednesday, but delegates poured in from all parts of the South today for a round of luncheons, teas and other social functions. Tomorrow they go to Shiloh, where the U. D. C. erected a monument at the battlefield on which thousands of Confederates fell.

DUPLICATE ON MAIN STREET.

"ONE of the most interesting features of Duplicate Contract Bridge is the almost unbelievable variety of results obtained at the different tables," remarks Mr. H. L. DeWolf, of Valrico, Fla.

The hand below was played recently at the Tampa Bridge Club, of Tampa, and almost caused a riot, with the results ranging from six notrump doubled, down 1 by North, through six clubs doubled, down 4 by West, to three notrump doubled, down 6 by West. Apparently, no one seemed willing to let the bidding take its correct course.

Mr. DeWolf, to whom I am indebted for the hand, remarks that of course there were two Amazons who went forth to conquer in this wise:

He then goes on to give the happy result at the table where he played. "The bidding," he states, "after a desultory start, blossomed into full flower, running the whole gamut from the Simian to the Jacobean." Mr. DeWolf states that he is "only a country boy," once a week drives a truck 12 miles into Tampa to get to play with the good players, and that his partner was one of those so-called Bridge players whose wives do not play. Such a man can bid as he pleases. Their bidding was (the notes are Mr. DeWolf's):

ALEXANDRIA SPURS RED CROSS APPEAL

Dr. Anton Lang, Jr., Will Be Honor Guest Next Week of Rotary Club.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The annual Red Cross drive in Alexandria opened yesterday and will close Thanksgiving Day. The quota for Alexandria this year is $1,500, and the amount the Alexandria Red Cross may spend for relief work will depend upon the response of the public. It is announced that the annual memberships are $1, sustaining memberships $10, and supporting memberships $25. Of all classes of memberships, each contributes only 15 cents to national headquarters for both national and international work, the remainder being spent locally. Not a single person connected with the local organization or the drive will receive compensation.

In addition to other work, 11,000 yards of cotton cloth, purchased with Red Cross funds, is being made into garments for the needy. In some instances the garments are being made by the beneficiaries, and in others by different organizations. Among the organizations making the garments are the George Mason High School, the Alexandria High School, the Parker-Gray School for colored pupils, St. Mary's Parochial School, the Colored Federation of Women's Clubs, the Seventh Day Adventists Club, the St. Paul's Neighborhood Club, the Kate Waller Barret Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Immanuel Episcopal Church Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The Alexandria Rotary Club will have an educational program today, which has been prepared by Henry T. Moncure, a member of the club and principal of the Alexandria High School. This program coincides with the wishes of the Virgina State Department of Highways whch, at this time, is staging an educational program entitled "Save-a-Life." The local Rotary Club has been asked by the highway commission to disseminate as far as possible information concerning the salient features of this program.

Next Tuesday the Alexandria Rotary will be host to Dr. Anton Lang, jr., of Oberammergau, Bavaria, whose father, Anton Lang, sr., for many years has taken the part of Christus in the famous Passion Play.

The eight official testing stations of Alexandria have been besieged for the last few days by automobile owners who are complying with the State law requiring all motor vehicles to be inspected and tested not later than today. The rush was so great yesterday that policemen were stationed at the various garages where the work was being done to direct traffic.

All car owners who fail to have the official sticker on the windshields signifying that the machine has been inspected and tested are liable to a fine or $10 and costs. It has been announced that no exceptions will be made and no excuses accepted.

John William Moore, 34 years old, an electrician, who lives at 609 Princess street, Alexandria, was shot in the left arm yesterday morning while at his home. The police, in response to a telephone call, went to the house and placed under arrest James McCuen, 64 years old, a former resident, who is charged with the shooting.

At police headquarters McCuen is said to have admitted the shooting, claiming that Moore had owed him $25 for the last six years, and that a dispute over the debt led to the shooting. McCuen is being held in default of $1,500 bond.

Today is the last day on which Alexandria City taxes may be paid without incurring a penalty, and the office of City Collector Purvis Taylor will be kept open from 7:30 to 9 o'clock tonight for the accommodation of those who were unable to call during the day.

Isaac G. Ray, who lives in the 800 block of Duke street, Alexandria, suffered a fractured leg yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by R. C. Violette, of 417 Earl street. Ray is being treated at the Alexandria Hospital.

Potomac Lodge, No. 38, Odd Fellows, will celebrate father and son night Friday evening at Odd Fellows Hall, on North Columbus street, Alexandria. A special program has been prepared for the entertainment of the boys attending, after which refreshments will be served.

The committee in charge includes W. Clifton Cunningham, W. H. Scott and W. P. Reynolds.

Mrs. June L. Carroll, 38 years old, wife of J. W. Carroll, died Sunday at her home, 7 Cedar street, Alexandria. Besides her husband, she is survived by there children, a sister, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Bellwood, Pa., and a brother, John Bratton, of Homestead, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Wheatley Funeral Home, by the Rev. Norris A. Lineweaver, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, and burial will be in Bethal Cemetery.

Hunting Monopoly Is Laid to Officers

Protest Filed at Hurley's Office on Ban Near Ft. Washington.

A protest that Army officers stationed at Fort Washington have an "exclusive hunting reserve," and that outsiders have been refused permission to hunt ducks in that area, was lodged with Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley yesterday by William E. Humphreys, of the Federal Trade Commission.

It was pointed out that Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d has refused to allow huntsmen to land boats or take equipment across the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway to reach duck blinds on the Virginia side of the Potomac. Thus, Mr. Humphreys declared, the field is left open to Army officers, who have established duck blinds, and received hunting permits from Prince Georges County authorities.

The urgent press of business confronting Secretary Hurley will probably prevent his immediate action in the matter. It is unlikely that he will prohibit officers at Fort Washington to hunt in the vicinity, it was indicated at the War Department yesterday.

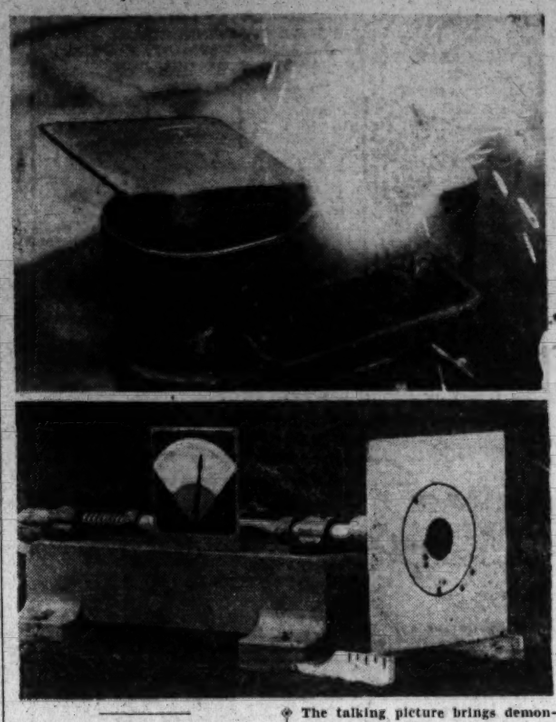
Mr. Molecule, New Cinema Star, Makes Hotel Debut



The talking picture brings demonstration to the classroom. The top photo presents the Goldschmidt process of welding. Below, apparatus to show the bombardment of gas molecules against container.

Microphotography Is Boon to Science; May Displace Laboratory.

A new tool of scientific education was demonstrated last night at the Hotel Washington before a large group of prominent educators and scientists.

The new medium, through which students will see actual scientific demonstrations and which will to a certain extent displace laboratory study, is the talking picture.

At the showing, two films presented material in 20 minutes which would have taken five or six hours of classroom and laboratory work.

The films demonstrated fundamental theories of chemistry and physics with microscopic photography and animated drawings, possible only by this medium.

They were produced under the auspices and supervision of the University of Chicago by Erpi Picture Consultants, a subsidiary of Western Electric.

Their titles were "Oxidation and Reduction" and "The Fundamental Theory of Matter." Dr. Casey Croneis, of the University of Chicago, introduced the pictures and discussed talking picture education.

In the "Molecular Theory of Matter," the bombardment of molecules in a gas against the containing surfaces were likened to the tattoo of machine-gun bullets upon a steel plate.

In putting over this idea, the film showed the gun in action and the effect of the bullets on the plate. The picture, by means of microphotography, actually shows the effect of the movement of molecules of matter in what is known as the Brownian movement.

Other shots in this film showed liquids turning to gases, back to liquids, and then into solids. Water was shown freezing.

Many examples of oxidation and reduction were shown in the other film. They were pictured in a dramatic way to bring them home to the student in an unforgettable form and to correlate them in terms of everyday life.

By means of the picture, a raging forest fire is brought into the classroom; an oxyhydrogen torch burns its way through steel plate; great steel rails are welded and the operation of a coke oven, impossible in the classroom, is demonstrated.

"Talking pictures not only bring before the students devices which effectually visualize a process impossible under classroom conditions, but also provide demonstrations of experiments which might not be feasible for educational institutions with limited laboratory facilities and equipment," Dr. Croneis said.

COUNTY GRAND JURY PICKED IN ROCKVILLE

Civil Appeal Cases Scheduled for Day; Criminal Docket Nov. 28.

The Montgomery County grand jury, chosen yesterday, was instructed that its members should not confine themselves alone to returning indictments asked by the State's attorney, but should take cognizance of all instances of law violation which have come under their personal knowledge, in the charge of Judge Charles W. Woodward in Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

Judge Woodward said that the reason jurors were selected from each section of the county was that they would have first-hand knowledge of all sections.

James D. King, prominent dairyman and farmer, of Darnestown district, was selected to be foreman of the inquisitorial body.

Other members of the grand jury are:

James D. King (foreman), Clarence E. Painter, Leonard D. Edwards, Gordon T. Wells, Guy L. Brown, James E. Offutt, James A. Broome, Martin F. Heim, Theodore A. Sonnemann, James T. Cashell, George D. Snyder, Charles M. Etchison, Ralph M. Hendricks, Charles W. Souder, Ambrose B. Reid, Francis S. Lyddane, Charles E. Oland, Ernest W. Kisner, Buell M. Gardner, Maurice Gue, Edgar Fulks, John A. Gray and John W. Hill.

Judge Woodward was surprised when he arrived in court to find a large basket of flowers on the bench awaiting him. A card informed him that they were from friends of upper Montgomery County, the courthouse and the Rockville banks. This was the first time he had sat in a session of criminal court, recently having been appointed to succeed Judge Robert B. Peter, who resigned.

Following selection of the grand jury, Judge Woodward announced that civil appeal suits will be taken up today and civil suits tomorrow, and that the criminal docket would be reached November 28, at which time Judge Arthur D. Willard, of Frederick, will sit, as Judge Woodward can not try the appeals from cases which he heard in police court, where he sat until his promotion to the higher bench. Cases were set for trial and judgments were entered in cases where there was no contest.

Members of the petit jury are:

Percy Price, William G. McCrossin, William D. Clark, James W. Carlin, Joseph D. Miller, Austin T. Powell, Benjamin O. Woodward, William E. Harper, Willard A. Warthen, Francis M. Plummer, Melvin L. Ridgley, Claude C. Hurley, Joshua T. Austin, Clayton W. Ricketts, William E. Morgan, William L. Myers, Jesse G. Myerly, Lewis W. Poole, Robert Murphy, Windsor S. Day, Arthur W. Beall, Webster V. Burdette, Joseph G. Howes, Noah E. Clark and Calvin Bready.

Francis Belford Dead at 65.

New York, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—James Francis Belford, vice chairman of the safety and welfare department of the American Smelting & Refining Co., died at a hospital today following an operation for a pulmonary disorder. He was 65 years old.

MOUNT VERNON ROAD DEDICATION IS TODAY

Tablet to Be Unveiled at Gates of Washington's Colonial Home.

The Mount Vernon Memorial highway, crowning achievement of the Bicentennial year, will be formally dedicated today.

The stretch of road from the Memorial Bridge to the gates of Mount Vernon, skirting the banks of the Potomac, bids well to become one of the most famous highways of the world.

Although it is new—opened early this year—it has taken on the traditions of the Capital City and the shrine which it links.

It is fitting that it should be dedicated to the memory of George Washington. At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon a tablet at its end, just without the gates of Mount Vernon, will be unveiled.

The ceremonies will be in charge of the National George Washington Bicentennial Commission. The highway was constructed by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.

At the dedication of the tablet, Secertary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde will make formal announcement of the completion of the highway. Senator Simeon D. Fess, vice chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, will preside.

Among the groups invited to attend and participate in the exercises are the Fine Arts Commission, the Captial Park and Planning Commission, the District Commissioners and the Mayor and City Council of Alexandria.

Also to be present will be citizens who donated land for rights of way, and patriotic organizations, which provided trees for planting along the road. These include the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The official staff of the Bureau of Public Roads, headed by Thomas H. MacDonald, will attend the dedication ceremonies.

Delegates to the convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials, now in convention here, will attend in a body. Following the ceremonies, this group will proceed to the Washington Tomb, where a wreath will be placed by Frederic E. Everett, of New Hampshire, president.

Convention delegates will then visit the George Washington Grist Mill, between Mount Vernon and Woodlawn. The mill is now being restored by the Virginia Conservation and Development Commission.

Texas Oil Firefighter Held on Arson Charge

Longview, Tex., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—H. L. Patton, 40, member of a Longview oil fire-fighting concern, was arrested here today on a charge of arson and attempted arson in the recent dynamiting of two wells in the east Texas oil field.

Col. L. S. Davidson, martial law commander in the field, said Patton was involved with two brothers, Troy T. Wall, 25, and Lawson F. Wall, 27, of Winnsboro, Tex., in the promotion of the blasts as a stimulant to business.

TODAY IS LAST DAY FOR TESTS OF CARS

State Police to Begin Early Checkup in Arlington on Violations.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 309. Clarendon, Va.

Today is the deadline for motorists to have their cars tested for proper brakes, lights and steering, in accordance with a rule issued more than two months ago by the State Motor Vehicle Commissioner.

The State has provided the following places where these tests may be made without charge, providing no repairs are necessary: In Rosslyn, the Arlington Motor Co., Fred N. Windridge Garage, Shepherd Bros.; Kirby Garage, in Clarendon, and Greenwood Garage, in Cherrydale.

It is understood that State police will be in the county this week to make a check of all cars not properly tested.

State Policeman C. Wayne Carr has been appointed examiner of applicants for automobile operators' permits in the county and will be at the courthouse each Tuesday.

Carr points out that all persons between the ages of 14 and 16 years who are operating without a permit are doing so illegally. The motor vehicle operator's act of the last General Assembly prohibited such operators from driving a car without a permit. Minors must have the permission of their parents to receive permits.

With the hunting season opening in Virginia today, there was a steady line of persons in the Arlington County clerk's office yesterday seeking licenses. The office remained open until 7 o'clock last night.

Thomas Nelson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at its November meeting at the home of Mrs. M. L. Sterling, voted to place a small sum at the disposal of the authorities at Washington-Lee High School to pay for hot lunches and milk for children, whose parents can not provide them. It had been suggested that the chapter place a marker at some historic spot known to Georgs Washington, but it was decided that the lunch fund was more needed at this time.

The Rosslyn Precinct Civic League will meet tonight in the auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School, Fort Myer Heights. Chairman of the County Board Harry A. Fellows, the principal speaker, will discuss the county budget and the zoning ordinance.

Mrs. H. W. Beattie, chairman of the national defense committee, distributed literature from the National Defense headquarters. Mrs. A. J. Webb read a paper prepared by Mrs. N. Rex Hunt about Mollie Pitcher. The president general's letter in the November issue of the D. A. R. magazine was read by Mrs. C. W. Maffett.

The Arlington-Fairfax Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the town hall at Falls Church.

The Progressive Woman's Class of the Ballston Christian Church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Meade Hansborough. After the business meeting there will be a program of entertainment under direction of Mrs. Arthur R. Gooding.

Suit for $10,000 Filed After Row Over Cattle

Charging that Harry E. Lusby, of Clinton, Md., "maliciously" prosecuted him for the embezzlement of $25, J. Alfred Moore, also of Clinton, yesterday filed suit for $10,000 in Prince Georges County Circuit Court through Attorney J. Frank Lillard.

Moore was arrested in April of this year for the alleged embezzlement, but the charge was ignored by the grand jury. According to Mr. Lillard, the charge grew out of the straying of Lusby's cattle on Moore's property. Mbore penned them up, the attorneys said, and asked $25 for their release, promising to return this amount if they did not stray again. Moore alleges that they did stray again, so he kept the money.

FATAL JAIL QUARREL AWAITS GRAND JURY

200 at Hyattsville Inquest Hear Details of Watts and Garrison Row.

On recommendation of a coroner's jury which found that Thomas V. (Honey) Garrison was killed by a gun "in the hands" of L. C. Watts, former jailer at Hyattsville, Watts was held last night without bond for the Prince Georges County grand jury.

Garrison had been drinking on the night of November 7, when he was shot, Policeman Ralph Brown told the crowd of 200 persons who jammed the Police Court room in Hyattsville at last night's inquest. Reading a statement he had prepared shortly after the shooting, Brown said that Garrison "was not drunk enough to lock up." At this time, about an hour before Garrison was shot in the doorway of the jail, Garrison said that Watts had been going with his niece, Brown declared. Garrison also said that Watts had cursed his mother the day of the shooting, Brown testified.

Later he heard the two men "cursing very fluently," Brown went on, and they went downstairs into the jail, which is under police headquarters. A few minutes later Garrison came for him, Brown testified, to hear the argument. He told of trying to part the two men, and of Watts cursing as Garrison was leaving the jail. Garrison then started down the steps, he said, and Watts hit him with the clubbed gun. These, Brown said, were the only blows he saw struck.

Dr. H. T. Willis, who lives next door to the jail, was a "surprise" witness who testified to seeing Watts come toward the jail, with Garrison following him. He said that Garrison told Watts, "You havvn't the guts to do anything," as he followed him into the jail. William Shoemaker, a prisoner in the jail, said that Watts was going to bed when Garrison came into the jailer's quarters and the Watts was present at the inquest quarrel started afresh.

last night in custody of Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, but did not testify. He told reporters that Garrison had kicked him and struck him over the head with his fist before the shooting, and that Garrison had often threatened to kill him. Others who testified at the inquest were Dr. Leonard Hays, the dead man's brother, Richard Garrison, sr., and Louis Haynes and William Perry, who were in the ambulance which took Garrison to the hospital.

2,500 Hunters Get Rockville Licenses

Season Is Under Way Today; Drive on Violators Is Planned.

Nearly 1,000 nimrods swarmed the office of Clayton K. Watkins, clerk of the Circuit Court at Rockville, Md., yesterday to get hunting licenses for the season which opens today. The licenses issued yesterday brings the total number issued to more than 2,500.

Chief Deputy Game Warden Carroll Waters and his 25 aids will start an intense offensive against violators of the game laws. Warden Waters yesterday pointed out to hunters that license or no license the law prohibits hunting on Sunday or when the ground is covered with snow under penalty of fines and costs from $20 to $100 for each offense. The bag limits per day are as follows: Ten partridges, 10 squirrels, 6 rabbits, 4 woodcock, 25 doves, 2 pheasants, with an additional limit of not more than 6 pheasants a season; 15 wild ducks, 4 geese, or 1 wild turkey, with not more than 4 a season.

The season for wild water fowl does not begin until noon tomorrow and will continue until January 15. The open season for other game will continue until December 31.

Police Hunt for Gasoline Thieves.

Washington police last night were asked to look out for two young white men who robbed Wise's filling station on the Crain highway of 5 gallons of gasoline. After having the fuel put in their tank they threatened Mrs. E. M. Wise with a gun and drove off toward Washington. The filling station is located about 4 miles north of Marlboro.

DELAWARE ELECTION INQUIRY SET TODAY

House Funds Body to Hear Witnesses From Better Government League.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Heartsill Ragon, of Arkansas, chairman of the House campaign funds committee, yesterday said officials of the Better Government League of Delaware had been summoned to appear as the first witnesses today in the investigation of elections in that State.

"The committee will meet today and determine upon its course of action, and will question the officials of the Better Government League of Delaware," Mr. Ragon said. "The committee also will decide upon when it will conduct its investigation into the Pennsylvania elections."

The Arkansas Democrat said Representative Black (Democrat), New York, who headed a group of investigators in the Delaware and Pennsylvania elections, would present to the committee today the names of other witnesses to be summoned.

Meanwhile, it was divulged that Kenneth Romney, sergeant at arms of the House, had issued subpenas for a number of witnesses, but was withholding their names until the subpoenas had been served.

The investigation was caused by complaints of Democratic leaders in both Delaware and Pennsylvania that there were irregularities in the elections of House members.

Poland Expected to Ask For Debt Payment Delay

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—It was reported today that the Polish government is considering sending a note to the United States, asking postponement of the next debt payment. This would be in line with similar action taken by France and Great Britain.

On December 15 the Polish government will owe the United States $3,302,980.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

NOW that the line, "by special permission of the copyright owners" has been dropped, the next reform should be the omission of the stereotyped line that such and such station is "operating by authority of the Federal Radio Commission."

Everybody knows that all the stations operate by Government authority else the operators would be subjected to imprisonment and a heavy fine. The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. might just as well be required to say that it is operating under the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Requiring stations to announce that they "operate on a blank number of kilocycles by authority of the Federal Radio Commission" really doesn't mean a thing, and is just that much free advertising for the commission. This practice was begun in the period when the Government was temporarily out of control of the ether, because there was inadequate legislation, but it has long since passed the stage of usefulness, and should be abolished.

PRESIDENT-ELECT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will be the principal speaker on a program presented by the American Red Cross as part of its annual roll call for members (WJSV, 11-11:30 p. m.).

Fritz Reiner, conductor, head of the orchestra department of the Curtis Institute of Music, will direct the 90-piece student orchestra of the institute for the first of a series of weekly symphony concerts to be heard over WJSV at 4:15-5 p. m. today.

Mr. Reiner, who was for several years conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, has selected the following program: Brahms' "Academic Festival Overture" and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 4 in B Flat Major."

A new wrinkle in advertising is a line in connection with the lecture of Daniel Frohman tomorrow night, which reads: "A lapel radio amplifier will be used."

Josef Pasternack, the conductor, has purchased the vast musical library of the Judson Radio Program Corporation.

A NEW radio script act, entitled "The Magic Voice," will be heard over WJSV every Tuesday and Saturday, 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock, beginning tonight. Elsie Hitz and Nick Dawson will play the principal roles.

Another of the "Poetry and Music" periods, featuring Eileen Fowler, reader; Mrs. Dorothy Sherman Pierson, soprano, and Adolf Torovsky, pianist, will be broadcast by WMAL at 8 o'clock tonight. Allen Seeger's war poems will be read by Miss Fowler, and the program is dedicated to all service men who engaged in the World War.

Radio Joe will have Daniel Frohman as his guest during the program at 7:30 o'clock tonight over WMAL.

A SECTION of the National Symphony Orchestra, playing at a musicale given by the board of managers of the Grace Dodge Hotel, will be broadcast by Station WMAL at 9:15 p. m.

The National Grand Opera Company will sing "Aida" tonight (WRC, 11:15 o'clock).

The anniversary of the discovery of Pikes Peak will be marked by a special program over the WJZ-WBAL network this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

The Morning Glee Club, a male octet directed by Keith McLeod, will sing Jessie Deppen's "A Japanese Sunset," "Rounded Up in Glory" and "March of the Musketeers" this morning (WRC, 9 o'clock).

The women are having their say in radio.

Among the women who have become successful in radio writing with the N. B. C. are Lulu Vollmer, author of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle;" Edith Meiser, author of the Sherlock Holmes dramas; Gertrude Berg, author and leading lady of "The Goldbergs;" Ruth Cornwall, author of the Death Valley Days stories and Katherine Seymour, assistant continuity chief in the New York studios and author of many successful programs.

A MAN arrested in Boston with a satchel full of bombs protested that he was working for the good of mankind.

"That's right," commented Ray Perkins, "he's an uplift worker."

Strasburg Girl Chosen By Christian Endeavor

Winchester, Va., Nov. 14 (A.P.).—Miss Catherine Shiplett, of Strasburg, was elected president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Western District of Virginia at the organization's annual convention here yesterday.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational-Christian Church, of Winchester, won first honors for the most efficient work during the year.

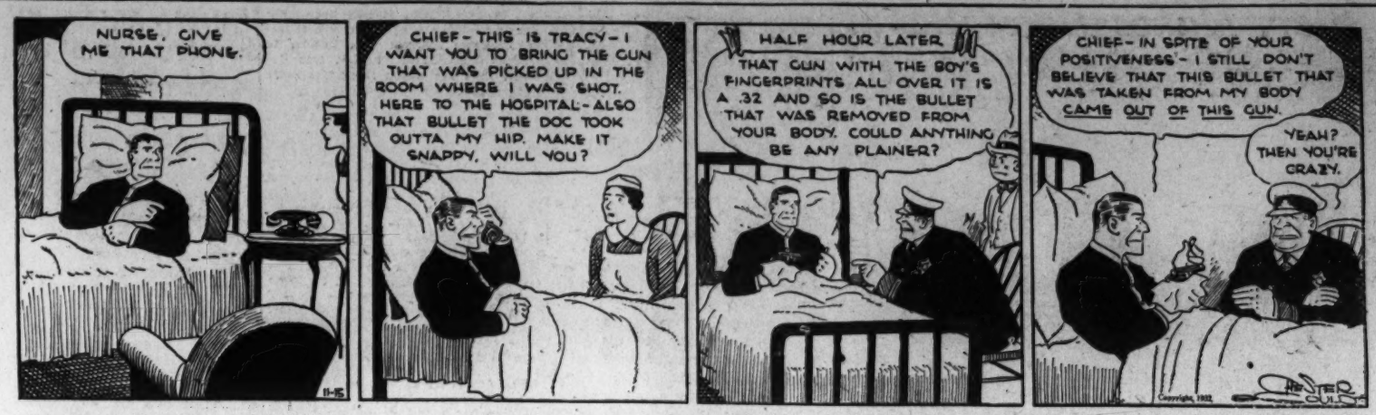
DICK TRACY—The Skeptic



NURSE, GIVE ME THAT PHONE.
CHIEF - THIS IS TRACY - I WANT YOU TO BRING THE GUN THAT WAS PICKED UP IN THE ROOM WHERE I WAS SHOT. HERE TO THE HOSPITAL - ALSO THAT BULLET THE DOC TOOK OUTTA MY HIP. MAKE IT SNAPPY, WILL YOU?
HALF HOUR LATER
THAT GUN WITH THE BOY'S FINGERPRINTS ALL OVER IT IS A .32 AND SO IS THE BULLET THAT WAS REMOVED FROM YOUR BODY. COULD ANYTHING BE ANY PLAINER?
CHIEF - IN SPITE OF YOUR POSITIVENESS - I STILL DON'T BELIEVE THAT THIS BULLET THAT WAS TAKEN FROM MY BODY CAME OUT OF THIS GUN.
YEAH? THEN YOU'RE CRAZY.

INQUIRY BY SHANNON IS BEGUN AT CHICAGO

House Group Reports Private Trade Uniting Against Federal Activities.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (A.P.).—A committee of members of Congress investigating Government competition with private industry today reported a trend toward solidarity of viewpoint among individual manufacturers who "hitherto have done no worrying about the other fellow's ox being gored."

Representative Joseph B. Shannon, of Missouri, opening hearings of his committee for Middlewest and Eastern industrialists warned them to "present a united front" before their protests against Government competition could be acted upon.

Shannon reported that Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, had told him the grain exchange here no longer used envelopes printed by the Government in competition with private stationers, and that a similar movement was underway in Kansas City.

Grain Exchanges Active.

Grain exchanges have fought the Government's entry into business by subsidization of cooperatives which sought to keep wheat prices above market levels last year.

"I believe our committee was responsible for this trend toward a solid front among various business men who object to various Government enterprises in their own fields," Shannon said.

R. J. Baker, secretary-treasurer of the American Steamship Owners Association, read a 4,000-word statement asking Congress to abolish the Panama Railroad Steamship line, which feeds the Panama Canal, and the Army and Navy transport service across the seas.

Cost of Transporting Troops.

The merchant marine, he said, could perform the functions of the transport service "more economically and efficiently." He accused the Army Quartermaster General in 1921 of overestimating by $1,500,000 the cost of transporting troops by private lines. He said he could not find out the cost of such service to the Army.

Representative Robert F. Rich, of Pennsylvania, told Baker the committee would try to get the Government figures.

"I have never been able to make an Army or Navy man admit on the witness stand that anything the services did was bad business," Rich said. "Off the stand, however, they frequently admit it, but they say they don't dare testify to it because they would be transferred to foreign ports."

Rich also said Army and Navy estimates of their costs never include taxes, overhead expense, depreciation or interest charges such as private enterprises must figure upon.

Memorial Group Sued for $166,036

Nonpayment for Work on Washington Structure Is Charged.

The George Washington Memorial Association, the address of which is given as in care of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, 1301 Sixteenth street northwest, yesterday was named defendant in a suit for $166,036.36.

The suit was brought by Egerton Swartwout, as surviving partner of the firm of Tracey & Swartwout, of New York City. It charges that the firm did architectural work on the memorial, which is located on B street between Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, and that it has not been paid.

Mr. Swartwout, through Attorney Charles H. Merillat, said that the foundation work had been partially completed. He estimated that the proposed memorial would cost $7,000,000.

Prison Auto Plate Men May Get More Work

Prisoners at the District Reformatory, who now make the motor vehicle license plates each year, may soon broaden their activities to include all signs and roadmarkers for the city. The penal committee of the Board of Public Welfare yesterday decided to make such a recommendation to the commissioners.

The committee, of which Judge Michael M. Doyle is chairman, also instructed Welfare Director George S. Wilson to investigate the cost and necessity of improving fire protection facilities at the National Training School for Girls, as recommended by the Fire Department.

Man's Innocence Plea Begets 360-Day Term

William Caldwell figured not on his past history when he told Julge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court yesterday that he was an honest man, and that he didn't mean to steal the $18 worth of merchandise he was charged with having taken from a store Saturday.

Upon that statement from Caldwell, Assistant United States Attorney Milford Schwartz began reading a record of convictions that showed Caldwell had served 1,585 days for many petty theft offenses. He was given the limit, 360 days.

IT LOOKS DANGEROUS, AT THAT!

Joel McCrea and Fay Wray, looking a little startled in one of the more exciting moments of "The Most Dangerous Game," which once more throws the amusement week out of kilter by opening its engagement at RKO-Keith's tomorrow morning, instead of the more or less customary Friday.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE more timorous of the New York commentators upon the drama and its people expressed the fear in their Sabbath columns that three of America's "first ladies of the theater" would celebrate Broadway premieres of new productions on the same night late this month. They are Miss Ethel Barrymore in "Encore," Miss Katharine Cornell in "Lucrece" and Miss Ina Claire in "Biography."

Of the present plans for Miss Claire's pre-Broadway activities, this column is not apprised. Miss Barrymore in "Encore," of course, we are to see at the National Theater prior to the New York engagement, beginning next Monday night. Miss Cornell, it is a source of regret to announce, has seen fit to pass the Capital by in the preliminary tour of her new vehicle.

The first American performance of "Lucrece" will be given by Miss Cornell in the Hanna Theater, Cleveland, Ohio, on Tuesday night, November 29. Supporting the star in this Thornton Wilder translation of Andre Obey's "Le Viol de Lucrece," staged by Guthrie McClintic, with settings by Robert Edmond Jones, will be Robert Loraine, Blanche Yurka, Brian Aherne, Charles Waldron, Joyce Carey and Pedro de Cordoba, last seen in the Capital in Shaw's "Too True to Be Good."

The Cleveland engagement is for five nights and two matinees only, after which the production will be seen for one week in the Cass Theater, Detroit, and for one week in the Erlanger Theater, Buffalo.

Miss Cornell decided to give the first performance of "Lucrece" in Cleveland because it was there in the Hanna Theater that she first presented "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" on January 29, 1931. Detroit and Buffalo are near to her heart because she spent much of her childhood in the latter city and gained much of her stage training in both as a member of the late Jessie Bonstelle's stock companies.

Speaking of Miss Cornell and Mr. McClintic, it may be of interest to local theater lovers that Alexandra Carlisle has been awarded the American Academy of Arts and Letters' gold medal for "good diction on the stage." Miss Carlisle is the sixth player to be distinguished in this manner, the others being Julia Marlowe, Edith Wynne Matthison, George Arliss, Otis Skinner and Walter Hampden.

Miss Carlisle, by the way, ended a nine-year period of retirement from the theater to appear in Mr. McClintic's production of the late Edgar Wallace's "Criminal at Large," originally known as "The Case of the Frightened Lady."

The presentation of the medal to Miss Carlisle was made on Thursday afternoon, November 10, the ceremony being conducted in the Academy auditorium, while Miss Carlisle, who had to play a matinee that day, made her address of acceptance from the stage of the Belasco Theater in New York by radio.

As may have come to the attention of even the casual observer, from time to time, in this life one thing just naturally seems to lead to another. So it is that mention of "Criminal at Large" and "Biography" bring to mind that Mrs. Thomas, of the American Theater Society, with offices in the National Theater Building, takes the trouble to call up and say that the second of the society's season's offerings will be selected from a list that includes "There Is Always Juliet," "Criminal at Large," "Mademoiselle," in which Grace George and Alice Brady both appear; 'Biography," Ina Claire's new play by S. N. Behrman; "Success Story," "Chrysalis," with June Walker and Osgood Perkins, who were to have been here in the tentative "The Pure in Heart," and "When Ladies Meet," the new hit by Rachel Crothers.

Which of these is to be second on the list on which "The Good Earth" was first is not as yet made known. Announcement, so Mrs. Thomas assures me, will be made in the near future. All of those named have been officially approved by the Society's play selection committee, according to word flashed to the local headquarters yesterday.

Considerable surprise and much gratification are being occasioned Mr. Carter Barron and his associates in the management of the Loew enterprises in Washington by the box-office record compiled over the week-end by "The Mask of Fu Manchu," at the Palace. This picturization of the Sax Rohmer yarn, featuring Boris Karloff, Lewis S. Stone and Myrna Loy, on Saturday fell only a dollar or two short of the banner receipts attracted by both "Grand Hotel" and "Smilin' Through," previous record holders, and on Sunday exceeded the first Sunday's gross of that extraordinary box-office attraction, "Grand Hotel."

All of which just goes to show that you never can tell!

Daniel Frohman, dean of American theatrical producers, who will deliver an address in Constitution Hall tomorrow evening, arrived in Washington yesterday. He will be the guest of the National Women's Press Club at luncheon today, and tonight will speak over the radio in behalf of the local committee in charge of the Community Chest drive for funds.

Comes a letter from 6964 Tilos road, Outpost, Hollywood, Calif.:

Dear Mr. Bell: Since actors and actresses are supposed to be an ungrateful lot, I suppose I am the average run. That, and that alone, is my excuse for my seeming negligence. Of course, I have another perfectly good excuse, or I might say it is a boast. I have been, since I last visited your city, "seeing America first." I suppose you know how little time, or strength, for that matter, it leaves you after doing four or five shows a day.

My return to Hollywood was even more hectic, and I suppose by now you know that upon my arrival here, and as a direct result of my tour, I was re-signed by my old company, Warner Brothers.

"I have just completed my first picture, 'Employees Entrance,' and since this is my first moment of relaxation I am finding the time to write to my friends.

"May I take this opportunity to thank you for your helpfulness to me and will you accept this as a testimonial to the fact that I REMEMBER. (Sic)

"Hoping, of course, that all is well with you, I am, as ever, (Signed) ALICE WHITE."

A thoughtful gesture on the part of an alert, vivacious and charming young woman, who would not take "No" for an answer when given the gate by her bosses. The thing that impressed me most, sitting around her dressing room for an hour or so at the Earle, was that Alice White knew her own capabilities far better than anybody else, harbored no grudges and was willing to sink or swim professionally purely on a basis of tangible results from her own individual efforts.

Reared by her grandmother in Paterson, N. J., the home also of George E. Stone, Alice has got where she is largely as a result of dogged determination and a willingness to take the bumps along with the plaudits and the pretty posies.

More power to her, and the future her pluck deserves!

Also in yesterday's mail a cordial note from Cookie Bowers, whose imitations are rocking the customers at the Earle this week, another artist, by the way, whose thoughtfulness places him on the lengthening list that already contains the names of Ruth Etting, Mitzi Mayfair, Georgie Stone, Jack Powell, Joe E. Brown, Colleen Moore, Irene Rich and divers and sundry others who keep ink in their fountain pens and haven't forgotten where the postoffice is.

And pleasant calls, too, from Victor Kiraly, long the personal manager of Billie Burke, erstwhile major domo of Ziegfeld's New Amsterdam Roof and all-around aristocrat of managerial theaterdom, "back with the show" as manager of the "Show Boat" company at the National; David Wallace, another of the anointed of the theater, and Jean Beverly—Betty Thornberry to you, musical fella—who is about to essay the role of Yum-Yum in Mme. Estelle Wentworth's production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado."

We should have baked a cake!

But life on the dramatic desk is not all beer and skittles—although, candidly, I wouldn't know a skittle if it came right up and slapped me in the face!

For instance, Mr. Meakin practically ruins our week with the announcement that the engagement of "The Most Dangerous Game," with Joel McCrea and Fay Wray, will begin tomorrow at RKO-Keith's, closely seconded by Rodney Collier, of the Rialto, who crashes through with the news that his new bill will begin on Thursday and, the week after that, with a Wednesday midnight premiere of "Air Mail."

Between times, I wonder if I could help you boys with the debt settlements?

7 Billion Fish and Eggs Are Distributed by U. S.

(Associated Press.)

Just to keep the supply plentiful the Government distributed 7,074,000,000 fish and eggs last year. This figure, according to the report of the Bureau of Fisheries on the twelve months ended June 30, was nearly 50,000,000 smaller than for the preceding period. Most of the distribution consisted of commercial varieties, though many million game fish were included.

The bureau said the take of furseal skins on the Pribilof Islands again exceeded 49,000, but was slightly less than in 1931. It added that the fishing industry had suffered in common with other foodstuffs producers.

PRESIDENT APPEALS FOR RED CROSS AID

Hoover Message Read Over Radio Network by Chairman Payne.

The appeal of President Hoover to the people for unanimous and generous support of the American Red Cross roll call was read last night over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting Co. by Chairman John Barton Payne.

The message of the President was read while he was en route here from California. The appeal said:

"By every means that is available as Chief Executive I have for the past three years summoned every private and public agency to cooperate in making certain that no man, woman or child of all our people should go hungry or cold through any lack of forehanded provision.

People Ever Generous.

"The response of these agencies has been wholehearted and unanimous. Their support has come directly from the people and in this the people have given a magnificent evidence of their warmth of human sympathy and their generosity toward their neighbors in distress. That has been one of the most heartening evidences of the soundness of our Democracy.

"In this situation the Red Cross has occupied a special and unique position. The Red Cross can not properly be described as a private institution, for it is legally a semiofficial organization and sentimentally it is the people's very own. A thousand remembered associations of its magnificent human response to the cry of distress in emergency clusters around the name Red Cross. By natural growth it has become our great Nation-wide peace-time agency for meeting emergencies and distress. The people support it because their hearts and their purses created it. In these past three years the Red Cross has responded to the needs throughout the Nation and it has been nobly supported by the whole American people.

Confident of Response.

"For these reasons and speaking as President of the United States, I confidently appeal once more to the American people for unanimous and generous support to the American Red Cross enrollment campaign which has now begun. The need exists and the heart of America will respond in generous measure."

The voice of President-elect Roosevelt will be heard over the Columbia network tonight from the Executive Mansion in Albany, in another appeal for aid for the annual roll call.

Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, on the program last night, added his voice to the appeal and stated:

"Sheer necessity has given the work of the American Red Cross in the present emergency an exceptionally wide range. At this moment it is the agency for feeding and clothing millions of families in want."

Shorey Reelected By Citizens Group

Piney Branch Association Names Officers at Hamline Church.

Capt. G. L. Shorey was reelected president of the Piney Branch Citizen's Association last night at a meeting at the Hamline M. E. Church.

Frank C. Merritt was reelected vice president, and W. E. Hoffheimz, secretary. J. H. Fallen was elected treasurer. Capt. Shorey was reelected a delegate to the Federation of Citizens' Associations and W. H. Belt was elected a delegate.

E. C. Rice and R. C. McLean were elected to the executive committee. Thomas A. Whittington, of 1410 Delafield street northwest, was awarded a bronze medal by the District Bicentennial Commission, for having the best garden in the section. H. S. Fitz, of the speakers unit of the Community Chest, outlined the objectives of the present drive of the Chest.

Navy Will Launch Big Cruiser Today

Indianapolis to Be Commissioned at Colorful Rites in Philadelphia.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy's ninth heavy cruiser—The Indianapolis—will be commissioned today at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

After a colorful ceremony, the vessel will take its place with the eight already in service.

The Navy Department said yesterday the ship will be commissioned by Rear Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, commandant of the Philadelphia Naval District, and turned over to Capt. John M. Smeallie, a native of Amsterdam, N. Y.

F. P. Lee Renamed By County Group

Other Officers Reelected by Civic Federation in Montgomery.

Frederic P. Lee, of Edgemoor, Md., prominent Washington lawyer, last night was reelected president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation at its annual meeting in Bethesda School. Other officers reelected are: Dr. L. M. Christie, of Linden, vice president; Capt. W. B. Armstrong, of Cabin John Park, recording secretary; O. M. Kile, of Mohican Hills, corresponding secretary; John A. P. Farnham, Chevy Chase, treasurer.

Judge R. Granville Curry, of Battery Park, was reelected a member of the executive committee and three new members were added: W. I. Cleveland, of Kensington; H. S. Yohe, of Chevy Chase, and Charles W. Hopkins, of North Woodside.

Resolutions urging the public finance and budget committee to study the possibility of reduction in the county budget through savings in appropriations or by using direct State taxes for county projects were introduced by Robert E. Bondy and referred to the committee.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Heavily laden with its accustomed cargo of entrancing and familiar melodies, mellow romance and occasional small parcels of pathos, "Show Boat," that colorful and eagerly awaited vehicle of rich and redolent artistry, last night tied up at the National Theater for perhaps the last time.

With a narrative of more than usual substance firmly ground in the solid romance of one of Edna Ferber's most engaging fictions, this most impressive of the late Florenz Ziegfeld's more pretentious productions not only relates a closely knit dramatic story, but by the tuneful excellence of Jerome Kern's splendid scores also weaves a musical tapestry that is as eloquent as it is picturesque and lovely.

It is not necessary at this late day to recite again the comic adventures of Cap'n Andy and Parthy Ann Hawks, the marital vicissitudes of Magnolia and Gaylord Ravenal, the gambler, or the professional perplexities of Elly and Frank, the Comedians of Cap'n Andy's troupe of Mississippi mummers. The experiences of these old friends, spanning the years from the late 80's through the Chicago World's Fair to the present era of accelerated laboring, living and loving, have not changed. All that needs to be known at the moment is with what degree of reverent affection the honorable piece has been revived to demonstrate to old admirers, and possibly a new generation of youngsters, to what heights of superlative worth musical comedy in the hands of competent craftsmen can be exalted.

It is a sufficiently well produced and exceedingly well sung "Show Boat" that comes back to us on this visit. Several of the major roles are in the hands of their original creators and all are adequately, if not inspiringly, played.

Norma Terris and Paul Keast, as Magnolia and Ravenal, revive much of the original luster of such sterling songs as "Only Make Believe," "Til Good Luck Comes My Way," "You Are Love," "Why Do I Love You," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," and reprises of many of these, scattered through the twenty-odd scenes of the two acts.

Helen Morgan perpetuates the haunting rhythms of "Can't Help Lovin' That Man" and "Bill," and Jules Bledsoe, that incomparable colored barytone whose high achievements have brought operatic distinction to his race, converts "Ole Man River" into a rousing classic that no imitator ever has been able to do even feeble justice in comparison.

Eva Puck and Sammy White are towers of strength in the leading comedy assignments, and William Kent and Bertha Belmore, who originated the part in the play's antipodean production, appear advantageously in the roles of Cap'n Andy and Parthy Ann, created here by Charles Winninger and Edna May Oliver.

No negligible proportion of the evening's entertainment is to be traced to the lusty contributions of the colored Jubilee Singers who augment a numerous white company in converting the ensembles into galvanizing and glorious chorals. Many terpsichorean interludes are lent similar effectiveness by this adroit doubling of personnel.

Individually notable are the brief imitations offered in the last act by Miss Terriss, whose Ethel Barrymore, Lenore Ulric and Greta Garbo are well nigh photographic—particularly her remarkably cogent caricature of Garbo—in their faithfulness to the originals, and the tap dance of Una Val, an agile young woman of expertly broken tempos.

That "Show Boat" is a thoroughly worthwhile experience in the theater, of course, you know. What needs to be emphasized is that in its present worthy revival nothing of vital importance to its full effect has been either sacrificed or inadvertently lost. Its advent is still an event.

GAYETY

"STEP LIVELY GIRLS." Empire Burlesque attraction, starring "Red" Marshall and Johnny Crosby, supported by Joan Lee, Murray Leonard, Delores Dawn, the Roberts Sisters and Ann Meyers. Wanda DeVon guest star. Reviewed Monday night by George H. Barrows.

The old maestro of burlesque, the genial Jimmy Blake, in person, is earning the applause of this week's cash customers with his presentation of "Step Lively Girls" at the Ninth street emporium of gayety and feminine charm.

Although the comedy bits fall short of the standard set by many of the recent shows at the Gayety, Reds Marshall has an inimitable way of carrying each situation through with great personal credit. On the other hand, with Murray Leonard, as the straight man, the presentation offers one of the finest male voices that has ever been heard at Washington's only burlesque house. Mr. Leonard's singing of "That's Why Darkies Were Born" was easily the outstanding hit of the show.

Joan Lee, as the leading feminine feature, shared equal honors with Wanda DeVon, guest star billed as "Miss Venus Herself," who is making her first appearance of the season in Washington. Miss DeVon was personally introduced to the audience in a most unique manner by Maestro Jimmy, but this portion of the evening's entertainment was tempered for your reviewer by the very natural fear that the charming young ladies would catch cold.

Incidentally, the highly amusing bedroom scene was recognized as an exact reproduction from one of the better known shows produced on Broadway a season ago, and seen in Washington last week.

One outstanding characteristic of "Step Lively Girls," however, is more than worthy of mention, and that is the spirit with which the entire cast and chorus performed their duties.

FOOD SHOW REVERTS TO COUNTRY STORE

Hungry Customers Also Can Collect Free Lunch at Many Booths.

Opening last night for the final session of 1932, the District Grocery Stores, Inc., Food Show in Washington Auditorium showed a marked reversion to the old-fashioned food shows when folks went home each night with baskets laden with edible samples.

Most of the 50 exhibitors at the current show, which will continue through Saturday night, are giving away generous samples of their products. It is possible, for visitors to collect quite a "buffet lunch," with one booth distributing hot sausages, another handing out tiny sandwiches, still another giving away hot biscuits, and a final one topping off the menu with little cups of steaming coffee.

Besides these "perpetual" gifts, many exhibitors distribute full-size portions of their products at stated intervals during the course of each session. And then the show management tops the whole list with one major gift, worth from $25 to $600—the last being a new sedan automobile.

Last night Mrs. Ethel Morganston, of 4417 Illinois avenue, won a $5 gold piece in a unique "comic make-up" contest in which a dozen young women vied for honors. Two minutes were allowed each girl, and the applause of the audience decided the winner.

Mrs. Herman Boehn, 1349 Massachusetts avenue, was awarded the electric colonial hall clock at last night's session, while Mrs. J. D. Moreland, 4816 Ninth street, received the mahogany occasional table.

Tonight the contest will be an ironing race, in which the girl or woman who first irons a piece of wearing apparel to the satisfaction of the audience will receive a $5 gold piece.

The major present of the show tonight will be an electric refrigerator. This afternoon's gift will be a coffee service, including an English bone china set, an Italian linen scarf and a mahogany coffee table.

Dr. Walter Brooks Honored by Flock

Minister Marks Fiftieth Year as Pastor in Washington.

The fiftieth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Walter B. Brooks and the ninety-third anniversary of the church were celebrated last night at the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church with a prandial and literary program under direction of a special anniversary committee.

Reminiscences were given by Violet Tibbs. Louise Pinkett represented the youth of the church. Dean Kelly Miller eulogized Dr. Brooks as a temperance advocate, and G. C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools, paid tribute to him as a citizen.

The committee in charge consisted of J. D. Chapman, J. William Monroe, William H. Browne, Martha H. Winston, William I. Lee, Ada Harris, Benjamin Washington, Alice Williams, W. B. Harris, William Henderson and Parthenia W. Curtis.

Dr. Bohanan to Speak

The Rev. Dr. Franklin J. Bohanan will speak at a meeting of the Men's Club of Rock Creek Parish at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the parish house at Rock Creek Church road and Webster street.
